

All of the materials pictured here can be found in the extensive collections of Wilson Library.

Wilson Library, one of the most beautiful buildings on campus, is home to Special Collections and the Maps Collection. Although many of the items in these collections are unique or unusual, you don't need special permission to come use them. Like all campus libraries, Wilson is open to all members of the community. For hours, see www.lib.unc.edu/wilson/ or call 962-0114.

The Manuscripts Department offers millions of manuscripts and thousands of photos, sound recordings, and moving images. The Department includes the Southern Historical Collection, the Southern Folklife Collection, the General and Literary Manuscripts Collection, and the University Archives.

The Maps Collection offers the Libraries' principal map reference service. Here you will find sheet maps, atlases, gazetteers and geographical dictionaries, cartographic reference volumes, CD-ROMs, directories, and map depository publications.

The North Carolina Collection documents the State, its citizens, and the University in many formats. Special strengths include the Sir Walter Raleigh Collection, the Thomas Wolfe Collection, and the Photographic Archives. The North Carolina Collection Gallery houses and displays published and artifactual materials related to the State.

The Rare Book Collection has materials dating from 2500 BC to the present. Significant holdings include the history of books and printing, medieval manuscripts and incunabula, 16th-century imprints, French history of the Napoleonic era, 19th- and 20th-century British and American literature and publishing, mystery-detective fiction, and World War I and II posters.

www.lib.unc.edu/wilson/

Getting Connected...

Public workstations provide access to the Web, the Online Catalog, and electronic resources in all libraries.

Laptop and Wireless Card Loans - Davis Library and House Undergraduate Library have laptops and wireless cards available at their circulation desks for three-hour use.

Network Ports - Davis Library has nearly 2,000 new network ports at tables and in lounges, offices, and carrels. Similar network connections are available in House Undergraduate Library and departmental libraries.

Wireless Access - Wireless network access is available on the 1st, 2nd, 7th, and 8th floors of Davis Library, House Undergraduate Library and certain areas of the Health Sciences Library, Sloane Art Library, and the Rare Book Reading Room in Wilson Library are also equipped for wireless access.

Scanning - Image and Optical Character Recognition (OCR) scanning services are available in the Davis Library Reference Department (sign-up required).

Computer Labs - The 3rd floor of Davis Library and the lower level of House Undergraduate Library house ATN computer labs.

...Remote Access

www.lib.unc.edu

Telnet - To library.unc.edu.

Modem - Dial in at 962-9911, choose "Library Services" from the menu and enter "library" when prompted for a user name. (Communications software settings: no parity, 8 data bits, 1 stop bit, and full duplex.)

Help - Davis Reference (962-1151 or reference@unc.edu).

Most licensed databases and electronic journals are available to UNC-Chapel Hill faculty, staff, and students off-campus. See proxy.lib.unc.edu for information.

...in the Libraries