Best Up-and-Coming Artist

Winner: Little Brother

Chapel Hill might be the best local location for rock, but Durham and Raleigh have the hottest hip-hop scenes. And at the top of the totem poll is Little Brother, a three-piece alternative rap outfit that has been getting national attention. Its 2003 release, The Listening, was surrounded by "Best New Artist" buzz at Grammy time, and DJ 9th Wonder's works are featured on Jay-Z's critically acclaimed Black Album. Better catch a live show now before ticket prices rival those of The Roots and De La Soul.

Favorite Campus Music Group

Winner: Loreleis

Honorable Mention: Clef Hangers

It's always close between these two sweet-sounding ensembles, but this year the girls just barely edged out the boys for the coveted Carolina's Finest title. Both, however, feature fresh and beautiful a cappella renditions of modern and classic fan favorites. Their shows are usually cheap, and with the student discount, you have no excuse not to catch them live. Plus, there's nothing better than hearing Bush's "Come Down" belted out by a boy that can actually sing.

Favorite CD in 2003

Winner: Outkast - Speakerboxxx/The Love Below

Is there anyone who didn't name this the best CD of 2003? Andre 3000 and Big Boi, with their sweet and sour split release, cleaned up the Grammys, the critics awards, the magazines' picks and at least 100 other honors, but now that they have clenched the coveted Carolina's Finest honor, they finally can sleep at night.
