Pig fetuses impaled on cars as prank

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Several members of an Iowa high school's swim team were suspended after they impaled fetal pigs on 15 car antennas and smeared crawfish on hoods and windshields in a rival school's parking lot.

Roosevelt High School swim coach Steve Teter said members of his team carried out the pig caper in retaliation for Dowling Catholic High School swimmers lobbing snowballs at them at an earlier swim meet.

"You could smell the formaldehyde from a block away," Dowling Assistant Principal Ron Meyers said.

The pigs likely were stolen from a biology lab, but pig fetuses aren't labeled at the school and no inventory is kept, so science teachers "can't be sure" of their origin.

NOTED. An obstetrician saved his family of seven from a fire destroying their home, delivered a baby while the house was still aflame and then got busted for building violations.

The 37-year-old awoke around 3 a.m. to a smoke detector. He got his family to safety and then was paged to deliver an infant about 6 a.m. Inspectors called to the fire later cited the doctor for a discrepancy in plumbing plans.

QUOTED. "The F-word isn't what it used to be."

— Pennsylvania attorney Keith Williams, who argued against the vulgarity of the expletive after his client had been charged with disorderly conduct for writing the word on the memo line of a check he used to pay a $5 parking ticket.

The man, 45-year-old David Binner, offered a written apology, and the charges were dropped.

POLICE LOG

■ Someone made off with about $109 worth of Budweiser 12-packs from a grocery store by "rolling it out of the business in a cart at a high rate of speed," according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The theft took place at 10:15 p.m. Saturday at the Harris Teeter at 1800 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., reports state.

■ Gordon Joseph Keil, 39, of Hillsborough, was arrested at 5 a.m. Saturday at 1312 Fordham Blvd. on more than 120 felony drug charges, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Keil was arrested on one count each of maintaining a home for drug use, possession with intent to sell or distribute marijuana, possession of cocaine, possession of a schedule IV controlled substance and possession of marijuana, all felonies, reports state.

He was charged with 118 felony counts of possession with intent to sell or distribute a schedule IV controlled substance and two misdemeanors for possession of drug paraphernalia, according to reports.

Keil had 88 grams of marijuana, 8 grams of non-"crack" cocaine, 118 doses of one depressant and one dose of another depressant, reports state.

Keil is being held in Orange County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond is set to appear in District Court in Hillsborough today, reports state.

■ Two people were arrested after Chapel Hill police executed a search warrant at 101B Louis Armstrong Court at 5 a.m. Friday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Isaac Chezare Yarborough, 23, of Asheboro, is in Orange County Jail in lieu of $600,000 bond, according to reports.

Yarborough is a felony fugitive from Tennessee, which accounts for $500,000 of the bond, according to reports.

The remaining $100,000 stems from felony charges of maintaining a dwelling for drug use, possession of a schedule I controlled substance, manufacturing a schedule I controlled substance, possession with intent to sell or distribute a schedule I controlled substance and possession with intent to sell or distribute marijuana and misdemeanor charges for marijuana and paraphernalia possession, reports state.

Yarborough was found with 22 doses of Ecstasy and 23.1 grams of marijuana and is set to appear today in court of first appearance in Hillsborough, along with Meleasha Nicole Holt, 24, who is charged with maintaining a house for drug use and was released on $1,500 unsecured bail, reports state.

Expert tips: Know your buses

From attempting to find a place to stay after a night out on Franklin Street to trying to get to Southpoint, it's important to know the transportation options on campus. Although it's easy to become bogged down by the various bussing options around Chapel Hill, to know where to go to find the routes can be a helpful tool.

■ Ride Safe: The Safe Ride operates from 11 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It has four routes, the T, J, V and G. Students can go to www.townofchapelhill.org and click on "Bus Routes" to find which one to catch.

■ Use noncampus buses: For $2 a ride, Triangle Transit Authority buses are available during the week every hour and a half at various bus stops on campus. Check out ridetta.org to find out where to catch a ride.

■ Ride to the mall: TTA buses have a loop that takes students from campus to Southpoint mall during the week.

■ Take the P2P: The point-to-point buses operate seven days a week from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. Buses arrive at stops every 15 minutes, but students can also dial 962-PTOP and request a ride or find out when the next bus will arrive at any given stop.

■ Take the next bus: Students can use nextbus.com, which operates with Chapel Hill Transit. It has live updates of when the buses will arrive as well as a live map of all Chapel Hill Transit routes.
