

The Waiting Game...

Technical troubles once again plagued UNC's Elections Board, causing a delay in the announcement of official results. The candidates and their teams are still holding their breath.

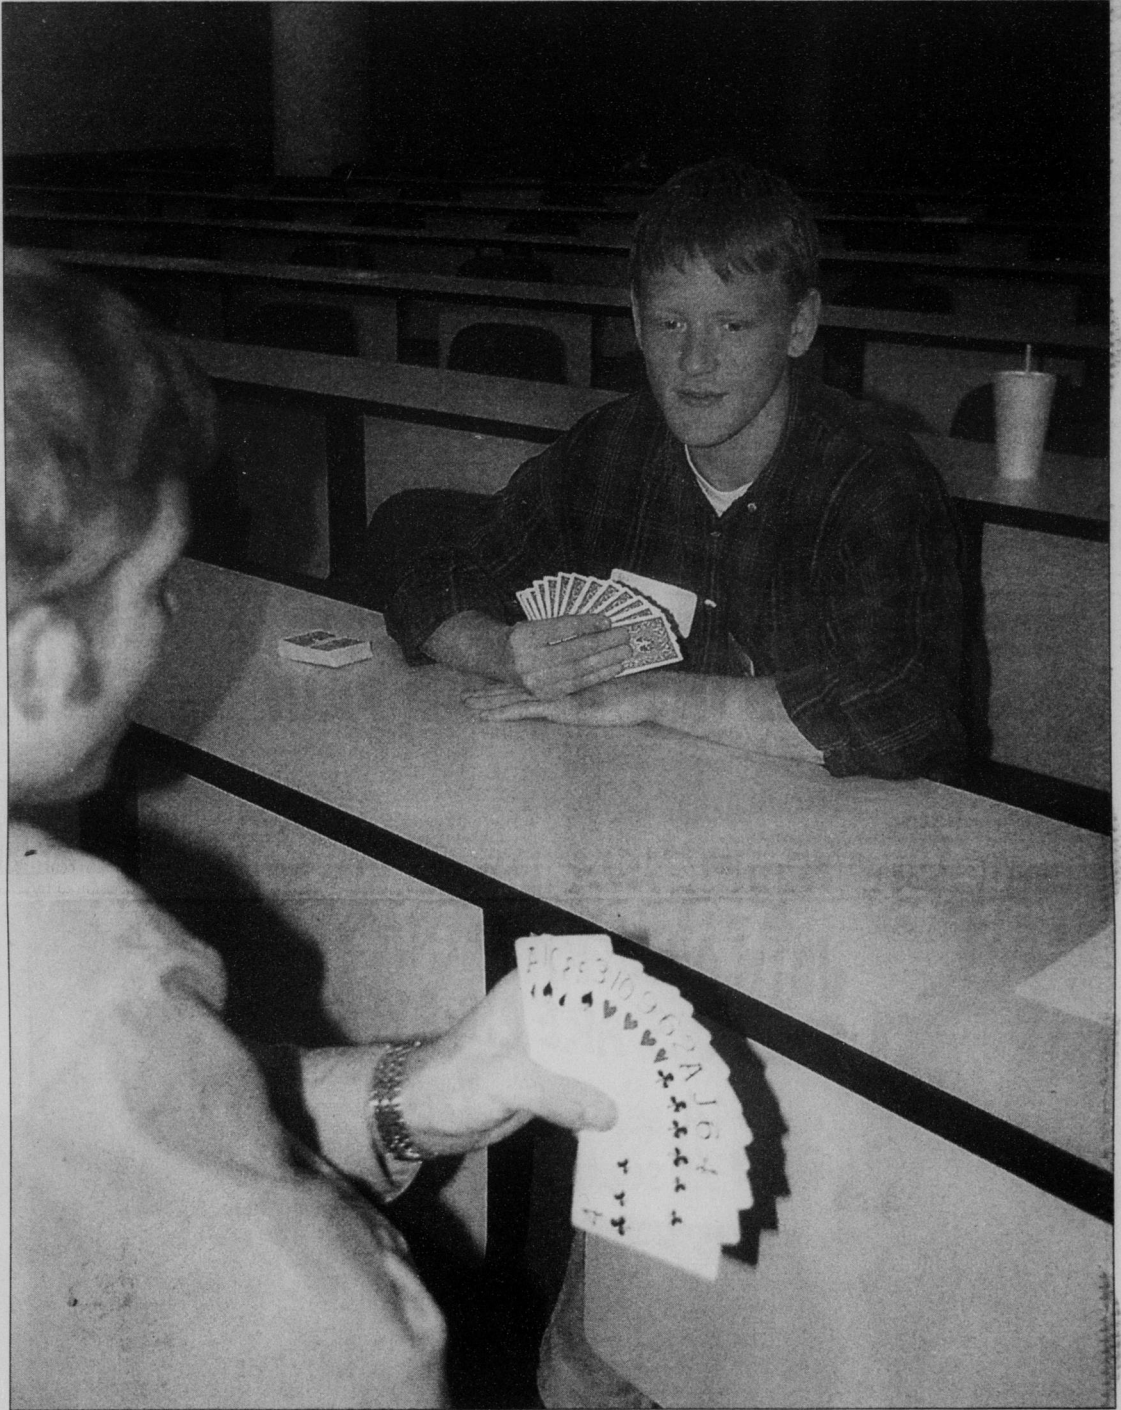

DTH/GREG WOLF

After hours of waiting, several student government candidates find themselves with another day of anticipation.

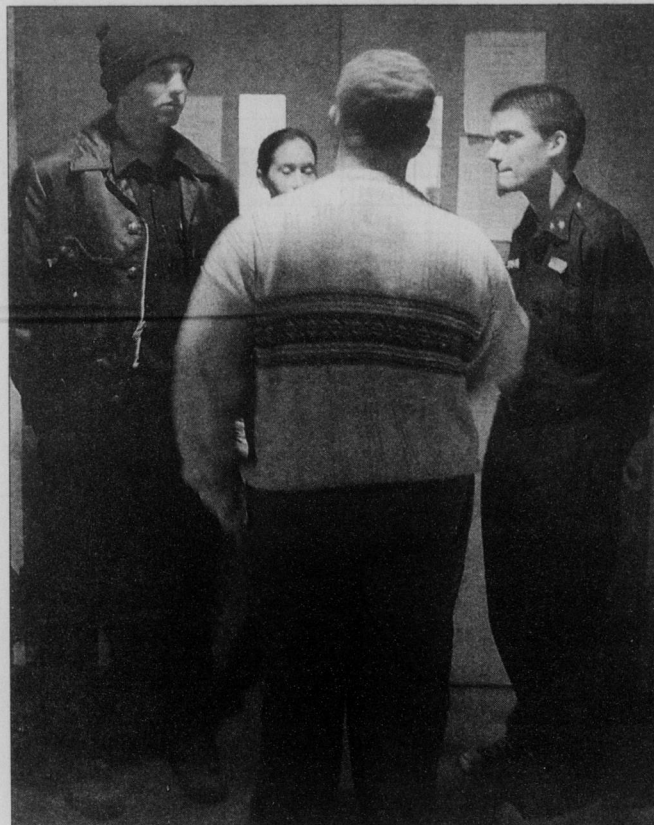

DTH/GREG WOLF

SBP candidate Brad Matthews and campaign supporter Angela Murphy contemplate what to do during the lull in the action.

DTH/CASEY QUILLEN

CAA candidate Michael Songer (front) and his running mate Adam Walters pass the time playing a game of cards in an empty auditorium in Sitterson Hall. The room was reserved for continuing live coverage of the student elections Tuesday night.

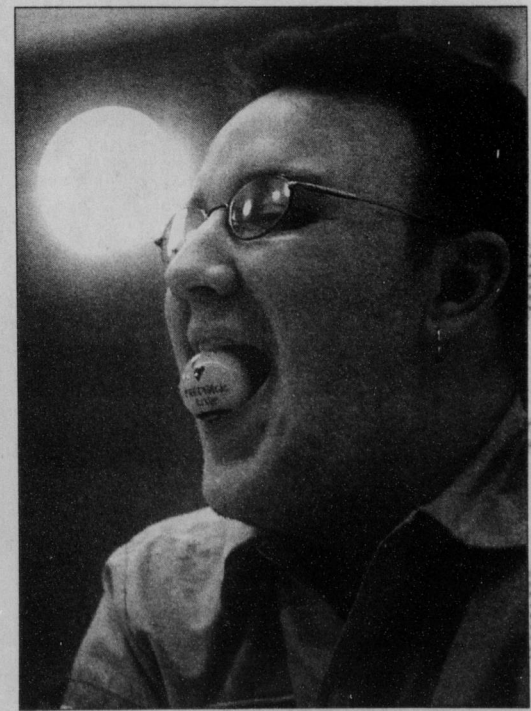

DTH/VICTORIA ECKENRODE

Several members of STV served as security guards Tuesday, monitoring entrances to the building and handing out official name tags.

DTH/GREG WOLF

SBP candidate Erica Smiley is supported by her campaign staff member Michal Osterweil. Smiley, along with her supporters and fellow student body presidential candidates, regrouped in the early morning hours at elections headquarters.

DTH/KATE MELLNIK

Rep. Kurt Davies, Dist. 18, grows bored waiting for election results. The bouncy ball in his mouth was a voter incentive.