

UNC Wrestlers Beat Up Devils Instead of Each Other

By JOE DISNEY
Staff Writer

Simply put, the North Carolina wrestling team was glad to see different faces on the other side of the mat. With a two-week, snow-induced break since their last match against

The Citadel, the Tar Heels came out ready to attack, handily beating Duke 31-9 in Carmichael Auditorium on Tuesday night. UNC (5-4, 2-2 in the ACC) spent the past week in two-a-days preparing for the last four matches of the year. The extra work and rest allowed the Tar Heels to come out with plenty of energy and stamina to dominate the less-aggressive Blue Devils (1-8-1, 0-1). "We've had some time off, so each guy was pretty anxious to get a match in," UNC junior Josh Cowley said. "We were hungry and ready to get after it." Chapel Hill native Clint Osborn led off the match at the

UNC coach Bill Lam

197-pound weight class with an 11-5 victory against Daegon Smith. Osborn tallied four takedowns and a near fall to give UNC a lead it would not relinquish. "I felt real good out there - real quick and real sharp," Osborn said. "We are an attacking team. I mean, I've got Brad (Byers) slapping me on the back of the head telling me to get them." Osborn wasn't the only one Byers was slapping around. In his 133-pound bout against Luke

Palmisano, Byers' repeated tapping of Palmisano's head lulled the Blue Devil to sleep, allowing Byers to quickly wrap his legs to score the win-by-fall at 4:04. Other bright spots for UNC included a 16-1 technical fall recorded by Corey Bell on Duke's Matt Hoover. Tuesday night's match also marked the return of one of the Tar Heels' leaders in Cowley. A plethora of injuries, including neck and knee problems, had kept All-ACC

Cowley out of the UNC lineup all season until his 5-2 victory over Andy Soliman. "It was great," UNC coach Bill Lam said of Cowley's return. "I thought he might get tired tonight, but he came out fresh and did a good job." The Tar Heels will face Navy on Saturday and Ohio University on Sunday in their next two matches.
