

FIGHT
From Page 1

in October and 100 students to the November BOG meeting.
"It's not our time or place to protest anymore," Osterweil said. "We're at a point where we're willing to concede."
Broad considered the BOT's proposal for a $1,500 increase during the next five years before she finalized her plan.
Coalition members said Sunday they would endorse Broad's call for the $200 increase if BOG members decided to incorporate additional financial aid provisions into the plan.

Broad's proposal would also include a $36.8 million need-based financial aid request. But some students have voiced concern that the legislature might pass the tuition increase without allocating money to the financial aid package.
Coalition members have also stressed that any tuition boost must be a one-time increase coupled with state funding.
But they said the other facet of Broad's plan, which asks students to foot the bill for capital improvements was a mistake.

"It has never been in the history of the state to tax students for capital needs," said freshman Sandi Chapman.
Osterweil said that although it might be difficult to mobilize a large number of students at the meeting, the coalition would also launch a letter campaign this week to garner support. "I think the concern is still there."
The University Editor can be reached at udesk@unc.edu.

PEDESTRIAN
From Page 1

of Dentistry. In November, a driver failed to yield the right-of-way at a crosswalk, hitting and killing Matsukawa.
University Police strengthened pedestrian safety efforts in early January by assigning two officers to work overtime shifts in heavily traveled campus areas.

The University also formed a pedestrian safety committee to address more effective ways to protect the University community.
The committee will meet for the second time Feb. 16 to discuss requests for new crosswalks, Poarch said. A subcommittee is also looking at the length of time signal lights remain red to allow pedestrians to cross.

Poarch said, "We're doing as much as we can, and we're going to continue to do that."
The University Editor can be reached at udesk@unc.edu.

Dilbert

THE Daily Crossword

By Robert H. Wolfe

(C)2000 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All rights reserved.

ACROSS

1 Mongolian invader
6 Insect with a stinger
10 Old crones
14 Pithy saying
15 Cinema pooch
16 Vicinity
17 Recorded
18 Fact fabricator
19 Coloration
20 Baseball feats
22 London gallery
23 Sonnet ending
24 "___ Gynl"
26 Scores
29 Comic Radner
33 Ruckuses
37 Neither's partner?
38 Part of SSA
39 Insolence
40 Hang in folds
42 Coarse seaweed
43 Mountain nymphs
45 Black goo
46 Instigates litigation
47 Treasure guardian
48 Jaffe and Barrett
50 Bandleader Arnaz
52 Cyrus II's

DOWN

1 Strong flavors
2 Love deeply
3 Informal empire

57 Domestic ox
60 Football feats
63 Gulf of the Mediterranean
64 Precursor of a Bunsen burner
65 Regarding
66 Porcine comment
67 Hilo garlands
68 Scandinavian
69 Base meal?
70 Art Deco designer
71 Take the wheel

farewells
4 Man in the field
5 Blushing more
6 Side of a cubicle
7 Largest land-mass
8 Imprints with a seal
9 Take a sentence apart
10 Hockey feats
11 Opera song
12 Fella
13 Gratify completely
21 Tolerates
25 Self-image
27 High crag
28 Muse of poetry
30 Stead

31 Landscape dip
32 High peaks
33 In a tizzy
34 Mend, as socks
35 Low-cost spread
36 Basketball feats
38 Celestial being with three pairs of wings
41 Knut Hamsun novel
44 Scottish river

48 Possible looter
49 Family vehicles
51 Inscribed stone marker
53 R.U.R. character
54 Vowed
55 Currently occupied
56 Fall blossom novel
57 Close-up lens
58 One of HOMES

59 Prohibits
61 Module
62 Container

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13
14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32
33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56
57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71

LEAPS ANTE ORCA
JNSET REHEELING
MYHEARTWILLGOON
BAER OILS MATTE
SUEY MESSSES
CREATE OAR
HELLONASTY SHAM
AESOP RAT SLICE
SLAT RAYOFLIGHT
PUB LATHES
ALBERT SLIM
NELLY SAIN SHEA
DOOWOPHTHATHING
ENTERTAIN AUDIE
SASS ABBA NEEDS

VERDICT
From Page 1

UNC's USSA membership, was passed in December with a 12-10 vote.
Citing Title II, Section IV, Article 166 of the Student Code, Kleinschmidt said it was his duty as speaker to remove the referendum because it was not passed with a two-thirds majority.
But the four plaintiffs said Title I, Section VI, Article I justified keeping the referendum under the constitution's claim that only a simple majority was needed to raise student fees.
Chief Justice Ed Page said there was no discrepancy between the code and the constitution as the plaintiffs claimed.

"Title II, Section IV, Article 166 is hereby constitutional and is not in contradiction with Title I, Section VI, Article I," read the court's statement.
Page said Kleinschmidt performed the right action in light of Congress' oversight in December.
"The defendant's action causing the removal of the referendum from the general election ballot was proper and consistent with his duties as Speaker of Student Congress."
But Kleinschmidt said he feared the repercussions of the court's verdict despite his victory. "The outcome itself I could see being a possibility, but I think the logic is wrong, and it could be dangerous."
Kleinschmidt and Barbour said they feared the decision could inflate the power of Congress.

"I think what none of us wants to see is Congress' power to be expanded by this decision, and I trust (Congress will) work to fix all that," Barbour said.
Barbour and plaintiff Sandi Chapman said they would circulate petitions to get the referendum on the ballot.
The code requires signatures from 10 percent of the student body before the referendum will be approved.
"We feel it's really important that students have the opportunity to vote on this," Barbour said. "We're going to work to make sure it stays on the ballot."
The University Editor can be reached at udesk@unc.edu.

MAKEUP
From Page 1

Altered syllabi will not be honored in place of makeup days, McCoy said.
If General Administration opposes holding classes on a holiday, the committee recommended either April 8 or April 9 as the alternate day.

Some committee members expressed concern about weekend classes interfering with previously made plans.
But Richardson said attendance policies would remain the same.

"We're not going (to take roll) on these days. We're asking for a good faith effort."
The University Editor can be reached at udesk@unc.edu.

CDS
From Page 1

Chase Hall.
"We have to continue with the same lobbying efforts," Martin said. "We would like to take things more grass roots and mobilize students."
A change that all six presidential candidates said they hoped to accomplish was bringing back the equivalency program.
The program, which was replaced four years ago by the current system, allowed students to use an amount equivalent to the cost of an upstairs Lenoir Dining Hall meal a la carte.
Students are now limited to using their meal plans strictly in upstairs Lenoir and are required to pay separately for food at individual venues downstairs.
Candidate Josh Ray said bringing back the equivalency plan would encourage more students to buy meal plans and could eventually lower food costs in Lenoir.

"A major change needed with CDS is the equivalency program," Ray said. "That's a huge issue to me."
In addition to the equivalency program, Ray said he had a long list of changes he would like to see made to campus dining.
Lowering the price of meals for students without meal plans, adding another line to get to upstairs Lenoir, bringing at least one other franchise like Taco Bell to campus and extending late night hours are some things Ray said he hoped to accomplish.
Ray said he also wanted to make sure CDS employees were treated with respect.
"It's important to treat the workers at Chase and Lenoir like we treat our professors," Ray said. "You can't tell someone how to act, but we can have a Worker Appreciation Day every month."
Candidate Preston Smith said he did not have many concerns with campus dining, but there were still features he wanted to add.
"I think it would be nice to have pit stops of food for convenience on campus," he said, suggesting a possible site closer to McCorkle Place. "I would also like to help out with Meals on Wheels to make sure they can get food from CDS."

Smith said he would like to give the students more bargaining power with CDS officials by becoming more financially independent.
He said that if officials would not lower meal costs, a financially independent student body could have the option of starting their own dining service.
In addition to talking with workers in Chase Hall about opening the dining hall for more hours, candidate Erica Smiley said she hoped to add more food stores in which expense plans could be used.
Smiley said she wanted to make sure students and faculty had a say in corporation contracts, such as UNC's dining services contract.
"We need a committee to make sure we look over contracts with corporations because students and faculty will have different impacts."
The University Editor can be reached at udesk@unc.edu.

Study Abroad! Attend the...

Salzburg Summer Program in International Environmental Risk Analysis

Where: Salzburg, Austria (one of Europe's most beautiful cities!)

When: June 1-July 7, 2000

Open to: both undergraduate and graduate students

Credit hours: 6 to 9 hours in environmental studies

Classes conducted in: English

Sponsors: Study Abroad, UNC's Carolina Environmental Program and the University of Salzburg

For more information, please contact Professor Douglas Crawford-Brown (919-966-6026; douglas_crawford-brown@unc.edu).

Time is Money

- FAFSA and Profile forms must be received by MARCH 1 of each year you wish to be considered for Financial Aid.
- THE EARLIER, THE BETTER--If you qualify for Need Based Scholarships, filing your FAFSA and Profile forms early can have a positive affect on the amount of aid you receive and when you receive it.
- You can submit FAFSA and Profile forms on-line.

FAFSA: www.ed.gov/prog_info/SFA/FAFSA
Profile: www.profileonline.cbreston.org

HAVE YOU FILED YET?

Please call or stop by the Office of Scholarships & Student Aid for Forms and Financial Aid Information

Office of Scholarships & Student Aid
3rd Floor Pettigrew Hall
962-8396

How Would You Score?

LSAT GMAT GRE MCAT DAT

Take a Test Drive and find out!

GRE	Saturday	Feb. 19th	1pm
GMAT	Saturday	Feb. 19th	1pm
LSAT	Sunday	Feb. 13th	1pm
MCAT	Sunday	Feb. 20th	1pm

Or take it online from February 15-29 at kaptestdrive.com!

KAPLAN

1-800-KAP-TEST
www.kaplan.com

Call or visit us online to register!

The General Alumni Association in conjunction with the Orientation Office & University Career Services invites you to

"Major in Success"

90 career-building minutes with the dynamic Patrick Combs
Tuesday, February 10, 6:30pm, Manning Hall, Room 209

Patrick is 30 years old and earned $80,000 his first year out of college.

"My advice is simple stuff. It's not rocket science. If you don't feed the career part of your brain while you're here at school, it won't get fed at all!" - Patrick Combs

PARTICIPANTS RECEIVE A FREE COPY OF PATRICK'S BEST SELLER, "Major in Success."

Patrick Combs is the author of Major in Success: Make College Easier, Beat the System and Get a Very Cool Job, a nationally famous speaker and television personality. His presentation will focus on how to ensure success during and after college. Patrick is industrious and energetic. He is one of the best speakers you will ever see. He appears regularly as a guest reporter on the national television shows, Real TV and Hard Copy.

Questions? Call the sponsors!
General Alumni Association at 962-3582
Orientation Office at 962-8521
University Career Services at 962-6507

Offered in support of the "Alternative Programs" initiative, Division of Student Affairs

"Major in Success", a part of the VISA Success Tour, is brought to you by MBNA America and the Carolina Alumni VISA Card.

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Check before you chat.

Forget bars, singles parties and health clubs. The fastest way to meet new friends and find old ones is on the Internet. But meeting and greeting in cyberspace has its own set of rules, its own etiquette. Well, chat room survival is just one of the many aspects of the Internet lifestyle that are examined, explained and demystified every week in Access Magazine. It's your guide to the Net.

Every Tuesday. Coming February 8th in

THE NEWS OBSERVER