

Records toppled in UNC rout of Wolfpack

UNC coach declines post-game treats

BY GRAY CALDWELL

Normally before games, North Carolina coach Roy Williams tells his players he just wants to win and eat.

Saturday before the N.C. State game, he did things a little differently. (Coach Williams) said that he wanted to beat State so bad that he would rather beat them than eat," Tar Heel junior forward Marcus Ginyard said.

So while the rest of the team set up food deliveries for after the game, Williams declined any post-game delicacies.

"I guess he doesn't like steak too much," UNC forward Deon Thompson said.

A plethora of records

While much of the focus Saturday went to UNC forwards Thompson and Danny Green setting new career bests — Thompson's 16 points and Green's 14 rebounds — several other Tar Heels had record days of their own.

UNC point guard Ty Lawson hit a career-best four 3-pointers en route to his 16 points.

After going 7-for-8 from the free throw line Saturday, North Carolina forward Tyler Hansbrough passed four ACC legends in career free throws made — UNC's Phil Ford (560) and Sam Perkins (561) and Duke's Art Heyman and Grant Hill (both at 558). Hansbrough has now made 564 free throws out of 736 attempts, tied for 14th place in ACC history with Duke's Jim Spanarkel.

Another free throw-related record was set on Saturday by UNC guard Wayne Ellington, as well.

Ellington is now the No. 1 free throw shooter in Tar Heel history in terms of percentage. He became eligible after he made his hundredth career free throw, during Saturday's game against the Wolfpack. After going 4-for-4 against N.C. State, he is now 101-for-116 in his career, good for 87.2 percent. Shammond Williams sits at second with a percentage of 84.9.

North Carolina is now 17-0 for the first time since the 1997-98 season. That year, the Tar Heels lost the next game to Maryland in overtime. UNC's next test this year is Georgia Tech at Atlanta on Wednesday.

Thomas solid against 'Pack

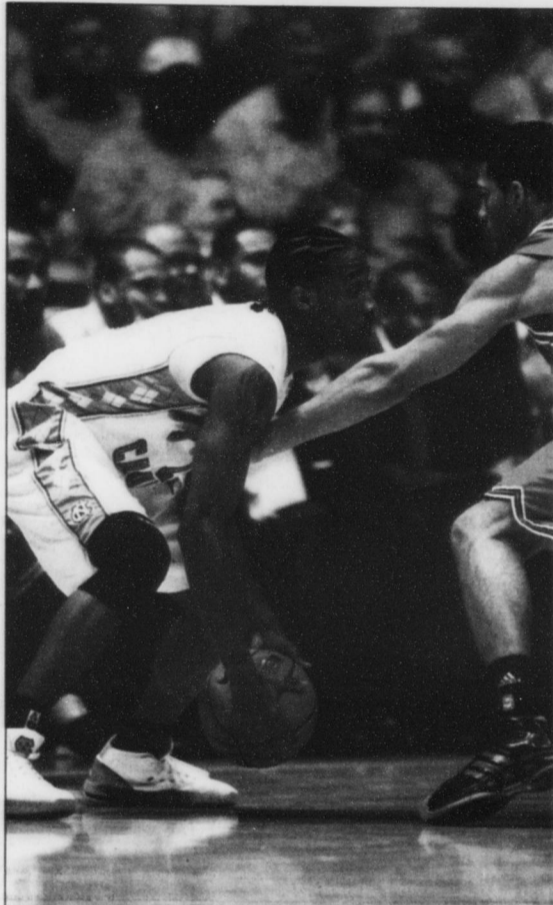

UNC senior point guard Quentin Thomas has taken some heat for turnovers and questionable decision making in the past. But when Lawson came out of the game Saturday with a right ankle sprain, Thomas stepped up his game. Thomas played 13 minutes and had four points, four assists and most importantly, zero turnovers. Ellington said Thomas' play is an asset to the team. "It was great for Q to succeed," Ellington said. "For Q to come off the bench and give us that spark, just like Danny Green. ... Just to give us that spark offensively and defensively."
