Tar Heels Shut Out USC in Season Finale

By TIM CANDON

Heading into the 14th-ranked North Carolina men's soccer team's match against No. 23 South Carolina on Friday, UNC midfielder Marcus Storey had one goal in mind - score.

"My coaches asked me before the game, 'What Men's Soccer are you going to do for the South Carolina ...0 UNC2 game?' I was like, 'Try to some goals," Storey said with a chuckle. Although he didn't score some goals, he did score one, which proved to be the game winner in Friday's 2-0 win against South Carolina (10-7-1).

In the 38th minute, UNC forward David Testo col-lected a failed go to dailytarheel.com Elmar Bolowich clearing attempt becomes winningest by the Gamecock by the Gamecock defense about 35 soccer history. yards from goal.

He backheeled a pass to Ryan Kneipper, who then slipped a pass through the South Carolina backline to the wide-open Storey. One-on-one against USC goalkeeper Michael Bachmeyer, Storey deposited his shot into the back of the net.

"Really the ball just bounced, and I happened to be in the right place at the right time. I saw the goalie coming out, and I just tried to put it under him."

But before Storey's goal, the first half was full of missed opportunities for both

In the 19th minute, Bachmeyer barely got a finger on a Testo strike from 12 yards out. Three minutes later, Matt Crawford drilled the crossbar.

Three minutes after that, USC forward Ryan Deter's shot from 6 yards

In the 33rd inute, UNC defender David Stokes cleared a ball off the line that had beaten But Storey's shot hit the back of the net shortly thereafter, Bolowich said the score boosted his team's morale.

Marcus Storey scored his eighth goal

"It was against the run of play. At on Friday night. the time, it was like South Carolina hit the post, we had a ball cleared off the line, and boom – there we go on the other end and stick it in. And I think it shocked South Carolina a little bit, but it also gave us a little bit more confidence."

But in the second half the offensive push for both sides dwindled. USC played with more urgency to make up the one-goal deficit.

Although it appeared that UNC (13-5-1, 3-2-1 in the ACC) was trying to preserve the lead by attacking less, Bolowich said it was just the oppos "We wanted to not protect the lead.

We wanted to go for more goals," he said.
"We wanted to press South Carolina. It's just like they made it very difficult for us."

Bolowich said he remained uneasy about how the game would end until a USC own goal in the 86th minute sealed the win for the Tar Heels.

With the ACC Tournament begin ning Thursday, UNC forward Mike Gell said winning the regular-season finale was huge for the Tar Heels.

"It was unbelievably huge," he said.
"Just to get the win, keep that ball rolling, hopefully we won't lose another one."

The Sports Editor can be reached at

UNC Avenges Loss to EA All-Stars

By Ian Gordon

Melvin Scott backpedaled down the court, looked up at the 12,574 Smith Center fans and slowly broke out a smile.

As the crowd noise grew, the sophomore guard's grin broadened and his head began to bob up and And down. EA All-Stars97 UNC109 there, with 12 minutes to go in the North Carolina men's basketball team's game against the EA Sports All-Stars, Scott began his own little victory dance, shimmying his shoulders and hips to a beat only he could hear. 'When I was doing that, I was just thinking, 'Man, this is what I dreamed Carolina being like,'" Scott said. "I mean, it's only an exhibition, but it felt good - the team chemistry, the crowd supporting us."

Saturday

evening, that dream began to be realized. In front of an energized and eager Smith Center audience, the Tar Heels ran an offensive clinic in their first pre-

EA Sports 109-97.
UNC swing-UNC point guard Raymond Felton had 16 points and nine assists in Saturday's game with the EA All-Stars. Rashad McCants and for-Jawad Williams each dropped 23 points on the All-Stars, the troupe of former college players that shocked Chapel Hill when it walloped the Tar Heels 107-76 last year.

Sure, a different group of players filled EA Sports' roster this time around, but UNC's victory still came as a relief to a fan base yearning for a quick start.
"It's nice to win a basketball game," said UNC coach Matt Doherty. "Granted, it's an exhibition game, but I liked the way our kids played."

Although the game's outcome was essentially set by the time Scott started breaking it down, the All-Stars came out bombing from behind the 3-point line early and built a 27-18 first-half lead.

Mike Elliott led the charge, draining four treys en route to 18 first-half points. But the Tar Heels took the hit and fought back. They went on a 23-6 run to the lead for the rest of the way. In doing so, North Carolina began to nine assists) controlled tempo throughout, pushing the ball whenever he could. But sometimes, like when he threw an ill-advised second-half lob to McCants, Felton had the look of a rookie. "He makes some phenomenal plays out there," said senior Jonathan Holmes. "There are some things that he can do with the basketball that are amazing."

UNC's defense settled down as the game moved on, and EA Sports shot only display its ability to share the ball in the half-court offense and on the fastbreak. Freshman Raymond Felton (16 points, 38 percent in the second half. The All-Stars finished 17 of 43 from 3-point land. The Tar Heels' lead swelled to 22 late in the game as they leaned on McCants,

Williams and freshman center Sean May, who scored 22 points in 23 minutes. For the game, UNC shot 56 percent from the floor. Still, the Tar Heels' coach was guarded afterward.

Said Doherty, "It's a good start, but that's all it is — just a start."

The Sports Editor can be reached at sports@unc.edu.

THE Daily Crossword

By Vivian O. Collins

53 Practice
58 Emulate Cicero
63 On the peak of
64 Pane store?
66 Stable denizen
67 Action starter?
68 Meadow mouse
69 Arcturus or
Rigel, e.g.
70 On the way
71 Journalist Ernie

DOWN

5 Site of rites 10 Strong wind 14 Consumes 15 Surgical dress-ing material 16 __-friendly

Dissimulation Site of rites

19 "Beloved" author Morrison 20 Sound adjuster 21 Relating to the aged 23 Author of

"Foucault's Pendulum" 25 Sultry West 26 Founder of genetics

genetics 30 Guy with a simple weapon

35 Sandwich cookie
36 Competent
38 Addis __, Eth.
39 Kind of stick?
40 Trepidation
42 Composer
Khachaturian
43 Stage a coup.

Uruguay 5 Vital stat

5 Vital statistic
6 Florida key
7 London subway
8 Cote d'_
9 Government in power
10 Formal dance
on Skid Row?
11 Hebrew zither
12 Filmmaker
Reifenstahl
13 Viking redhead
18 Shade source
22 Honor student's

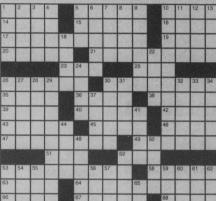

22 Honor student's grades? 24 Dressed 26 Tidy any loose ends

28 Mulled wine 48 Solicit persis-

28 Mulled wine
29 Key personnel?
30 Napped
31 Pod populace
32 "West Side
Story" song
33 Sternward
34 Appellations
37 Lingerie pieces
41 Lucy's love
44 Pocket bread tently 50 Farm implement 52 Priscilla's dear

59 Letters on an invitation 60 Nautical shout 61 Travel charge 62 Fencing sword 65 Part of NATO

PERFORMANCE EXHAUST

TUNE-UP lugs, Fuel Injection Service

// New Filter, Tire Rotation

Fall Specials

919-933-6888

SHOCKS/STRUTS

Buy 3 Get One Free

OIL CHANGE

FALL SPECIAL

Career JumpStart

Get a head start on planning your career and finding an internship by attending Career JumpStart, a program designed especially for FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES. University Career Services will join together with employers to help you plan your next few years in order to maximize your career options. The program will be held on Monday, January 6, 2003 from 9:30 to 3:00 with an optional session on how to choose a major from 3-4:00 p.m. at the Carolina Club (in the Hill Alumni Center). Registration is limited and is on a first come basis. The deadline for registration is Friday, December 6, 2002. Lunch will be provided.

Sessions Include:

Planning Your Career/Choosing a Major Creating a Targeted Resume & Cover Letter Etiquette Lunch & Keynote Speaker

Effective Networking Techniques All About Internships

Intended Major/Career (if known)_ School Phone #___

What Employers Are Looking For

Registration:

Phone # where you can be reached Jan. 2-5:___

School Address

Please return this form and $30.00 (make check payable to University Career Services) in campus mail or in person to: Attention: Shawn Graham, University Career Services, Division of Student Affairs, Nash Hall, CB #5140, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-5140 Registration must be received by Friday, December 6, 2002. This fee is non-refundable. Dress is business casual (jackets/ties not necessary).

Free to the public

Freud. Schnitzler, and Kubrick

A detailed exploration of Sigmund Freud's relationship to his contemporary, Arthur Schnitzler, the Viennese dramatist, novelist and physician whose work inspired Stanley Kubrick's film Eyes Wide Shut (1999).

Saturday, November 16, 2002 2 PM Lucy Daniels Foundation 9001 Weston Parkway, Cary presented by the Lucy Daniels Foundation

The Bauhaus

An exploration of the renowned design and creative group that existed from 1919 to 1939.

Thursday, November 14, 2002 8PM National Humanities Center 7 Alexander Drive, Research Triangle Park presented by National Humanities Center co-sponsored by the Lucy Daniels Foundation

Both lectures by Peter Loewenberg, PhD

Professor Loewenberg is Dean of the Southern California Psychoanalytic Institute, an historian and political psychologist. He is the author of Decoding the Past: The Psychohistorical Approach and Fantasy and Reality in History. Winner of the 1999 Edith Sabshin Award "for excellence in teaching psychoanalytic concepts," he is also recipient of Fulbright, National Endowment for the Humanities, Guggenheim, Rockefeller and Social Science Research Council fellowships.

For preregistration or questions, please call 677-9888, ext. 120.

9/11— Ask Who Did It, But For Heaven's Sake Don't Ask Why

ROBERT FISK

Internationally renowned Middle East correspondent for the

- from Beirut with unparalleled knowledge of the region
- Britain's most decorated foreign

Monday, November 11 • 7:00 p.m.

136 Tate-Turner-Kuralt Building Free and open to the public

Personal development through creativity.