

REGROUPING IN AMITE, LOUISIANA

Images from Tuesday at the Tangipahoa Parish social services center

DTH/BRANDON SMITH

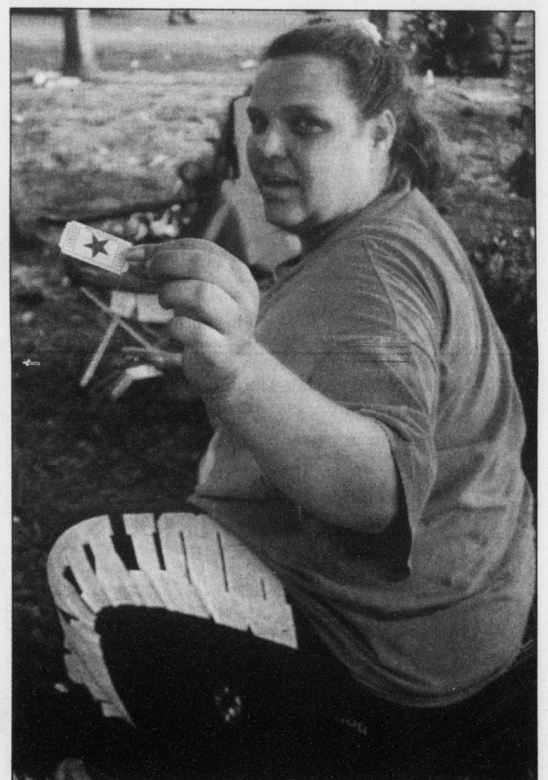

DTH/WHITNEY SHEFTE

Mary Moore (left) found out recently that her husband from New Orleans is alive and staying in Texas. Above: The N. C. National Guard helps erect a tent late Tuesday evening.

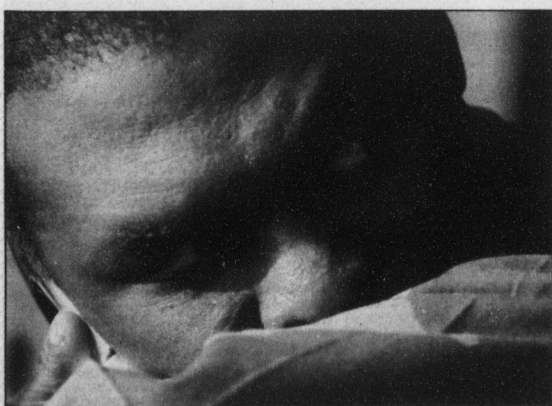

DTH/BRANDON SMITH

DTH/WHITNEY SHEFTE

Kimberly Richardson (above) shows her food ticket voucher while waiting in line at the Tangipahoa parish. Richardson had been waiting since 6 a.m. Monday morning. Left: Spc. Dazzell Matthews works with Spc. Teri Spence on erecting a tent outside the Tangipahoa Parish social services center. Both Matthews and Spence work with the N. C. National Guard.

Right: Shelia Quave rests her head in her arms after waiting for food stamps. Below: Spc. Dazzell Matthews calls his superiors after sighting a lone child by a lake while on a reconnaissance mission in Amite, La. Tuesday afternoon.

DTH/WHITNEY SHEFTE

DTH/BRANDON SMITH