Nutrition Research Study

The Nutrition Department at UNC-Chapel Hill is enrolling participants for a study to examine the effects of estrogen and certain gene variations on human choline requirements.

Choline is an essential nutrient and is found in many foods. We recently found that the human choline requirement differs from person to person and is influenced by estrogen and common gene variations. The purpose of this study is to improve our understanding of how these factors change a person's need for choline.

person's need for choline.

We are looking for healthy women, with a BMI range of 18-34, who are 18-80 years of age, with no liver problems, no history of heart disease or blood clots, and no history of breast or endometrial cancer.

Post-menopausal women will be asked to take either Premarin (a form of estrogen replacement therapy) or a placebo. Pre-menopausal women will not take any medication. All participants will ingest diets that are low in the nutrient choline.

Participants who are eligible must only eat food provided by the General Clinical Research Center (GGCR). They must also live and stay at the GGRC in UNF Hospital for up to 62 days and will receive their meals there during this time. The entire study will last up to 9 weeks. Participants will NOT be able to attend school or go to work during their participation in this study.

Participants will receive up to $3500 for completing the study.

For more information, please call (919) 408-3320 x-32 or send an email to: Adult_Choline_Study@unc.edu

CLINICAL RESEARCH COORDINATOR

Do you want to make a difference in the health of women?

Faculty at the UNC Schools of Medicine and Pharmacy are looking for an NC licensed nurse practitioner or physician's assistant to complement their dynamic Women's Health and Clinical Pharmacology Research Program in HIV/AIDS. As someone who has an attention to detail and is team-oriented, you will participate in the execution and management of our Phase I through Phase IV clinical trials focused on the PREVENTION AND TREATMENT OF HIV INFECTION IN WOMEN. Primary responsibility is in the clinical care and management of HIV-positive and HIV-negative trial participants. Additional responsibilities include developing recruitment strategies, managing the regulatory component of the trials, completing case report forms, and writing manuscripts and grants. Our research program is at the forefront of the field, so you will have the opportunity to participate in the presentation of scientific data at key research meetings. If you have the desire to be part of a fast paced, challenging environment that is working to PREVENT AND TREAT HIV-INFECTION IN WOMEN and you possess advanced organizational and data collection skills, and have strong interpersonal skills, we look forward to hearing from you! Fluency in Spanish is highly desirable but not required.
