Grambling suspends 4 players for rape arrests

RUSTON, La. — Four Grambling football players were suspended from the team Wednesday pending an investigation into an accusation that they and a fifth student raped a 14-year-old girl. "All of the individual athletes have been temporarily suspended from taking part in intercollegiate athletics pending results of charges now being investigated," interim athletic director Wilbert Ellis said in a statement.

All five were being held in the Lincoln Parish Detention Center Wednesday with bond set at $50,000 each. The men were arrested Tuesday and each was charged with one count of forcible rape and one count of aggravated oral sexual battery.

Two more suspects were being sought by the university police in connection with the incident. The police did not release their names. The rape is alleged to have happened in Grambling, on the university campus after Saturday night's homecoming football game. Those arrested were identified as Michael Gooden, 19, of Calumet City, Ill.; Marlon Jones, 20, of Chicago; Emmitt Smith, 18, of Athens, Ga.; Dalin Smith, 19, of Harvey, Ill.; and Christopher Sorrell, 19, of Beaumont, Texas.

Coach accused of theft

FAIRBORN, Ohio — Wright State basketball coach Ralph Underhill pleaded innocent to petty theft Wednesday after being accused of shoplifting vitamins. Underhill's attorney, Anthony Zaharief, had said he would enter the plea by fax to Fairborn Municipal Court, making a court appearance by Underhill on Friday unnecessary.

"We will be requesting a pretrial and a trial by jury," Zaharief said. Deputy court clerk Angie Plemmons confirmed that the innocent plea had been received and filed. No hearings were immediately scheduled.

The charge, a misdemeanor, carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Underhill enters his 19th season at Wright State this year with a 356-162 record and .687 winning percentage.

Underhill has coached the Raiders to 16 winning seasons, an NCAA Division II Championship in 1983, and a berth in the NCAA Division I Tournament in 1993.

He is accused of stealing vitamins Monday night from a Meijer store near the university campus in this Dayton suburb.

Giants' Williams traded

SAN FRANCISCO — Matt Williams, one of the top home run hitters in baseball, was traded by the San Francisco Giants to the Cleveland Indians on Wednesday for infielders Jeff Kent and Jose Vizcaino and reliever Julian Tavarez.

Williams has 247 homers in 10 years as the Giants' third baseman, including 38 in the strike-shortened 1994 season. But he has missed large portions of the last two seasons with injuries.

In Cleveland, he'll be joining a team that ranked sixth in the majors last season with 218 homers and lost in the divisional playoffs to Baltimore.

The Giants went 68-94 last season, the third-worst record in baseball. Their most glaring needs appeared to be starting pitching and at first base.

Kent hit .265 for the Indians last season and Vizcaino hit .285. Both were obtained by Cleveland from the New York Mets on July 30 in exchange for infielders Carlos Baerga and Alvaro Espinoza.

Tavarez went 4-7 with a 5.36 ERA in 51 games, including four starts.

The acquisition of Williams gives the Indians the promise of continued offensive power even if they are not able to resign free agent Albert Belle.

The Indians have offered a long-term contract, but Belle plans to visit the Florida Marlins for talks next week.

UNC boasts new attitude for ACC tournament

BY M. LEE TAFT SENIOR WRITER

When the North Carolina men's soccer team takes the field at Virginia's Klöckner Stadium today against Wake Forest in the first round of the ACC tournament, it will be a different team than the one that suited up earlier this season. Not in appearance, but in attitude.

After running to an impressive 5-2-1 start, the Tar Heels (8-7-1, 2-3-1 in the ACC) went into a tailspin, notching a dismal 3-5 record in their final eight games.

"I don't know what happened," UNC midfielder Carey Talley said. "We were cruising, we knew the games were coming and we were taking each one in stride. We were thinking, 'No problem.' We got back in the national rankings, and then disaster hit.

"It was amazing. I couldn't believe it. One game we couldn't communicate on the field, the next we couldn't hit the back of the nets. To happen right in the middle of the season like that was amazing."

With the tailspin erasing hopes for an at-large postseason bid, UNC needs to win the ACC tournament to be considered for a berth in the NCAA championship.

But the Tar Heels have put their late-season woes behind them and have focused their sights on the tournament.

Talley said a week of intense practice and some insight on the part of the older players on the team has added a much-needed spark to UNC's game.

"We had a really good practice, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves," he said. "That hasn't happened in a while.

"Then we were sitting around and talking after practice, and the seniors realized, 'This could be it. This could be our last practice ever.' It was really sobering. They realized that from here on out, every game is their last game, and they want to make that as long a string as possible."

UNC coach Elmar Bolowich said he was encouraged by the seniors' thoughts, but wasn't as impressed with how practices went.

"The realization has sunk in," Bolowich said. "This provides them with a good opportunity to prove themselves. But we have so many players banged up that we were just trying to get through without any more injuries. As a result, we couldn't focus properly."

Talley doesn't think the prospect of winning the tournament is an impossibility for the Tar Heels. UNC will play Wake in the first round, and would play the N.C. State-Maryland winner in the second round.

UNC defeated Wake 1-0 in their previous meeting, and lost close games to both State and the Terrapins.

"I think we got the best pick possible," Talley said. "We know we can beat Wake, because we already did. There is no way we should have lost to State, and nobody on the team had a good game against Maryland."

However, Talley said the team isn't looking past the first round game against the Deacons. He said the team knows they can beat Wake, but isn't certain that they can easily win again.

"They're gonna try to capitalize on any mistakes we make early and fight hard for the lead," he said.

Both Talley and Bolowich agreed that UNC's slump could be used in a positive manner.

They said that many teams might overlook the Tar Heels and what they are capable of doing in the tournament.

But UNC can't wait for other teams to make mistakes.

"We can't control what the other teams do to prepare for us," Bolowich said. "We have to take care of business. What we do is up to us."

Talley added: "There is no UNC choke factor. We're gonna do it. A lot of teams do think they can look past us. That's to our advantage."

Talley, Suarez nab ACC honors

UNC midfielders Carey Talley and Temoc Suarez were recognized by the ACC on Wednesday.

Talley was named to the all-ACC first team. He leads the Tar Heels with nine goals, including three game-winners. He has also notched five assists.

Suarez, who leads the team in scoring with 24 points on seven goals and 10 assists, was a second team all-conference selection.

Field hockey nets top seed in NCAAs, will play Sunday

STAFF REPORT

The top-ranked and defending national champion North Carolina field hockey team will begin its quest for a second consecutive title this weekend.

And it will do so in the friendly confines of its own Navy Field, where the Tar Heels have sent the visitors packing in 42 of their last 43 contests.

The turf won't be the only familiar aspect of North Carolina's South Region second round matchup — the foe will be as well. Battling for the right to play the Tar Heels in Sunday's game will be conference opponents Virginia and Duke, who will meet on Saturday in the first round.

North Carolina, the top seed in the 12-team field, advanced to the second round via a first-round bye. The winner of Sunday's contest will advance to the national semifinals held in Chestnut Hill, Mass. on Nov. 23 and 24.

Both the Cavaliers and Blue Devils are coming off losses suffered in last weekend's ACC tournament, with North Carolina edging Duke 3-2 in one semifinal and Virginia falling 2-1 to Maryland in the other.

The Tar Heels then went on to blank the Terrapins 4-0 in the final and claim their 13th ACC championship.

Last season, North Carolina also started its national championship run at Navy, beating Princeton 6-0 in its second round matchup before traveling to Winston-Salem and competing in the final four.

Caminiti nabs National League MVP

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Ken Caminiti, who led San Diego into the playoffs for the first time in 12 years, became the fourth unanimous winner of the NL Most Valuable Player Award on Wednesday.

The 33-year-old third baseman became the first Padres player to win the award in the 28-year history of the team. Jeff Bagwell (1994), Mike Schmidt (1980) and Orlando Cepeda (1967) were the only other unanimous picks.

Mike Piazza of Los Angeles was second with 18 second-place votes and 237 points, followed by Ellis Burks of Colorado with five second-place votes and 186 points.

Chipper Jones of Atlanta was fourth (158) and Barry Bonds of San Francisco was fifth (132).

Caminiti set Padres records with 40 homers, 130 RBIs and a .621 slugging percentage, and led the NL during the second half in average (.360), homers (28) and RBIs (81).

His most memorable performance came Aug. 18 at Monterrey, Mexico, where the Padres and Mets were playing the first regular-season games outside of the United States and Canada.

Battling dehydration and an upset stomach, Caminiti took two liters of intravenous fluid just before the series finale, then hit two homers for four RBIs in an 8-0 win over New York.

He refused to be sidelined by injuries, including a torn left rotator cuff that required postseason surgery, a right hamstring strain, a severe groin strain and back trouble.
