

Officials dedicate Baity Hill

BY KELLY OCHS
SENIOR WRITER

University administrators Monday dedicated Baity Hill, the new student family housing located off Mason Farm Road, as a part of UNC's growing campus.

"We are proud of how this project came together," said Larry Hicks, associate director of Housing and Residential Education. "I think we've given (student families) a pretty decent accommodation for pursuing their studies."

Once construction is completed, Baity Hill will have 398 one- or two-bedroom apartments in a nine-building complex.

Students already have begun to move into the apartments, which are temporarily being used to house students displaced by delays on the Cobb Residence Hall renovation.

Baity Hill is closer than most housing alternatives, and it is safe and affordable, which is exactly what students with families need, said Mike Brady, president of the Graduate and Professional Student Federation.

"In the Chapel Hill area, that can be hard to find," he said, adding that he is a husband and father himself. "It can be very taxing, and I think it's refreshing for them to know that they aren't alone."

Baity Hill was created to bring a sense of community to the students living there, said Margaret Jablonski, vice chancellor for student affairs.

The area will offer a common space for the community in the form of the Baity House, a 1940s home located atop a hill in the center of the complex.

The community features a playground and a sidewalk that runs along Mason Farm Road — something with which many nearby Chapel Hill residents are pleased.

"I think changes were made that made it more compatible with the community," said Diana Steele, who has lived on Mason Farm Road since 1967.

With tension between the town and the University running high as construction on UNC's Master Plan continues, many residents initially were concerned about the apartments.

"At the beginning, it looked as if they were going to destroy a lot of the neighborhood," Steele said.

But underground parking lots and a new sidewalk have helped preserve the appeal of the neighborhood.

"(The University) may be able to pull it off, which will make the people down here feel closer," Steele said.

Steele, who owns a day care center near the new apartments, said she is looking forward to meeting her new neighbors.

"I think they're wonderful. Families are my bread and butter."

Chancellor James Moeser said at the dedication that the new student family housing is a reflection of how the town and the University can come together.

He said the new community will offer an affordable place for students to live while they focus on their education. "What we are doing here is literally planting seeds."

Contact the University Editor at udesk@unc.edu.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

■ The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History will host a human rights brown bag lunch at noon today in the Hitchcock Multipurpose Room in the center.

Come and hear from Afro-Peruvian human rights advocates Monica Carillo and Milagritos de la Rosa. To reserve a lunch, call 962-9001.

■ There will be an introductory meeting for UNC's chapter of the Society of Human Resource Management from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. today in Hanes Hall 239B. The chairman of the Student Chapter committee of the Triangle Society of Human Resource Management, Phil Bues, will speak at the event.

■ Overeaters Anonymous will hold a meeting at 6 p.m. today at Evergreen United Methodist Church. The church is located on U.S. 15-501, one-quarter mile south of Cole Park Plaza. There are no dues or fees or any religious affiliation. For more information, call 929-5963.

■ Zeta Phi Beta sorority Inc. and Psi Sigma Phi multicultural fraternity Inc. will host, in collaboration with other campus groups, a public forum on racial profiling at 6:30 p.m. today in Manning 209. Featured panelists will include Jillian Bades, a former columnist for The Daily Tar Heel.

■ The Johnston Center for Undergraduate Excellence will host a screening for "Stolen Childhoods," a documentary feature film, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. today. Narrated by Meryl Streep, the film focuses on the 246 million child laborers in the world today and includes interviews with child slaves. Admission is free.

■ The Carrboro Board of Aldermen will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at Town Hall. The board will discuss conservation zoning in the Upper Bolin Creek Watershed, among other issues.

■ The Orange County Board of Commissioners will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Southern Human Services Center. The board will discuss adopting a motor vehicle property tax refund referendum and budget amendments, among other issues.

■ British tenor Ian Bostridge will perform at 8 p.m. today at Memorial Hall. He will be joined by Julius Drake on piano. Call 843-3333 for more information.

To make a calendar submission, visit www.dailytarheel.com for a list of submission policies and contacts. Events must be sent in by noon the preceding publication date.

The Daily Tar Heel

P.O. Box 3257, Chapel Hill, NC 27515
Ryan C. Tuck, Editor, 962-4086
Advertising & Business, 962-1163
News, Features, Sports, 962-0245

One copy per person; additional copies may be purchased at The Daily Tar Heel for $25 each.

© 2005 DTH Publishing Corp.
All rights reserved.

POLICE LOG

■ Rico Lashawn Moses, 29, of 206 Carver St., was arrested at 10:58 p.m. Saturday on charges of possession of drug paraphernalia, Chapel Hill police reports state.

Moses was arrested at a stairwell behind The Sandbar, 136 E. Rosemary St., after it was discovered by officers that he had a glass pipe, according to police reports. The suspect admitted to smoking crack-cocaine earlier that evening, reports state.

Moses was cited and released on written promise to appear in District Criminal Court on Nov. 21.

■ Rayfort Douglas Nickerson, 38, of 1041 Highway 54 West, was arrested at 10:50 a.m. Saturday on charges of impaired driving while holding a suspended license and speeding, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The suspect was stopped because he was speeding and changing lanes in heavy traffic, police reports state. Nickerson's blood alcohol content registered .18, according to reports.

Officers seized Nickerson's car, reports state. He is scheduled to appear in District Criminal Court on Oct. 26.

■ A UNC student was arrested early Saturday morning on charges of impaired driving and violation of a provisional license, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Lawrence Wesley Chavis III, 20, of 125 North St., was arrested at 3:05 a.m. after officers stopped him for swerving and jerking on the road, reports state. Chavis' blood alcohol level registered .08 on the Intoxilyzer 500, according to reports.

He is scheduled to appear in District Criminal Court on Oct. 25.

So what happens when your organization is no longer officially recognized at Carolina?

- You lose your room and equipment reservations made through the Union.
- You lose your homepage on the University's web space.
- You lose your listserv and group email accounts.
- You lose your funding from Student Congress.
- You lose your Union office/storage space.
- You lose your SAFO account.
- You lose. Period.

'05-'06 official University recognition agreement forms for student co-curricular organizations are available in the StORC (Union 2501). As well as at Greek Affairs, Union events planning, Campus Recreation (sports club office), the Law School and the Medical School (Family Medicine).

For continuous recognition, the 2005-2006 official University recognition agreement process must be completed by 5:00pm, Friday, September 23, 2005 at the StORC (Union 2501) Questions? Concerns? activities organizations@unc.edu

See participating employers at careers.unc.edu/fairs/studentsearch.html

"Good things come to those who bait... employers."

Opportunities for All Majors

Diversity Career Fair

63 Employers
Wed, Sept 21st, 6-9 pm
Great Hall, Student Union

Carolina Career Fair

107 Employers
Thu, Sept 22nd, 1-5 pm
Dean Smith Center

Attend these exciting events to learn about jobs, internships, networking, contacts, and careers!
Professional Dress for Senior/Grad Students.
Business Casual for Underclass Students.

University Career Services
The Wendy P. & Dean E. Painter, Jr. Career Center
Division of Student Affairs
962-6507
219 Hanes Hall
ucs@unc.edu
<http://careers.unc.edu>

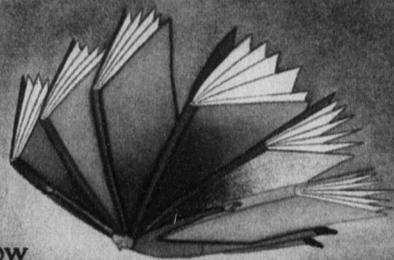

WANT TO WORK FOR THE BEST

COLLEGE ADVERTISING STAFF IN THE NATION?

It's a fun & flexible job that allows you to learn about the way advertising is bought, sold & produced by the largest circulating paper in Orange County. Not only will you be working for one of the best college dailies in the nation, you will be gaining valuable sales skills that will benefit you no matter what career path you may take. We are a hard-working, motivated team that emphasizes customer service. Stop by Suite 2409 in the Student Union to pick up an application. Due October 7th.

University Teaching Awards

Remember all those times you've wanted to let your teachers know how you feel about them?

NOW YOU CAN!

Nominate the best teacher you've had at UNC for a University Teaching Award and make your opinion count!

Here's some comments from last year's nominations:

- "I feel I would be at a major loss if I hadn't had that class. It was mind opening."
- "Once in a while she'll say something that makes complete sense of your existence."
- "His class challenged me to do things and think in ways that I never thought myself capable of."
- "The best professor I have had at UNC."

Have you had that special teacher who has had an influence on your career? If you have then now is the time to nominate that teacher for a University Teaching Award:

<http://www.unc.edu/provost/teachawards/indexnew.html>

Deadline for nominations: Saturday, October 1, 2005