UNC Hoping Carquest Win Sparks Stellar Spring Tar Heels Squash Spartans in Pair

BY JOSEPH ROLISON ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

On the surface, the 1996 North Carolina football team bears only passing resemblance to the 1993 edition. A few players remain from that 10-3 squad, and many of the

So, as North Carolina enters spring drills, the question begs to be asked: Will the '96 Tar Heels capitalize on the bowl victory as well as the '93 squad did?

the voint Cardwest, but it does lack a key impredient to reach the postseason — an experienced quarterback. And with Mike Thomas graduated and Oscar Davenport relegated to tossing footballs on the sidelines as his knee heals, UNC had only redshirt freshmen Tony Coles and Jason Peace at its disposal.

That is, until the Tar Heels looked west and signed 6-foot-5, 230-pound Chris Keldorf from Manhattan Beach, Calif., injecting a sorely-needed dose of experience into the Tar Heel QB rotation. But with new offensive coordinator Greg Davis implementing a pass-oriented scheme, youth may not be such a bad thing for

North Carolina

"Chris has done a good job for us," Brown said. "He's learning the offense, but ... we're changing our offense, and everybody's learning. He came in with as fresh a start as everybody else."

The Tar Heels' learning period will continue past the spring break. UNC will practice six times before the break and nine times afterwards.

atterwards. Last season, North Carolina became downright pass-happy at times, utilizing receivers left and right while emphasizing the running game less than in years past. One of the beneficiaries of the stepped-up passing attack in 1995 was senior tailback Leon Johnson, who also headlined in the UNC backfield. LJ was around in '92 and witnessed the effects that a howy witcory had on spring drills and the fall season that a bowl victory had on spring drills and the fall season.

"If we start strong, we can finish strong," Johnson said. "We owed we can win bowl games — we just want to carry that over showed we can win bowl games — we just want to carry that over to the first game against Clemson." On Tuesday, the Tar Heels added two new recruits to the 17 they signed on Feb. 17. Stephon McQueen, a 6-5, 230-pound defensive lineman from Raleigh's Ravenscroft School, signed a letter of intent to play with UNC. He led Ravenscroft in sacks in his senior year. Additionally, he was a McDonald's High School All-America nominee in basketball. "He's in the same mold as Greg Ellis — the tall guy that can run," Brown said. "He feels like he can be in the pass rush." North Carolina also added Brian Schmitz, a punter/kicker from Park Ridge, III. He garnered All-USA Today second team honors and hit 13 of 17 field goals last season. He also averaged 44 yards per punt.

44 yards per punt.

UNC Searching For Deep Snapper

As limitations have drastically cut the number of scholarships a team may offer (85). UNC has decided not to scholarships a deep snapper. Although UNC presently has some players practicing at the position, Brown is searching for walk-ons to try out at snapper. Those interested are requested to call the UNC football office at 966-2575 and speak to Bruce Hemphill. STAFF REPORT

Of Lopsided Wins

The North Carolina softball team overcame a loss and a tie against Eastern Michigan on Tuesday to sweep a pair of games from UNC-Greensboro on Wednesday. Tar Heel standout third baseman Christine Kubin went 6-for-7 with three doubles and three RBIs over the two games to help UNC (9-3-1) to a 9-0 win in the first game and an 8-4 triumph in the nightcap. North Carolina blitzed the Spartans for 10 hits and took advantage of six UNC-G errors to run away with the first game. Lorin Slade and Jennifer Klesaris each hit Lonn Slade and Jennifer Klesaris each nit two-run homers for North Carolina, while Jennifer Shelton (2-1) scattered two hits over five innings. Klesaris' homer sparked a four-run third inning that gave the Tar Heels the eight-run lead required to end the game after five innings me after five innings. Karyn Thompson and Danielle Sekula hit homers for the Spartans (1-8). Sekula's homer was the first of her career. Also, Kim Gaudio (0-3) took the loss for UNC-Greensboro.

The Tar Heels will see their next action March 2-3 in Conway, S.C., at the Coastal Carolina Tournament.

Clemson Beats State to Snap ACC Road Slump

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

RALEIGH—Clemson broke its Atlan-tic Coast Conference road losing streak and inched closer to a postseason berth Wednesday night, getting a career-high 30 points from Greg Buckner in an 80-76 victory over North Carolina State. The win gave the Tigers (17-8, 7-8 ACC) their most victories in the league since the 1989-90 season and three straight wins at Reynolds Coliseum. It also broke a 10-game ACC road losing streak dating back to a win here last Clemson dominated the last-place Wolfpack (14-14, 3-12 ACC) on the boards in both halves, finishing with a 44-24 ad-vantage. The biggest rebound was a com-bined effort when Tom Wideman tipped a missed free throw out to Buckner with 6.3 seconds left and the Tigers clinging to a 78-76 lead.

Buckner was fouled and he made both free throws to cap the best all-around game of his career. Last year's ACC rookie of the

But Bill Harder made one free throw, before Wideman's key tip to Buckner that helped seal the win. N.C. State has now lost nine of its conference games by a combined 28 points. Clemson scored on its first six posses sions and outrebounded the Wolfpack 23-8 in the first 20 minutes en route to a 38-33 halftime lead
