Harris Teeter

Your Neighborhood Food Market!

Waldensian Quality

Cups

Pound Cake

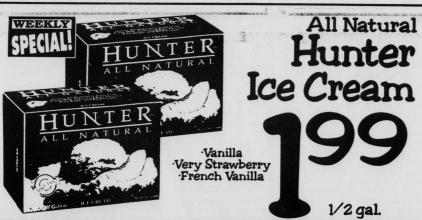

10.75-11.75 oz

Pictsweet Sliced

Strawberries 10 oz. 89

Belgian Chef Waffles

16 Oz. Kraft American Singles

Hot, Lean Or Croissant Pockets

10 Pack

Hi-C Drinks Soft Drink Feature

DRINK Persi

Mountain Dew, Diet Pepsi Or

Harris Teeter Homestyle Waffles

Tropicana Premium Orange Juice

Prices Effective Through April 23,1996

Prices In This Ad Effective Wednesday, April 17 Through April 23, 1996 In Our Chapel Hill Stores
Only. We Reserve The Right To Limit Quantities. None Sold To Dealers. We Gladly Accept Federal Food Stamps

Group H.Y.P.E.s Link Between Volunteers, Underprivileged Kids

Providing Enrichment gives area children hope and fun.

BY NAKITA ROWELL

Children looking for mentors who un-derstand their wants and needs can find them through H.Y.P.E., which allows stu-dent volunteers to make a difference in the lives of underprivileged children.

"I have a lot of fun with the kids," said
H.Y.P.E. member Melissa Tisnado, a junior from Richmond, Va. "It's cool to be an outside influence in the kids' lives, and give them something to look forward to. We get to know them, and develop small personal relationships."

H.Y.P.E., Helping Youths by Providing Enrichment, is a 5-year-old program established by the Campus Y. The program provides academic guidance and encourage social interaction for underprivi-leged children living in Trinity Court and leged children living in Trinity Court and South Estes, two low-income housing districts in Chapel Hill.

Volunteers tutor the children and organize activities for them. The program is co-chaired by Chad Tureff and Russell Hendrix. "The tutors and the kids develop a bond, like big buddies," said Tureff, a senior from Asheville. "I think the kids senior from Asheville. "I think the kids benefit a lot from it. We visit their community, so volunteers get a chance to observe the kids in their own environment."

Hendrix, a sophomore from Raleigh, also felt that the kids who participated in H.Y.P.E. benefited. "H.Y.P.E. is beneficial to kids because they have the potential to excel but they're just payed they are to do not be overed." cial to kids because they have the potential to excel but they're just not doing it, so we are there to provide enrichment," he said. "We have the opportunity to expose kids to cultures that they would not normally learn in school. They are good kids; they just need some encouragement to do well."

The volunteers are not the only ones who enjoy working in the program.

who enjoy working in the program.
"They help us to learn," said Tiawana Eubanks, a child from South Estes. "We like playing with the volunteers."

H.Y.P.E. also works in conjunction with cher volunteer groups, such as Communiversity. "I came once a week last semester for homework assistance, so when I heard about H. Y. P. E., I decided to return for another semester," said volunteer Biri Oguah, a freshman from Raleigh. "I get a chance to play with the kids. It shows that you can do work and have fun."

Laura Harrison, resident council asso-ciate of the South Estes Drive Outreach Center, said: "The program is great. I wish more students would participate. These blues & brews

WEDNESDAY NIGHTS

BLUESIOLOGY

9:30pm

A student volunteer shows this young child that school is not all work and no play. Helping Youths by Providing Enrichment gives underprivileged children in Chapel Hill role models to look up to.

students are exceptional in working with the children and coordinating activities." Olando Harrison, an 8-year-old from South Estes, seemed to agree. "They are nice and they help us do homework. They help us to work on the computer."

Most of the Trinity Court children are not yet in school. Volunteers lead them in activities that teach them basic learning skills through coloring and games. South volunteers focus on tutoring and discipline. Deshawn Terry, a sophomore from Rockingham, said he enjoyed interacting with the children. "We tutor a little at Trinity Court, and we offer the young kids learning tools through books and movies." The kids see volunteers as friends as well as role models, said them as role models, but also as friends, said Irene Gomez, a sophomore from Miami, Fla. "They don't see us as parents or adults, but as kids that want to play with them, too." Anyone interested in joining H.Y.P.E can meet with the group in front of the Morehead Planetarium at 3:45 p.m. every Tuesday and Wednesday.

Estes children are in grade school, and volunteers focus on tutoring and discipline.

Dissertation and Thesis Special

100% Cotton 10¢ Plain White 6¢

Open Til Midnite 7 Days A Week 169 E. Franklin St. • Near the Post Office 967-6633

Are You Planning For Graduate School?

If you are a Junior at Carolina the think you might need an advanced degree in the Arts or the Sciences, You Are Cordially Invited to:

The Fifth Annual Junior Forum on Graduate Studies in Arts & Sciences

Wednesday, April 17 at 4:00pm • Student Union, Rooms 205-6

Deans, Directors of Programs, Counselors, Advisors & other well-informed persons will gladly provide facts & answer questions on qualifications, the GRE's, Finances, National Scholarships, the Application Process & much, much more.

> A Discussion of National & International Scholarships will follow at 5PM

Sponsored by: The Graduate School Advisor for Undergraduates in Arts & Sciences & the Dean of Honors