Ex-pro wrestler in Chapel Hill scuffle

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Former professional wrestler Ric Flair, 59, was left bruised and bloody after a scuffle with his daughter's 22-year-old boyfriend, police told The (Raleigh) News & Observer on Tuesday.

Chapel Hill police arrived at Flair's daughter's apartment complex after receiving a call from a neighbor reporting the disturbance. They found Flair on a bed in the back room and the boyfriend in another part of the apartment. The police reported that the two men, as well as Flair's daughter, 22-year-old Ashley Elizabeth Fliehr, would not cooperate with the officers.

Fliehr kicked an officer, resulting in charges of assault and resisting arrest. But neither Flair nor the boyfriend were charged.

NOTED. Google Maps offers satellite and street-level views of locations around the world, including landmarks like the pyramids of Egypt and the Great Wall of China, as well as sketchier places like your crush's front porch.

But there are 51 places you aren't allowed to see on Google Earth — including the White House and Dick Cheney's house — because of government restrictions or privacy lawsuits.

QUOTED. "I think I'm going to go to practice one day and have a chat with my team."

— Hoppy Hoffman, owner of an apparel shop near Arkansas State University. Hoffman's latest store promotion was to offer 1 percent off merchandise for every point that Arkansas State wins by on the Monday after each home football game. The team won its home opener 83-10 on Saturday.

UNC GIVES BLOOD

DTH/ANTHONY HARRIS

Stevette Ruffin, an employee with the American Red Cross, prepares University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill chemistry graduate student William Stevens to donate blood Tuesday at one of the American Red Cross' semi-regular blood drives in the Student Union.

POLICE LOG

■ A Chapel Hill man turned himself into police Monday, two days after he allegedly pointed a gun at a woman, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Marcus Lee Sharpe, 20, of 7803 Rogers Road, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, discharging a firearm within city limits and assault by strangulation, according to police reports.

A woman claimed that Sharpe punched her in the face and began to strangle her Saturday at a Caldwell Street home, police spokesman Lt. Kevin Gunter said. Sharpe is being held at Orange County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bond and was scheduled to appear in court Tuesday, reports state.

■ A Chapel Hill man stole jewelry from a University Mall store Monday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Cletus Dark, 49, whose address was listed as the streets, is charged with larceny after he was seen putting $71 worth of merchandise in his pockets and leaving the Dillard's on South Estes Drive without paying.

He was cited about two hours later, and reports state that Dark had consumed drugs or alcohol.

Dark is expected in court Nov. 3, according to reports.

■ Someone broke into a Chapel Hill home and stole $1,500 worth of loose coins, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The breaking and entering without force happened sometime between Friday morning and Sunday afternoon, reports state.

The incident occurred on Whitehead Circle and was reported Monday, according to reports.

■ Police responded to reports of an injured duck in a pond, according to Carrboro police reports.

Police believe it was a loon diving for fish. "When it surfaces, it shakes the water off its head," reports state.
