DAILY DOSE

Dentist: Massages okay

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

A dentist accused of fondling the breasts of 27 female patients is arguing that chest massages are an appropriate procedure in an effort to save his license. His lawyer says dental journals discuss the need to massage the pectoral muscles to treat a common jaw problem.

Police say the dentist spoke about routinely massaging patients' chests to treat temporomandibular joint disorder, which causes neck and head pain.

NOTED. A New York woman said a drunken man attacked her inflatable Halloween lawn display of three ghosts and a giant pumpkin and then apparently smashed his head through her window.

The woman said she heard hollering and swearing outside before seeing the enraged man grappling with the plastic vegetable.

QUOTED. "I've fished for 40 years. I've never seen one that big."

— Fisherman Adlee Bruner, who fought with an 11-foot-long Mako shark for more than an hour during the Destin (Fla.) Fishing Rodeo.

The shark tipped the scales at 844.4 pounds. After gutting, it weighed a record-breaking 638 pounds.

POLICE LOG

■ Trina Shah, 35, was arrested on eight felony charges of forgery, four charges of fraud and two charges of possession of stolen goods, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Shah, of 605 Nunn St., was arrested at 6:17 p.m. Friday.

Shah was secured in Orange County Jail in lieu of $75,000 bail, reports state.

She was arrested at 828 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., and was scheduled to appear Monday in court, according to reports.

■ Jessica Foust, 20, of 201 Howell St., was arrested at 4:23 a.m. Sunday on charges of assaulting a government official, communicating threats and resisting arrest, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Reports state the arrest was made at 401 Howell St.

An incident report for the arrest states that Foust was trespassing at a residence when she was arrested on warrants.

According to reports, Foust then assaulted a government official.

According to incident reports, there were two victims, including police officer Jason Belcher.

The reports state there were no injuries.

According to reports, Foust is scheduled to appear Nov. 19 in District Criminal Court in Hillsborough.

■ Police responded to incidents of assault with a deadly weapon and attempted robbery at 2:45 a.m. Sunday, according to Chapel Hill Police reports.
