

collegexit.com

2000'8 SUBS

D's SINCE 1967

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ZERO'S

BETTER PLACES TO EAT: ZERO

READ ALL ABOUT 'EM!

PHILLY STEAK & CHEESE:

GRILLED VEGGIE SUB:

COSMOPOLITAN VEGETARIAN:

MEATBALL & CHEESE.

PHILLY CHICKEN & CHEESE:

AND THERE'S PLENTY MORE WHERE THESE HOT NUMBERS CAME FROM.

ZERO IN ON THE BEST HOT OVEN-BAKED SUBS ON FRANKLIN STREET. You just won't find a better oub on Franklin Street. Or any other street in Chapel Hill.

We're hot. Fresh. Oven-baked. Any other sub will leave you cold.

ZERO CRUMMY STUFF. The finest meats and cheeses. The freshest vegetables. All nestled in some really awesome bread. Try our great pizzas and salads, too. Chances you won't love 'em? Zero.

WE'VE GOT TWO WORDS FOR YOU:

BUCK OFF. Show your student ID and save $1 on a whole sub and 50¢ on a half sub. We're hot. We're on a roll. We're on Franklin Street. Check us out.

GRANVILLE TOWERS.

HOT and on a roll.

Cunningham Aims To Push Education

By RACHEL NYDEN

A former UNC student body president elected to the N.C. Senate last week said he will use his new post to support K-12 and higher education.

Senator-elect Cal Cunningham, UNC student body president from 1995-1996, was elected Nov. 7 to the nate from the the 23rd District, which includes parts of Davidson and Iredell counties in western North Carolina. Cunningham will replace Sen. Jim Phillips, D-Davidson, who served for

But Republican officials say Cunningham should never have run because he did not live in District 23.

Dan Gurley, N.C. Republican Party political director, said documents showed Cunningham voting in municipal elections in Orange County, and the case was referred to the Davidson County Board of Elections. "The Board of Elections ruled in his favor, but the Board of Elections in North Carolina is controlled by Democrats," he said. But Cunningham said the controversy was just a ploy on the part of his opponent to draw attention to his youth. He said the matter was brought before the N.C. Board of Elections as well as the county Board of Elections and was the thrown out both times.

"(The Republicans) wanted to draw out the fact that I'm young and recently out of school."

Cunningham attributed his victory-partly to the help of some UNC stu-dents. "I owe (the win) to a lot of people, including a lot of students from Chapel Hill who came down to help with door-cunningham, who is in his mid-20s, said he developed a desire to run for state office while at UNC.

"I believe very strongly in public service, which I learned at Chapel Hill," he said

Cunningham, who will take office in January, said he will focus on supporting education from elementary schools to N.C. Democratic party officials were pleased with Cunningham's win, said Caroline Voland, N.C. Senate Committee director for the N.C.

Democratic Party. "We are very excited that Cal is going to be the newest member of the N.C. Senate," she said.

"I think Cal has a bright future."

The State & National Editor can be reached at stntdesk@unc.edu.

The University and Towns

Red Cross to Hold Bake Sale, Bike Raffle

The Orange County Chapter of the American Red Cross is holding a bake sale and bike raffle from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. this Saturday.

The chapter is located at 101 Ephesus Church Road, across from the Eastgate Shopping Center.

GYNOMITE

From Page 3

Many of the stories highlighted violence, with one partner spanking the other or mentioning domineering behavior. A story titled "Juice" described "golden showers," where one partner urinates on another.

"I don't think in any way that it per-petuates a patriarchal structure," Belile

Money raised from the event will help promote, prepare and collaborate with Orange County businesses to better prepare in times of emergency. For more information, call 942-4862.

Madrigals to Perform At Area Senior Center

The Reade Street Consort Madrigal Singers will perform at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday at the Chapel Hill Senior

The professional group specializes in 16th and 17th century music and is the third concert in the Distinguished Artists Series of the Friends of the Chapel Hill Senior Center. They will be performing some seasonal music and traditional madrigals.

Admission is $6 and includes refreshments and an opportunity to meet the singers.

For more information, call 968-2070.

said. "We need to be able to talk about

All of the readers agreed that the opportunity to express sexual desires is beneficial.

New York journalist Shaila Dewan, a performer, said, "The very act of writing this stuff down can be empowering to me and to whomever else reads this.

The University Editor can be reached

BRIGGAMAN From Page 3

benefits from my time and talent," she said. "What you get back is a whole lot more than what you put in."

A nonpracticing nurse, Briggaman's determination to improve lives made her more inclined to get involved in social service.

Her past community involvement includes work with local schools, the Red Cross, Cleanscape, CROP Walk and Triangle Land Conservancy.

A volunteer powerhouse, Briggaman urges others to contribute to the comunity. "When I walk into a room, I think (people) just grab their wallets and back up against the wall, wonder ing what I'm going to ask for next."

IFC Staff Assistant Paul McGinley says Briggaman resonates energy and enthusiasm, swaying people to get involved and businesses to make donations to causes like RSVVP.

the restaurants involved in RSVVP." McGinley said. "Through her activities on the Chamber of Commerce she gets to know owners as a businesswoman who's familiar with their concerns."

Beyond building business relationships, Briggaman connects with people on a personal level, adding to her success as a volunteer. "She's really committed and really good at what she does," McGinley said. "She keeps in touch with the human aspect of her work – she's as much a people person as she is detail-oriented and driven." Her knack for volunteerism has earned her "a little wall of honor in Chapel Hill," including the Outstanding Volunteer Award for the Chamber of Commerce for three consecutive years.

After 12 years of dedicated service to RSVVP, earning the label "Professional Volunteer" among her colleagues, Briggaman is stepping down from her position as volunteer chairwoman at the end of the year.

Forever dedicated to community

Forever dedicated to community service, Briggaman plans on continuing social work outside of RSVVP.

"Hunger is a daily issue, an ongoing problem," she said. "I'll stay involved because knowing that I can help solve the problem of hunger is very gratifying."

The Features Editor can be reached at features@unc.edu.

SMOKEOUT

From Page 3

gram were not completely silent.

Amy Lowman, a sophomore who participated, said she felt silence was not the most important aspect of being among the "dead" and that some people among the dead and unastone people were missing the point.

"I thought the day was frustrating because some students got hung up on the fact that we weren't supposed to talk dead people," she said.

But most students participating in the program said they thought the visual impact would send a lasting message to students.

"You have to do something," senior Amy Lorang, who was one of the

"You can't just ignore the problem because smoking is a problem in high schools."

The City Editor can be reached at citydesk@unc.edu.

It's the one college souvenir you'll always treasure Buy it at davidbucherphotoart.com (i) an Officially Licensed Product