Tar Heels Drop 4th Straight

Women's tennis coach Roland Thornqvist said he would tinker with UNC's starting lineup after its loss to Duke.

By KELLY LUSK Staff Writer

DURHAM - North Carolina women's tennis coach Roland Thornqvist has decided to make some changes. UNC fell to No. 12 Duke 6-3 on Sunday at the Duke Tennis Stadium, making the Blue Devils (18-5, 7-1 in the ACC) the fourth ACC team in a row to defeat the Tar Heels. And Thornqvist said he will be

- Although Thornqvist was not specific about what changes will occur, the reappearance of junior Erin Niebling in the singles lineup and the recent solid performances by freshman Kendrick Bunn indicate that some of the present seedings might change.

In her first singles match in more than a month, Niebling defeated Brooke Siebel 3-6, 6-3, 7-6 on Duke's Senior shots won enough points to defeat doubles spot because it requires less movement.

"Erin is an extraordinary athlete," Thornqvist said. "Once we decided that her knee could take it, it was a no-brainer decision, in my mind, to put her in the (singles) lineup." Bunn extended her singles winning treak to six matches by beating Hillary Adams 6-2, 7-6. Thornqvist said Bunn will be moved up for the ACC tournament and should be comfortable playing at a higher seed.

"I don't mind where I play," Bunn said. "Whatever will help the team." Bunn teamed up with fellow fresh-man Kate Pinchbeck to rack up UNC's only doubles win. The duo's lethal lob Zaganczyk started off well in the first set, coming back from a 4-1 deficit to win 6-4. But her lead didn't last long and she dropped the next two sets 6-2, Trouble also continued for the No. 1 seed. Freshman Marlene Mejia has not tasted victory since she returned from an injury April 13. Tendinitis in her knee prevented Mejia from playing in three matches. Megan Miller, ranked No. 14 in the nation, trounced Mejia in straight sets 6-1, 6-1.

"I know I'm playing well," Mejia said. "But being in a competitive situation, coming back from an injury at this point in the season, it's hard.

In fact, none of UNC's current topthree seeds have won in the last four ACC matches. Sophomore Caroline Hill quickly fell to Duke's Kathy Sell 6-1, 6-1 at the No. 3 slot. The last ACC match Hill won was against N.C. State on March 29.

instantly for the extra-man goal and a 9-4 Tar Heel lead with 11:20 to go in the third. The run was on.

By the time the Tar Heels were done, they owned a 12-4 advantage heading into the final period.

Crofton recorded two of his gamehigh four goals during the surge. Attackman Chase Martin added a pair of assists. Crofton's three assists gave him a total of seven points on the day, one off of his career high that he set against Ohio State in 1998. But it was Martin who finally broke out of his slump. The senior entered the game as the team's leading goal-scorer and tied with Crofton for the lead in points. But he went dormant during the Tar Heels' four-game losing streak, managing only three goals and three assists during the skid.

He finished with two goals and three assists against the Retrievers.

"Crofton played incredibly well, and that sort of helped us overall," Martin said.

"When one of the guys starts playing better it's sort of infectious, and every one picks it up."

Miami Fills Dyer Need By Selecting UNC Back

The Miami Dolphins selected UNC fullback Deon Dyer with the 23rd pick in the fourth round of the NFL Draft.

BY WILL KIMMEY Assistant Sports Editor

Deon Dyer admitted to being a bit jumpy this weekend.

Every time the phone rang at his home in Chesapeake, Va., the North Carolina senior thought it was an NFL organization calling to inform him that it had selected him in the draft.

Dyer got some calls during the draft's first three rounds on Saturday, but none came from football teams. Dyer finally got the call he had been waiting for Sunday afternoon. The Miami Dolphins chose the 5-foot-11, 264-pound fullback with the 23rd pick in the fourth round (117th overall). "I had been watching TV and sitting by the phone for two days," Dyer said. "It was a feeling of relief to finally get called. People were calling the house who were not teams and not scouts, and it kind of played with my mind.'

Dyer said he had no preference going into the draft as to which team he wanted
