

Pitcher's 13 Ks Help Winthrop Edge UNC

ROCK HILL, S.C. — Jason Colson struck out 13 North Carolina batters in eight innings of work to help Winthrop to a 3-2 victory against the Tar Heels on Wednesday night at Knight's Stadium.

Eagle Stas Swerdzewski hit a one-out single and was replaced on the base paths by Brian Snyder. Todd Friedman then doubled to left-center putting runners on second and third.

UNC coach Mike Fox pulled Dennis Robinson for Daniel Moore. Moore immediately struck out pinch hitter Ben Thurmond but then gave up the game-winning single to Winthrop freshman Carlos de la Rionado.

The Eagles (23-5-1) jumped on the board in the second inning on a Bennett Stapf homer. UNC starter Ralph Roberts gave up two runs in five innings of work in his first career start for UNC.

The Tar Heels (17-12) tied the score in the fourth inning when sophomore Sean Farrell smacked a home run down the left field line. Farrell went 3-for-4 on the evening.

The 1-1 score didn't last long as de la Rionado ripped an RBI triple to score Jon Gore in the bottom of the fifth.

North Carolina travels to Raleigh this weekend to face ACC foe N.C. State. The series begins at 7 p.m. Friday at Doak Field.

UNC sophomore Sean Farrell hit a solo home run in the top of the fourth to tie the score at 1-1.

RALEIGH — N.C. State will have to wait yet another year to get its revenge on the North Carolina men's tennis team.

For the second year in a row, UNC narrowly defeated the Wolfpack 4-3.

"They were definitely pumped up for the match," freshman Nick Monroe said. "Their coach on the sideline was like, 'You've got to win this match, we don't want to lose 4-3 like we did last year.'"

Unfortunately for N.C. State coach Eric Hayes, the Tar Heels extended their 14-year winning streak against the Wolfpack, but not without some degree of difficulty Wednesday at the Wolfpack Tennis Center.

UNC (7-5, 3-0 in the ACC) won the doubles point, but only after the tandem of sophomore Greg Archer and junior Marcio Petrone rallied and won at the No. 2 seed.

UNC's Trystan Meniane and Chad Riley won at the third seed, but Monroe and senior David Cheatwood lost their second straight doubles match at No. 1, leaving Petrone and Archer responsible for deciding the point.

The pair started off slow and fought back from a three-point deficit to tie the score.

N.C. State's Eric Jackson and Reinaldo Valor kept the match tight, but late in the match UNC broke and then held serve to claim the win, 9-7.

"Lately Marcio and I have won our close matches," Archer said. "Now when we're in that position, we have a lot of confidence. We believe if it comes down to us, we'll be able to deliver the point."

The Tar Heels have won every doubles point since UNC coach Sam Paul tweaked the lineup seven matches ago.

"We feel like every time we go into doubles matches we're going to win that point," Monroe said.

"We're that confident in our doubles play right now, and that carries us into our singles match."

And although the three doubles matches combine to equal only one point, they can make a world of difference when singles go to the wire, as they did against the Wolfpack.

Cheatwood and Meniane extended UNC's lead 3-0 by winning their singles matches in straight sets.

But N.C. State closed in on the Tar Heels when Chad Riley dropped his match at the sixth seed and Archer faltered at No. 5 to tighten the score 3-2.

Meanwhile, Petrone was playing out a tie-breaker in the second set at No. 1, so second-seeded Monroe knew that to secure the victory, he had to win.

"I knew I had to turn it up in the last game," Monroe said. "I had to let him know I was there and take control of the match. You have to have no fear in that type of situation."

Monroe broke Michael Carducci's serve at 4-4 in the second set and then held serve to win 6-4, 6-4 and clinch the match for UNC.

"It was a tough spot for anyone to be in, and Nick just won the match," Paul said. "They always play us tough here. It was a real team victory. All the guys can feel good."

Bentley To Transfer From UNC

Staff Report

North Carolina redshirt junior wrestler JohnMark Bentley, a three-time ACC Champion, will transfer to Oklahoma State next year.

Bentley's departure marks the third time in the past year that a wrestler has left the UNC program.

Skyler Holman transferred to Oklahoma State before the season started and Chuckie Connor left the program in January.

UNC coach Bill Lam released Bentley from the UNC program last Wednesday.

"Oklahoma State is one of the best programs in the nation and one of the best programs of all time," Bentley said. "It will be a good situation for me."

The Newland native was named ACC Wrestler of the Year after compiling a 30-3 overall record.

But Bentley did not attain his ultimate goal of winning an NCAA Championship, losing in the first round.

Bentley hopes the transfer will change that sort of outcome.

"Going to Oklahoma State is going to give me the best chance to reach my goals," Bentley said. "Leaving was just something I needed to do."

"I've been thinking about leaving for a while. I can't pinpoint one thing because I've been debating transferring all year."
