

Flanagan Wins NCAA Regional Race

From Staff Reports

FURMAN, S.C. - North Carolina's Shalane Flanagan won her second consecutive NCAA Southeast Region Cross Country Championship on Saturday. Flanagan finished with a time of 20 minutes, 26 seconds in the 6,000-meters women's event, which tied the course record.

The UNC women's team had four runners finish in the top 11 and totaled 49 points to place second behind NC State, which won the meet with 45 points.

Field Hockey Out Of NCAA's

ANN ARBOR, Mich. - The fourth-ranked North Carolina field hockey team fell 5-2 to No. 7 Michigan on Saturday to wrap up the 2001 season with a record of 14-7. The loss came in the first round of NCAA Field Hockey Tournament play at the Wolverines' Ocker Field.

Volleyball Loses to Florida State

The North Carolina volleyball team lost its ACC regular season finale Friday, falling to Florida State 3-0 (20-30, 28-30, 24-30). With the loss, the Tar Heels fall to 20-7 overall, 12-4 in the ACC, while the Seminoles improve to 14-11, 9-6 in conference action.

Nicole Reis and Laura Greene each totaled eight kills to lead North Carolina.

OFFENSE

rejuvenated, and they were just driving the defensive line back off the ball."

And they gave Williams and MacPherson plenty of opportunities to maintain scoring drives.

Williams rushed for two first downs early in the fourth and completed the drive himself with a run up the middle for a three-yard TD and 31-21 game.

On the winning score, MacPherson found a crease and scrambled for 15 yards. With a defensive holding call on UNC, it put the ball deep in Tar Heel territory. MacPherson later scored on a QB sneak with 1:17 left.

"In the second half, we kind of relaxed to where we said 'We're better than this,'" MacPherson said. "We can run the ball and we can move the ball against this team and score some touchdowns."

Now the Tar Heels must curb their defensive woes against another potent rushing attack next Saturday in Duke's Chris Douglas.

Douglas, the league's fifth-best rusher, has been a bright spot for the 0-9 Blue Devils, rushing for 756 yards this season.

"We've got to study and prepare for him," UNC outside linebacker David Thornton said. "Whatever the coaches design, we have to go out there and do it. Football is simple: know your alignment and know your responsibility."

Men's Basketball Wins Final Exhibition Game

They didn't lose. For North Carolina coach Matt Doherty, that's a start, at least.

With North Carolina's first game of the season on Friday, getting an 81-70 win against the Nike Elite in Saturday's exhibition game was actually important for Doherty and his Tar Heels.

"It's good to win a game," said Doherty, whose Tar Heels lost their first exhibition 107-76 to the EA Sports All-Stars. "We hope we grew up a bit today."

Once again, the Tar Heels took the court without Jason Capel, who is still resting a hamstring injury. Doherty said Capel could have played, but they wanted him to recover completely.

Kris Lang led UNC with 27 points and 12 rebounds, while Brian Morrison added 20 points and five assists. Will Johnson pulled down 15 boards for the team.

Although all those numbers should comfort the Tar Heels going into their first game, there are frightening ones to contend with, too.

UNC was 4 of 19 from beyond the 3-point line in the first half, while Jackie Manuel and Melvin Scott were a combined 1 for 10 on field goals.

"We did put up a lot of quick shots," Adam Boone said. "A lot of times they were good shots, but they're so fast. We could have worked around and got a better shot."

TEASLEY

Evansville coach Tricia Cullop. "She adds an awful lot to this team. Her ability to make plays for other people as well as score and rebound is key."

In the first half, when Teasley was in the game, the offense seemed to click. In her first 5:25 on the floor, UNC outscored Evansville 13-0 with Teasley contributing two points and two rebounds.

While her 4-for-10 shooting display - including 0 for 5 from 3-point land - proved her jumper was a little rusty, Teasley was able to exploit her height advantage and quickness on the perimeter that led to kickout assists and looks down low.

"I'm disappointed in myself for being nervous, it's not really my style," Teasley said. "I'm very happy we got a win."

With the Tar Heels traveling to play Connecticut on Thursday, UNC coach Sylvia Hatchell is happy to have her star back in uniform.

Said Hatchell, "It's good to see her being successful on and off the court."

my leg out and kick it out." Another Leitch save made for some controversy.

As Worthen got open just outside of the penalty box later in the match, Leitch scrambled from behind and made a slide tackle, kicking the ball away from him. Worthen fell forward but the referee did not make a call.

The referee's decision enraged South Carolina coach Mark Berson, who thought two Tar Heels fouled Worthen.

"I thought Joey was through, and two North Carolina players brought him down in the box," Berson said. "If it was one, then I'm not going to say much.

But when it is two, it looked like a penalty, and that's what I was upset about."

Bolowich said: "I thought it was a fair tackle. Chris knew with his speed he could go in, and it wasn't a clumsy tackle."

While the nonconference win did nothing to help out UNC's position in next weekend's ACC Tournament, Wake Forest's loss did.

Tenth-ranked Clemson defeated No. 6 Wake 1-0 on Saturday. With the loss, Wake fell to 3-2-1 in the conference and gave UNC the tourney's second seed.

"It doesn't matter," Leitch said of the higher seed. "Every game from now on will be tough."
