Aldermen Refine Vision for Downtown

By ERIKA HEYDER

The Carrboro Board of Aldermen met Tuesday night to review the Downtown Visioning report and pro-vide direction on what elements of the documents it would like staff to address.

Thursday, April 4, 2002

The report is part of the Vision 2020

The report is part of the Vision 2020 plan, a comprehensive guide for developing downtown Carrboro that was created by residents, officials and the commissioned group Walkable Communities.

James Harris, Carrboro's community and economic development director, helped the board sort through the plan's documents piece by piece. Together, they broke the projects into two sections: public works and those projects that were "regulatory in nature."

that were "regulatory in nature."

The first section dealt with historical landmarks. Members discussed what could be considered historical properties in the town.

Board member Mark Dorosin warned the board that not everything old can be considered historical. "We about historical landmarks," he said. "It's the architectural construction of a building that makes something historical."

Parking was also a major concern. While most parking spaces are behind businesses, members want to develop a better parking situation for downtown Carrboro. They discussed joining business back lots, requiring businesses to share lots. Dorosin suggested providing an incentive to businesses who share their parking.

Harris suggested a parking deck, a project the board thinks is important but extremely expensive.

Alderman Jacquelyn Gist also proposed providing an incentive to businesses where employers ask employees to find alternate means of getting to work.

"Employees shouldn't drive to work for lots of reasons but mainly to increase parking access. More parking spots increase business as well," Gist said.

Alderman Diana McDuffee recommended creating a parking task force where members would hire private companies to research parking methods to increase the accessibility and spaces in downtown Carrboro. Other parking ideas included increased free and paid ideas included increased free and paud street parking with time limits. The board discussed imposing a side-walk width requirement, mandating that all sidewalks be 8 feet wide. Brick trim around the sidewalks also is something the board might require.

The board also expressed concern about the area's poor signage, including pedestrian walks and traffic lights. Members highlighted problem areas in downtown that need increased signage. The board went on to discuss regulatory issues that require immediate attention from its staff.

Creating a downtown identity is of major concern to the town, and the board is working to improve both the streetscape and landscape master plan.

Mayor Mike Nelson proposed having more benches and garbage cans downtown, as well as increasing flowers and

While revising the town's look is of major concern, the board showed little interest in any sort of town theme, as cities such as Charlotte and Raleigh

Nelson said, "Carrboro needs to have a personality without rules.

The City Editor can be reached at citydesk@unc.edu.

Campus Calendar

11 a.m. – Project Literacy, a committee of the Campus Y, will be sponsoring a book drive in conjunction with Human Rights Week. We will be accepting donations in the Pit today and Friday, 11 a.m.

to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. noon – The UNC Safe Zone presents "Linking Together for Change Ally Speak Out" in Polk Place – a cele bration to show support for the LGBT community at UNC. Speakers include Professor Chuck Stone, Professor Pamela Conover and Marcus Harvey.

6 p.m. – The Chapel Hill Campaign to End the Cycle of Violence is spon-soring "Another World is Possible," a fund-raising banquet for global peace and justice, until 9 p.m. at the Carrboro New Century Center on 100 N. Greensboro St.

Enjoy entertainment and international cuisine from Afghanistan, India, the Middle East and beyond. Tickets are $25 or $15 for students and are available in or $15 for students and are available in advance at Internationalist Books, the Regulator Bookshop and Open Eye Cafe.

7 p.m. – Campaign to End the Death Penalty is hosting a panel discussion in 101 Greenlaw Hall on religion and the death penalty featuring representatives from Christian, Jewish, and Muslim faiths.
8 p.m. – Queer Network for Change is holding a Celebration week safe sex/fun sex workshop: "T&A safe sex/fun sex workshop: "T&A Q&A" in 224 Union.

8 p.m. - Company Carolina and the Department of Communications Studies present "Killer Diller," which will be performed at Swain Hall. Tickets are free. Adapted by Paul Ferguson from the best-selling novel by Clyde Edgerton, this musical production pre-

Developments in the War on Terrorism

Rumsfeld: Captive Won't Be Tortured

Interrogators of the most senior al-Qaida figure in U.S. custody intend to draw "every single thing out of him" that might head off terrorist acts, but they will not torture Abu Zubaydah, Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld said Wednesday.

Embassy Bombing Suspect Pleads Guilty in Prison Guard Stabbing

■ A purported key backer of Osama bin Laden pleaded guilty Wednesday to stabbing a prison guard in the eye with a sharpened comb. Mamdouh Mahmud Salim still is awaiting trial on conspiracy charges in the August 1998 bombings of two U.S. embassies in Africa.

U.S. Congressman Considers Aid for Afghan Bombing Victims

The U.S. government should "do what's right" and consider compensating Afghans who lost family members in misdirected American bombings, Rep. Dana Rohrabacher, D-Calif., said Wednesday. Rohrabacher headed a U.S. congressional delegation that visited Afghan leaders.

sents an off-beat romance between a

9 p.m. – Bring your sheets and blan-kets to Olde Campus Upper Quad (between Davis Library and the Arboretum) for a free outdoor movie on Thursdays in April. There will be free cot ton candy, Coca-Cola products and Coke merchandise, and today "Billy Madison" will show. Rain date will be the next day will show. Rain date will be the next day at 9 p.m. This event is brought to you by OCUQ Residence Hall Association, senior class, Carolina Union Activities Board, the Department of Housing and Residential Education, Carolina After Dark, Delta Upsilon, OCUQ resident assistant staff, Coca-Cola and production services.

Item of Interest

UNC'S Hip Hop Nation hosts

The Daily Tar Heel PO. Box 3257, Chapel Hill, NC 27515 Katie Hunter, Editor, 962-4086 Advertising & Business, 962-1163 News, Features, Sports, 962-0245

One copy per person; additional copies may be purchased at The Daily Tar Heel for $.25 each. © 2002 DTH Publishing Corp. All rights reserved nicest spot in the Hill.

The SoFresh U.Ball. All area univer sities should attend this Hip Hop Ball, come casual dressed, ballin' as you do, and enjoy a $3 cover until 3 a.m. Ladies are free before 11 p.m. DJ pEz spinnin' hip-hop delights and FunkJunkie on The House and Breaks. Crowns to the freshest! Come out! Come out, wherever you 3Some Thursdays at Club NV. The student group calls all to partake in a night of dance and rhyme at the newest and

For the Record

In the April 3 article "Students Step Into New Positions," Amanda Spillman, the new student attorney general, was omitted from the story.

The April 3 article "Black T-Shirts Mark Men's Commitment to Ending Violence" incorrectly reported that the T-shirts were funded by the Center for Healthy Student Behaviors. The shirts were paid for by the Harassment and Assault Fund, which is administered by the Office of the Dean

The Daily Tar Heel regrets the errors.

New York flair in Chapel Hill $239,900 C Longview, just off Airport Wood Glen Townhomes Walk to campus from this sophisticated townhome 130-K Longview, just off Airport

- Extensive built-ins
 Custom track lighting
 Family room wired for home theater

Diane Dissel • 313-3452 • Prudential Carolina's Realty

FRESH-BAKED

BLISS

PANERA BREAD

IS OPENING

FRIDAY, APRIL 5TH

ON FRANKLIN ST.

At Panera Bread, we bake

and cookies right here in our bakery-cafe.

our sandwiches and

salads to hearty soups

served in bread bowls.

Fresh-baked bread is the centerpiece of every meal, from

Drop by soon

and find out

what good things

we baked

for you today.

Also visit any of our other 6 neighborhood bakery-cafes in the Greater Triangle area.

Franklin Street

213 West Franklin Street - Chapel Hill

Phone (919) 929-9189 • Fax: (919) 929-9186 HOURS: Monday-Saturday 6:30 a.m.-11:00 p.m. and Sunday 7:30 a.m.-9:00 p.m.

all of our breads (more than a dozen delicious varieties!), bagels, muffins, pastries

Pi Beta Phi 5k Race for Women

All proceeds benefit the Orange County Rape Crisis Center

April 13 ~ Ram's Head Parking Lot

registration 8:45am warm-up 9:40am race begins 10am

a different kind of OUTLET STORE

"One delicious part of your healthy lifestyle."

Allies SpeakOUT:

Tickets on sale at the Student Union Box Office

20th Annual Spring Concern

"A Night at the Grammys"

Saturday, April 6, 8pm

For more info visit our website at

Memorial Hall

or call 962-1449

www.loreleis.com

Linking Together for Change

A ceremony marking the recognition of LGBT human rights and the development of ways to make our community at UNC safer and more accepting of all students.

Thursday, April 4, 12:15-1:00 pm Polk Place (in front of South Building)

Guest Speakers

Professor Chuck Stone Professor Pamela Conover Marcus Harvey

I pledge to work towards making the UNC community a safe and welcoming place for persons of all sexual orientations.

Sponsored by UNC Safe Zone Program Campus Y Spectrum UNC Department of Housing and Residential Education Center for Healthy Student Behaviors

Lassiter at North Hills 4421 Six Forks Road Phone (919) 781-1112 · Fax: (919) 781-1992

The Streets at Southpoint 6702 Fayetteville Road - Durham Phone (919) 544-8360 · Fax: (919) 544-8370

Crabtree Valley Mall 4325 Glenwood Avenue

4325 Glenwood Avenue (919) 785-9093 • Fax: (919) 785-9094

Panera

BREAD

www.panerabread.com

Preston Walk NW Cary Pkwy at James Jackson Phone (919) 469-6696 • Fax: (919) 469-0

Centrum 2234 Walnut Street 919) 233-2221 • Fax: (919) 233-2214