Tar Heel Swimmers Dominate Blue Devils

By BEN DESANTIS

Before the North Carolina-Duke swimming and diving meet Tuesday at Koury Natatorium, Duke's team gathered around one of its swimmers while he hit a pot with a stick The Blue Devils began

Duke .......65 UNC ......227 whooping and hollering, yelling "Go Duke."

It would be about the most life Duke would show all evening.

The UNC men's and women's teams both won their first Duke . . . . . . 104 UNC . . . . . 184 cruised to 227-65 and 184-104 wins, respectively, against the Blue Devils.

The women's team improved to 3-1 and 1-0 in the ACC with the win, while the men are 2-2, 1-0. Duke's women fell to 13,0-3, while its men dropped to 0-4,0-3.

Sophomore Jessi Perruquet, who won the 50-yard freestyle in 23.64 seconds and was a member of the winning 200-freestyle and medley-relay teams said the quick start was important to the m's success. "We couldn't take anything for granted," Perruquet said. "Duke is improving, and they have some great swimmers."

Juniors Janna Turner and Christy Watkins, also members of the winning relay teams, each won individual events. Turner won the 200 butterfly in 2 minutes, 10.01 seconds, and Watkins won the 100 butterfly in 57.43.

UNC's men were led by senior captains Kert Johnson and Chris Helin Johnson swam on the victorious 200 estyle and medley-relay teams, while Helin won the 200 butterfly in 1:50.91 and anchored the freestyle-relay team, which won with a time of 1:26.38.

Johnson said he was impressed by the team's focus against a perennially weak Duke squad.

"This year, it was probably tougher than usual because we were coming off the long weekend," he said. "We just tried to treat it the same as any other meet."

Johnson said the team now looks to next weekend's Nike Cup, UNC's last meet this fall. "We're getting faster every meet," he said. "And we should have a fast meet come the Nike Cup, too."

But Tuesday wasn't all good for the North Carolina sophomore swimmer Courtney Lewis finished the 200-meter freestyle in 2 minutes, 1.84 seconds.

UNC men's team. Junior All-American Sean Quinn broke his left foot Monday after stepping off of a curb.

UNC swimming coach Frank Comfort said he wouldn't comment on Quinn's status until after Quinn's doctor's appointment, scheduled for today.

might step off a curb and possibly have your season come to an end."

his team can't take its training or meets against lesser opponents lightly. He said, "You don't know when you

The Sports Editor can be reached at

as an opportunity to shave posting, especially because the team seconds off their times. has been having double practices for the past few days. "We

UNC 'Seizes the Moment'

Against Lower-Tier Foe

When you're swimming against a team that hasn't defeated you in more than 60 years, it can be difficult to con sider the competition anything more than a glorified training session.

The swimming and diving

teams used the Duke meet

North Carolina's swimming and div-ing team was in that situation Tuesday when it hosted Duke. UNC's coach, Frank Comfort, said the Tar Heels haven't lost to Duke since 1938, when the two schools met at a YMCA in UNC dominated Duke again, taking first place in 24 of the 32 events.

North Carolina men's team captain Chris Helin described the competition as an intense practice.

"It's nothing really too big," Helin said. "It's an opportunity for the guys who didn't get to (travel in the last meet) to try and see what they can do."

Comfort compared early season

meets to exhibition games.

"Two months later, no one will remember who won the Nike Cup," Comfort said. UNC will compete in the Nike Cup on Nov. 15, 16 and 17. However, Comfort went on to say that the Nike Cup and matches with teams like Duke are important.

After the Nike Cup, UNC will not compete again for nearly two months, when it hosts Clemson on Jan. 13. With such a large gap between competitions, Comfort said his swimmers need to take advantage of every meet they have, even if it is against a team like Duke.

(Against Duke) the excitement level isn't going to be as high as it is against Georgia or Minnesota, but you only have so many opportunities to compete, and you darn well better do your best when you get them," Comfort said.

But in meets against lower-tier teams, a win is almost inevitable, forcing swimmers to look elsewhere for motivation. Often they focus on improving

Michael Chenier said he was

The Lumina 620 Market St. Chapel Hill 932-9000

Take 15/501 South towards Pittsbor Exit Main St./Southern Village

DOMESTIC DISTURBANCE PG-13

RIDING IN CARS WITH BOYS POR

5:00-9:35 MONSTERS, INC. © 12:45-3:00-5:15-7:15-9:15 SERENDIPITY PCB

13 GHOSTS R

BANDITS PGIS

impressed with the times that his expect to have too

many good swims

in a meet like this," Chenier said. "It's just people swim fast.

exciting to

Chenier

Frank Comfort one more meet left

In the men's 500-yard freestyle, Seth Laughlin shaved 1.56 seconds off of the time he posted in Minnesota, touching first in four minutes, 38.35 seconds.

Helin also had an impressive time

Tuesday with a 1:50.91 first-place finish in the men's 200 butterfly.

"If you're swimming well while you're still training hard, it says something about the kind of condition that you're in," Helin said.

Comfort said he, too, was proud of his team's performance.
"We had a lot of really solid swims,"

Comfort said. "We seized the moment."

The Sports Editor can be reached at

Go Home To Mourn

Deaths in their families have caused Ronald Curry and Darian Durant to return to their respective hometowns.

Staff Report

North Carolina quarterbacks Ronald Curry and Darian Durant have left the team to go to their respective home-towns after deaths in their families, UNC coach John Bunting announced at his weekly press conference Tuesday.
"It kind of puts football in perspec tive of what's important," Bunting said.

"Our hearts and prayers go out to these two gentlemen. Two fine, fine people and their families."

Durant left the team Saturday to be with his family in Florence, S.C., after the death of his stepmother. UNC offi-cials did not know her name or cause of Curry talked to Bunting at about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and told Bunting that his cousin died of asthma complications and that he would be going home to Hampton, Va.

How long until the two return is a question for the Tar Heels, who have a noon kickoff with Wake Forest on Saturday at Kenan Stadium. Bunting said third-string quarterback Aaron Leak will take most of the snaps in practice but that because Curry and Durant have played so much, not being in practice this week shouldn't hurt them come

"Don't know the status as of yet," Bunting said. "And not really concerned about it right now, I'm concerned for those two kids. I've told them they need to take care of their families.

UNC's QBs Volleyball Crushes 'Pack

Comfort said Quinn's injury proves

Catherine deRoeck's two aces sparked the Tar Heels on an 18-0 run in the first game against N.C. State.

By AARON FITT

It was only fitting that the North Carolina volleyball team's victory against N.C. State on Tuesday ended

After all, UNC's serve dominated the Wolfpack all night long.

Volleyball

Tar Heels made it clear from the very begin-ning that they

N.C. State . . . . 0 UNC . . . . . 3 trol and cruised to a 3-0 victory at Carmichael Auditorium

With the score tied at five in the first game, UNC defensive specialist Caroline deRoeck jump-started the Tar Heels with back-to-back aces to begin an 18-0 run. DeRoeck's serve befuddled the Wolfpack (6-19, 1-14 in the ACC) during streak.

working a lot on my serve in practice," deRoeck said. "I've been trying to concentrate on get-ting the ball high and getting the ball over the net."
Outside hitter

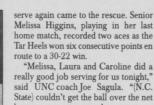

Laura Greene and Underwood finished the Wolfpack hitter Aletha Green both hit .500 during the first game, tallying off with a six-point service run. nine kills between them. Greene also had four consecutive aces near the end of the game, putting UNC ahead 29-8. The Tar Heels won 30-13.

It looked like North Carolina (20-6, 12-4) was going to breeze through the cond game as well. But down 19-9, the Wolfpack did'its best to give the Tar Heels a competitive game.

Malaika

UNC committed five errors in the next nine points, and N.C. State narrowed the Tar Heel lead to two. With the score 23-21, the North Carolina because we put so much pressure on them with our serve." The third game was all UNC. Led by setter Malaika Underwood's deep serve, the Tar Heels took an early 9-1 lead and never looked back. Molly Pyles had five kills and recorded a hitting percentage of .833, and Nicole Reis notched three kills without an error. Underwood finished the game with a sixword inished the gaine with a service run, ending with an ace. The Wolfpack never got close, and the Tar Heels cruised to a 30-12 victory.

UNC finished with 14 aces, its highest total in a three-game match this season

"We really came together tonight," Greene said. "When we come together as a team, we're unstoppable.'

The Sports Editor can be reached at

DOMESTIC DISTURBANCE @ Daily 3:05, 5:05, 7:05, 9:05

THE ONE PERS Daily 3-00 5-00 7-00 9-00

RON MONKEY PG-3 Daily 3:10, 5:10, 7:10 MAX KEEBLE'S BIG MOVE RE Daily 3:15, 5:15

THE OTHERS PG-13 Daily 9:10

MONSTERS INC. @ Daily 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00 MONSTERS INC. @ Daily 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, 9:15

BANDITS PG-13 Daily 7:00

SERENDIPITY PGB Daily 3:25, 9:25 RIDING IN CARS WITH BOYS FGB Daily 3:40, 7:05, 9:40

LIFE AS A HOUSE ® Daily 3:35, 7:00, 9:35

TICKETS ARE GOING FAST! DON'T MISS THIS SPECIAL EVENT FOR THE UNC SENIOR CLASS

The Old Poplar Ball

Thursday, Nov. 8th, 2001

9:00 pm in the John Sprunt Hill Ballroom of the Carolina Inn Featuring Doug Clark and the Hot Nuts

To benefit the Senior Class Gift Attendance limited. Tickets $25 per person

Tickets available at Julian's 140 East Franklin St. 942-4563

The Old Poplar Ball

The Home Depot now hiring

for night crew positions!

That's right! The Home Depot's night shift allows you to more time with your family, attend school, or just spend your days relaxing outdoors. And you'll also have access to great benefits & opportunities!

We Are Offering These Opportunities:

- Freight Team Associates
- Receiving Associates
- · Work 4 hour shifts, such as 8pm-midnight or 5am-9am
- Work 6 to 8 hour shifts. between the hours of 8pm-5am or 4am-10am

(shifts may vary slightly)

Once you have completed your application, ask to speak to a member of our Management Team.

re an equal opportunity employer & drug-free workplace

Great careers built here!

