A case of man's, and cat's, best friend

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

In the ongoing debate between cat and dog lovers, it appears canines really are man's best friend. A Wisconsin dog saved his disabled owner's life after her cat started a fire, but later died trying to save the cat. Jamie Hanson said her specially trained dog, Jesse, brought her both the phone and her artificial leg after her cat knocked a candle onto artificial plants in her home.

Hanson said it was too hot to put on her prosthetic leg, but that the dog came to her aid. She said Jesse heard the cat inside and went back into the house to save it. Both pets died in the fire.

NOTED. The winners of the "fuse Fangoria Chainsaw Awards" were announced Sunday night in a ceremony held in Los Angeles.

The awards, which will be broadcast for the first time Sunday on the fuse TV channel, honor the best in horror-based cinema, music and TV. "The Devil's Rejects" won the award for Killer Movie, while Emmanuelle Vaugier received the "Most Thrilling Killing" award for "SAW II."

QUOTED. "If people decide that a Kiss fragrance line makes sense, who's to argue with America?"

— Kiss bass player Gene Simmons on his new cosmetic fragrance line that he promoted at Fort Bragg on Monday.

Those who bought Kiss Him cologne or Kiss Her perfume for $39 also got an autograph or photo taken with Simmons.

A Southern Season isn't the only store at University Mall dedicated to good taste.

jewelry-fashion-home-gifts

From a great gift or a special accent for your home to a new hairstyle or a fashionable pair of glasses, University Mall is here to suit your taste, offering one-of-a-kind shops you won't find elsewhere in the area. You've already shopped the big national chain stores. Now it's time to try locally owned boutiques and specialty stores providing merchandise and a level of service you won't find at traditional malls. And the fact you can also shop A Southern Season? Well, that's just icing on the cake. And mighty tasty, too.
