

Seniors plug service work

BY NICOLE NORFLEET
STAFF WRITER

The Class of 2006 will host a series of different service activities this week to try to get seniors more involved in the community.

"If you haven't been involved these four years this is your chance to jump in and do something good with your time," said Derick Hamilton, chairman of the service committee for the senior class.

All this week the senior class will give seniors and other concerned students a chance to serve their community.

The Senior Class Week of Service will include several events, such as a Christmas shoebox drive Wednesday.

Activities kicked off Sunday with a group of seniors volunteering to help in the Special Olympics North Carolina Fall Games in Winston-Salem.

This year all proceeds raised will go to buying books for the children in the Pediatric and Adolescent HIV Clinic at UNC Hospitals.

There also will be a Penny War between the seniors and the underclassmen to raise funds for the cause. Throughout the entire week, members of the senior class will be collecting change from underclassmen and seniors.

Because the beneficiary is so close to home, Hamilton said he hopes there will be active participation.

"It's something here in Chapel Hill," he said.

"It's really personal, and it's almost more likely that people would give money."

The Service Awareness Fair from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. today in Polk Place is meant to introduce seniors to the different service organizations on campus.

The senior class — along with campus organizations, such as Dance Marathon, SPROUT, Relay for Life, Sangam, Carolina Cancer Initiative and Life Takes Guts — will be able to provide students with information about how they can volunteer their time.

"It is very important to let the seniors know the different routes they can take to get involved," said Bobby Whisnant, senior class president.

"Our organization has to do with not only social events but also giving back to the community."

Bringing together the different organizations on campus is important because seniors usually do not venture to join new organizations in their last year at UNC, he said.

"One of the overall objectives is to bring the senior class together through service because you have been here three years so you have your friends and your organizations," Whisnant said.

Kristen Smith, chairwoman of the senior class communication/publicity committee, said she believes in the power of service to bring students together.

"Service is unifying because everyone is coming in for a joint cause," she said.

Senior class philanthropy will not end this week. Some service projects planned in the near future are aiding Habitat for Humanity on Nov. 19 and the Ronald McDonald House on Dec. 3.

"I think that it is really important for seniors because a lot of us are going out in the real world," Smith said.

"It helps you get involved in your community and get out of the UNC bubble."

Contact the University Editor at udesk@unc.edu.

Show strings viewers along an African safari

BY MARTA OSTROWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Wild stunts, exuberant props and richly colored costumes are merely tips of the iceberg when describing "Tall Horse."

The Saturday night performance at Memorial Hall took viewers on a exhilarating ride not only through several continents, but also through several languages.

The production is a collaboration between the Handspring Puppet Company of South Africa and Mali's Sogolon Puppet Troupe.

The play, which is spoken in English and African dialects, details the adventure of a giraffe named Sogo Jan, who travelled from Sudan to France.

Although the acting was impeccable, even more amazing were the puppets used throughout the show.

Forget Kermit the Frog or Miss Piggy because these puppets stood more than 15 feet tall and were draped with the most elaborate costumes one could imagine.

Notably, the giant giraffe was the largest spectacle. Consisting of two actors on stilts, covered with a giraffe print tarp, the puppet was an overwhelming scene.

All of the puppets were so well personalized by each puppeteer that it was easy to mistake the animals for actual actors.

With the fast-paced, loud and exciting nature of the play, there was no space for a dull moment.

Pounding music, vivacious acting and tantalizing language kept the audience on its toes from the beginning of the voyage to the end.

Viewers often regard subtitles as an inconvenience and a nuisance. But in this case, the exotic languages added such a profound effect that viewers didn't mind glancing at a translation screen.

Although the plot was a bit difficult to follow at times, the sheer magnitude of every detail in the play overpowered this confusion.

Spouts of witty humor and sexual innuendos also were sporadically placed, giving the performance a lively flare.

This is not to mention the fast-paced gymnastics and daring leaps across the stage, made by both the puppets and the puppeteers which were nothing short of a riot.

THEATER REVIEW

TALL HORSE
HANDSPRING PUPPET
COMPANY OF SOUTH AFRICA
AND SOGOLON PUPPET
TROUPE OF MALI
SATURDAY

★★★★

The history behind "Tall Horse" is the glorification of one of Africa's most beloved and enigmatic animals, the giraffe.

It was once an animal only known in parts of Africa until the Pasha of Egypt, Mehemet Ali, sent a giraffe to the French King, Charles X, in 1827.

It was said the French became so inspired by the animal that they began to duplicate everything in giraffe print from couture right down to the Eiffel Tower itself. This period of history became an inspiration for the puppet show.

To say the standing ovation at the end was any indication of the quality of the performance is simply an understatement.

Contact the A&E Editor at artsdesk@unc.edu.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

■ Sign up to dance in the 8th Annual UNC Dance Marathon all this week at www.uncmarathon.org. No dance experience is necessary — just stand for 24 hours Feb. 24 and Feb. 25 in support of the N.C. Children's Hospital. Sign-ups end at 5 p.m. Friday.

■ Jane Comfort and Company will perform at 8 p.m. Friday in Memorial Hall. Students must bring their One Cards to the Memorial Hall Box Office between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday to Friday to receive a discounted price of $10.

■ There will be a Service Awareness Fair from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. today in Polk Place as part of the Senior Class Week of Service. The senior class — along with campus organizations such as Dance Marathon, SPROUT, Relay for Life, Sangam, Carolina Cancer Initiative and Life Takes Guts — will help students learn how they can volunteer their time.

■ Carolina Week will hold its

Monday broadcast at 5 p.m. on channels 2, 25 and Time Warner 24. Top stories include a look into why North Carolinians are hungrier than most, how one Malawi parliament member overcame his disability and an in-depth review of Saturday's Homecoming game.

■ "Agnus Dei," an original play presented by the Carolina Hispanic Association, will take place at 7 p.m. today and Tuesday in the Union Auditorium.

■ The Latin American Film and Video Festival will be held at 7 p.m. today at Hanes Art Center. The free event is scheduled to last for approximately two hours. Stephen Berg, a guest presenter, will discuss Brazilian film and literature.

■ The Orange County Board of Education will meet at 7 p.m. today in the central office boardroom in Hillsborough. School board members will be discussing a bus idling policy among other things.

■ Overeaters Anonymous will hold a meeting from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. today at 300 E. Rosemary St. in the Augsburg Room. Call 383-0937 for more information.

■ The Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. today in Gardner 105 to discuss Election Day and volunteer opportunities. Free pizza will be provided.

■ Students of the World, a special project of the Campus Y, will hold an interest meeting at 8:30 p.m. today in Murphey Hall (room number posted at entrances). The group creates documentary materials to raise awareness of global issues. For more information, contact Madeline Walter at mwalter@email.unc.edu.

To make a calendar submission, visit <http://www.dailytarheel.com> for a list of submission policies and contacts. Events must be sent in by noon the preceding publication date.

POLICE LOG

■ A Durham man, 40, was arrested Saturday on charges of communicating threats and being drunk and disruptive, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

James Alfred Daye, also known as Double Owl, Jad and Big Al, was arrested at 2:16 p.m. at 100 W. Franklin St. after approaching an officer who was attempting to direct a funeral procession, reports state.

Daye was transported to Orange County Jail and released on a secured $250 bond pending a Jan. 23, 2006 appearance in district criminal court.

■ Chapel Hill police conducted two narcotics searches on vehicles during the weekend, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

A car parked on Mitchell Lane was searched at 12:04 a.m. Saturday, reports state.

A car parked near the intersection of Martin Luther King Jr.

Boulevard and Hillsborough Street was searched at 1:04 a.m. Sunday, according to reports.

■ A medical office was searched after officers responded to an alarm, Chapel Hill police reports state.

Officers used narcotics dogs to search the office of Avalon Medical Group, 1001 S. Hamilton Road, after the front door was found not secure, according to reports.

■ A student from Yonkers, N.Y., was served with a warrant for assault inflicting bodily injury, Chapel Hill police reports state.

Juan Albert Rivera, 27, drove to Chapel Hill from New York to be served with the felony warrant, according to reports.

■ A larceny was reported at Avalon Nightclub early Sunday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

A man at the club was found to be in possession of a possibly stolen purse, valued at $10, at 12:20 a.m., reports state.

■ A man reported Thursday that someone stole his parking permit from his unlocked car in the S-11 parking lot by the Smith Center, according to University police reports.

The permit, valued at $301.82, was taken from the car between 12:30 p.m. and 2:52 p.m., reports state.

The Daily Tar Heel

P.O. Box 3257, Chapel Hill, NC 27515
Ryan C. Tuck, Editor, 962-4086
Advertising & Business, 962-1163
News, Features, Sports, 962-0245

One copy per person; additional copies may be purchased at The Daily Tar Heel for $2.25 each.

© 2005 DTH Publishing Corp.
All rights reserved

Healthy Campus 2010 The Center for Healthy Student Behaviors and Carolina Fitness

Keeping it Safe at Carolina

Staying safe while at UNC is a team effort, the Department of Public Safety encourages you to take an active part by following the ABC's of college safety:

- Get Acquainted- Know the other students on your floor and suite (or neighbors in you apartment building or street) as soon as possible. Be mindful of visitors to your room or home. Don't take in overnight guest you do not know.
- At night walk only in well lit areas of campus. Walk with a friend or take the P2P. To arrange a ride for areas not covered by the pre-determined route call 962-7867. Don't take short cuts through un-lit wooded or fenced in areas. If you notice light fixtures that don't work on campus report these to housing or the police department.
- Lock your door- whenever you leave your room or home, regardless of the length of time. It only takes a few seconds for someone to enter and steal your valuables. Lock your room or apartment when you are asleep.
- Do not allow entry into your building and don't prop open doors. Report any suspicious persons to your residence hall advisors and/or campus police. Report suspicious activity off campus to the local police, call 911.
- Do not loan your keys or onecard to anyone for access. Report lost /stolen cards or keys to campus police, the housing office, or local police immediately.
- Never prop locked or latched doors. If you find one open, un-prop it. Report all door locks and windows in need of repair to residence hall staff or maintenance personnel.
- Ask for identification from repairmen and maintenance wanting to enter your room or home. Do not allow door-to-door salesmen in your room.
- Harassing phone calls, emails, or stalking should be reported to police immediately.
- Alcohol- if you are underage not only is it against University policy, but it is also illegal. Alcohol clouds the judgment and in excess can be deadly.

For more information about safety on campus go to:
<http://www.dps.unc.edu/dps/>

The Center for Healthy Student Behaviors
966-6586 or 962-9355
<http://shs.unc.edu/chsb>
Carolina Fitness
962-4SRC or 962-RHRC
<http://carolinafitness.unc.edu>

This column was made possible by a grant from:
The Carolina Parent's Council

Clip and save

The Wendy P. &
Dean E. Painter Jr.
Career Center

University Career Services' CAREER CORNER For the week of Nov. 7-11

219 Hanes Hall
919-962-6507
ucs@unc.edu

WALK-IN HOURS: Answers to career questions and resume reviews—Mon-Fri, 10am- 3pm

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

Submit resumes between Nov. 7- Nov. 13
for these employers interviewing Dec. 5-Dec. 9
Log in at <http://careers.unc.edu> and go to
On-Campus Interview Opportunities
(Some employers may alter their submission deadlines)

Aetna, Inc.: Actuarial Analyst, Actuarial Intern

UCS Presentations

Genworth Financial: 11/7/2005, 7:00 PM-8:00 PM, Carolina Inn
Abercrombie & Fitch: 11/8/2005, 6:30 PM-7:30 PM, 328 Phillips Hall
US Census Bureau: 11/8/2005, 5:00 PM-6:00 PM, 239B Hanes Hall
ALDI Foods: 11/9/2005, 6:00 PM-9:00 PM, Carolina Inn
Joslyn Clark Controls: 11/9/2005, 6:30 PM, 328 Phillips Hall
The Fund For Public Interest Research: 11/9/2005, 6:30 PM-7:30 PM, 105 Gardner Hall
New York University Tisch School of the Arts: 11/10/2005, 2:00 PM-3:00 PM, 239B Hanes Hall
MIT Dept. of Urban Studies and Planning: 11/10/2005, 8:00 PM-9:00 PM, 328 Phillips Hall
Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.: 11/10/2005, 7:00 PM, 105 Gardner Hall
Bellsouth: 11/10/2005, 6:30 PM-7:30 PM, 104 Murphey Hall

UCS SPECIAL PROGRAMS

WRITING RESUMES & JOB SEARCH CORRESPONDENCE: Learn how to construct a professional resume and write cover letters and other business correspondence. 11/07/2005, 4:00 PM, 239 B Hanes Hall
USING UCS FOR YOUR SENIOR JOB SEARCH: (Including how to schedule an on campus interview). Learn how UCS can assist you in your job search, including how to search for job leads, search alumni and employer databases, and more. 11/08/2005, 3:30 PM, 239 B Hanes Hall
SEARCHING FOR JOBS AND INTERNSHIPS IN THE ARTS: Learn how to turn your creative talents and interests into a career. 11/09/2005, 4:00 PM, 239 B Hanes Hall

SAVE THE DATE!

PANELS

Hear professionals discuss opportunities in these career areas. Business casual attire recommended.
All Career Panels will be held in 239B Hanes Hall.
Careers in Jewish Service: Nov. 3, 3:00 PM

NETWORKING NIGHTS

Meet with local working professionals in an informal environment to make contacts and learn about careers. Refreshments will be served. Business casual attire recommended.
RSVP online at <http://careers.unc.edu/events/register.html> indicating the program you will attend.
International Careers: Nov. 8, Great Hall, 5:30 PM-7:00 PM

FAIRS

Professional attire recommended

PhD Career Fair: Nov. 16, Friday Center, 1:00 PM-4:30 PM

Reminder: There is a Resource Room available for your use at University Career Services. We have information to help you with your career search! We are located on the second floor of Hanes Hall. Come check us out!

3 Clicks to Register

1: <http://careers.unc.edu> 2: "Create an Account"
3: Enter PID# and complete profile

Programs open to UNC students with the exception of Law, MBA, MAC, Medical and Dental students, who are served by separate career offices.

Clip and save

Clip and save