Student suspended for urine incident

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

An eighth-grader from Muncie, Ind., is facing expulsion after admitting he put urine in a teacher's coffee pot, officials said. The Wilson Middle School teacher noticed that the coffee had an unusual odor Friday and reported it to the principal, Muncie Community Schools officials said. A student who overheard classmates discussing it also reported the incident to officials.

Urine was found in the locker of the eighth-grade boy, who admitted to putting some in the coffee, authorities said.

The eighth-grader has been suspended pending a recommendation for expulsion, said Assistant Superintendent Steve Edwards.

"This type of student behavior will not be tolerated," Wilson principal DiLynn Phelps and Superintendent Marlin B. Creasy wrote in a letter to parents.

"No student will be permitted to deliberately attempt to cause bodily harm to any other student, teacher or staff member."

NOTED. A mother and her boyfriend were sentenced to three years probation on Monday for having intercourse in front of the woman's 9-year-old daughter to teach the girl about sex.

Rebecca Arnold of Rhode Island, and her boyfriend, David Prata, were sentenced to probation and a three-year suspended sentence after they pleaded no contest to a felony child neglect charge.

QUOTED. "I'm so proud of the little stinker."

— Paula Tuck, of Utah, talking about her daughter, Katharine, 13, who out-ranked six other children to win $2,500 in the 32nd annual National Odor-Eaters Rotten Sneaker Contest.

She stank up the joint with a pair of well-worn 1 1/2-year-old Nikes so noxious they had the judges wincing.

HALL OF FAME

DTH/EDYTHE MCNAMEE

Chancellor Emeritus Paul Hardin (left), Hardin's wife, Barbara Russell Hardin, and Chancellor James Moeser cut a ribbon to dedicate Hardin Residence Hall (formerly known as Morrison South) on Tuesday afternoon. Hardin served as the University's chancellor from 1988-1995.

CEI Research Seminar Series Presents

"Social Contract, Rule of Law and Entrepreneurship"

Speaker:
David Schmidt, Ph.D.
Kendrick Professor of Philosophy and joint Professor of Economics
University of Arizona

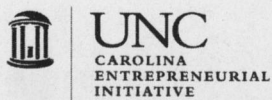

Monday, March 26
12-1:30 p.m., Hamilton Hall, Room 271

Schmidt's seminar will focus on research under development for a new book on the history of liberty, part of Blackwell's Brief History series that he is writing with colleague Jason Brennan.

The projected work is expected to include chapters on "pre-history," the key events that form some of the background of modern philosophy; the evolution of liberty; the rule of law and consent of the governed; economic freedom; civil rights, religious freedom and equality before the law; and psychological freedom.

Dr. David Schmidt focuses his teaching and research on decision theory, environmental ethics and moral theory. He directs the Program in Philosophy of Freedom at the University of Arizona. The most recent edition of the Philosophical Gourmet ranked Arizona tied for #1 in the world (along with Harvard and Oxford universities) in political philosophy. Schmidt is author of Rational Choice and Moral Agency (Princeton, 1995) and Elements of Justice (Cambridge, 2006).
