

JULIAN'S From Page 3

visit Julian's when they return to their alma mater. "Some of the alumni have come in and said, 'It feels the same way, but you changed this or that,'" she said. "I will tell them that my dad didn't get to stay in business for himself for 50 years by being the exact same thing he was the day he opened."

found. "Our almost 60-year history has been about traditional with a twist," she said. "It's great style, good fit, a lot of flexibility. It makes customers look good, which translates into feel good."

Advertisement for Birkenstock shoes, featuring models like Mephisto and Ecco, and store locations in Chapel Hill and Raleigh.

Advertisement for the Carolina Class of 2001 Outstanding Senior/Favorite Faculty Awards, including nomination details and deadlines.

Advertisement for Saladelia Cafe, featuring a menu of breakfast, lunch, and dinner items, and catering services.

Advertisement for LUNELLE Monthly Contraceptive Injection, providing detailed information on its use, benefits, and safety.

UNC students, Julian-Fox said they provide a creative edge to the business and form part of an extended family. "Working at Julian's was a wonderful experience," said former employee Eliza Warren, a senior journalism major.

Tonight, Julian's will be among the designers showcasing everything from beachwear to formalwear at a fashion show at 7 p.m. in the Great Hall. Proceeds from the show, sponsored by the Kenan-Flagler Business School, will go to the Durham Scholars, an after-school program for minorities at local elementary schools. Tickets are $6.

"We grew up by hearing people saying 'I'll meet you at Julian's after the game,'" Julian-Fox said. "We figure if we continue to hear that, then we'll continue to work to be here."

The Features Editor can be reached at features@unc.edu.

Senior Ryan Dahl leads other members of the men's club rugby team in a passing drill Wednesday afternoon. The team is getting ready for a trip to compete in the national rugby Sweet 16.

RUGBY From Page 3 there are benefits to being a club team. "You're not required to do anything, so the people who come out to practice are there because that's how they want to spend the next two or three hours of their day," he said.

They are all very committed to the team. "They have determination and dedication," he said. "They are there basically every night of the week, and they fund themselves."

to see that hard work make a difference. "Their skill level has improved dramatically over the last couple months," he said.

Large advertisement for PPD Development, offering study opportunities with compensation and requirements, and promoting their clinical studies since 1983.

Continuation of the LUNELLE advertisement, detailing side effects, contraindications, and instructions for use.

Continuation of the PPD Development advertisement, listing specific study opportunities and contact information.

Continuation of the PPD Development advertisement, including a discussion section and contact details for the Features Editor.

DAP From Page 3

is hidden in pant legs, which can be rolled up once outside the office. Lakhany launched the Dap-Rugget line with designer Cedric King. He said most of their funding came from family ties and friends of King.

Lakhany said Dap-Rugget's theme is recurring in everyday life, heightening the line's popularity. "A lot of things in life are dap-rugget," he said. "You go to work at an office, you're dap. But then you go home, kick it with your friends, you're rugget."

He said this is the reason celebrities are willing to work with the brand. "They say we're the next Hilfiger," he said. "It's really good to hear that kind of feedback from people who know what they're talking about."

The Features Editor can be reached at features@unc.edu.

DISCUSSION From Page 3

emony will hopefully bring a "renewed interest" in the BCC. The BCC, currently located in the Student Union, will move to a three-story, 36,000-square-foot building located between the Bell Tower and Coker Hall.