

LEE'S BOOK

FROM PAGE 3
most corners of the U.S. — respect that Lee said he had to earn himself.
“He is being referred to simply as ‘president-elect,’” he said. “I was referred to constantly as ‘the black mayor of Chapel Hill.’”
Lee said that a hesitancy to get involved is one of the greatest barriers that minorities and women interested in politics face today.
Lee ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor in 1976, and now

“To me (Obama’s election) completes the fabric of what America was meant to be. It’s hard to believe we’ve made such a great leap forward.”

HOWARD LEE, CHAPEL HILL’S FIRST BLACK MAYOR serves as the chairman of the N.C. State Board of Education.

He said that he overcame a great obstacle as a young man when he was able to stop blaming society for his problems.
“I think the outside influences today will not be the great barriers for minorities or women,” he said.
“It’s the obligation of those interested in politics to become involved, grassroots up.”

Contact the City Editor at citydesk@unc.edu.

MCKINNEY

FROM PAGE 3
pus, Geolas said — a difference in attitude that was important enough that it ought to be copied worldwide.
“He did not simply see it as a land development with collection of buildings. He saw it as a neighborhood,” Geolas said.

“As we started thinking about how we might use the Horace Williams property, our people were interested in what Claude (McKinney)’s ideas were.”

JACK EVANS, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF CAROLINA NORTH fostered.

“He believed that it wasn’t enough for researchers to share information over the phone, but that they need to have places to run into each other — over a cup of coffee or meeting at the Plaza,” Geolas said.

“He has had a huge impact on my profession. What we do is built on Claude’s work.”

Contact the State & National Editor at stntdesk@unc.edu.

RECYCLING

FROM PAGE 3
The office plans to test the program during the final home game Nov. 22 against N.C. State and fully implement it during the 2009 football season.

Tipton learned about a similar program at Pennsylvania State University while attending a national recycling conference. She said the Penn State program provides a good model for UNC.

Recycling programs exist at local universities such as N.C. State, but the structure of the Penn State program works well for a campus such as UNC with tailgating areas that are spread out, Tipton said.

“It’s not as flashy and won’t be as labor-intensive, but it’s a great program for our needs,” she said.

The Penn State program, implemented 15 years ago, continues to make progress, said Al Matyasovsky, supervisor of central support services at Penn State.

The last Penn State home game produced 23 tons of recyclable materials, a record amount collected for a single game.

“The number one thing is the committed, articulate students who have ownership of the program,” Matyasovsky said of the program’s success.

He stressed that it might be difficult to change years of behavior, but determination will pay off.

Contact the University Editor at udesk@unc.edu.

varsity 967-8665
123 E. FRANKLIN
CHELSEA VARSITY.COM
QUANTUM OF SOLACE
7:00, 9:30, SAT-SUN 2:00, 4:30
ZACK & MIRI MAKE A PORNO
7:10, 9:20, SAT-SUN 2:10, 4:20

Chelsea Weaver Dairy
Timberlyne 968-3005
HAPPY GO LUCKY
7:00, 9:30, SAT-SUN 2:00, 4:30
RACHEL GETTING MARRIED
6:50, 9:10, SAT-SUN 1:50, 4:10
RELIGIOUS
7:15, 9:20, SAT-SUN 2:15, 4:30

COURT

FROM PAGE 3
interpretation of what constitutes public campaigning, which is what Klein is challenging with her case.
Klein argued that the board does not have the authority to interpret the Student Code.

“We’re asking that you refine the Board of Elections’ job,” Klein said to the court. “They should administer decisions passed by yourselves and explicitly spelled out in the code.”

The board argued that their administrative rulings are guidelines for the board to follow, not interpretations of the code.

“The BOE is left with a lot of undefined terms,” said Val Tenyotkin, vice chairman of the elections board. “All of these things must be decided on a case-by-case basis.”

Tenyotkin argued that the board is clarifying existing passages in the code that often cause confusion.

He said regardless of the board’s administrative ruling, Klein and Wohlford still broke election law, which states that public campaigning is against the code.

“There’s one reason why we’re here today,” Tenyotkin said. “Someone decided to run for student body president and failed to look up the rules.”

The code defines private as “anything not in the general view, not widely known, and not facilitated by University resources.”

Whether Klein’s meetings in the Campus Y at the beginning of the year violate the code is another question the court will have to answer.

Following Klein’s case, the Student Supreme Court held a pre-trial hearing for Wohlford’s case.

Wohlford is challenging the procedure the board went through when making its decision to fine.

“Someone decided to run for student body president and failed to look up the rules.”

VAL TENYOTKIN, BOE VICE CHAIRMAN

As a result, he asked to subpoena the entire board to be questioned by his campaign, since the meeting was closed and there was no public record of what was discussed.

The court agreed to review the minutes from the meeting and will make a decision about whether to subpoena the board at a later date.

The court will not hear Wohlford’s case until next semester.

Contact the University Editor at udesk@unc.edu.

games SUDOKU
Level: 1 2 3 4
2 8 4 1
3 7 2
5
4 8 2
6 9
9 5 3
8 1 3 2 5 8
SOLUTION TO WEDNESDAY’S PUZZLE
3 2 9 8 5 6 1 4 7
8 1 5 4 7 3 6 9 2
4 7 6 2 9 1 8 3 5
2 5 1 9 6 4 3 7 8
9 3 7 5 2 8 4 6 1
6 8 4 1 3 7 2 5 9
7 6 8 3 1 9 5 2 4
5 4 3 7 8 2 9 1 6
1 9 2 6 4 5 7 8 3

Time required to negotiate arrangements for the car you just sold with a “free” listing on eBay.
Time required to place a classified ad in The Daily Tar Heel.
There’s no such thing as free, SELL SMARTER.
dailytarheel.com/classifieds

THE Daily Crossword Edited by Wayne Robert Williams ACROSS
1 Lead balloons
5 Actress Bernhardt
10 Shoppers’ milieu
14 Living space
15 Bring out
16 Opera song
17 Wrinkly citrus fruit
18 Rot-resistant wood
19 Muffin pans
20 ... there, done that
21 Invent facts
22 City on the Rhone delta
23 Start of a quip
27 President after Polk
30 Cameo stone
31 More sad
32 Ste. Jeanne
34 Darjeeling or pekoe
37 Part 2 of quip
41 Poker winnings
42 Samoa’s capital
43 Program choices
44 Flight school culmination
46 Double dealing
47 End of quip
52 Become subject to 53 Skirt edge
54 Cuts short
58 Organic compound
59 Pres. James Garfield
61 Inspiration
62 Hide in the shadows
63 Verify
64 Intrusive
65 Rackets
66 Tall structure
67 God of love
25 Main vessel
26 Ruler segment
27 Recipe meas.
28 Choir part
29 Mongol’s tent
32 Stangon
33 “Exodus” hero
34 Fork part
35 Needle case
36 Off. underling
38 Guys’ partners
39 Prayer ender
40 V formation, often
44 Moves about stealthily
45 Above, to a poet
46 Rheostat
47 Brandish
48 Boredom
49 Item in a squirrel’s cache
50 Toss
51 Toss with effort
55 Olfactory offense
56 Money in Monterrey
57 Announces
59 On the mark
60 Sister’s sib

DTH CLASSIFIEDS

RELIGIOUS DIRECTORY
“Wear Your Sunday Worst”
SUNDAY WORSHIP CELEBRATIONS...10:55AM
ALDRSGATE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
919-968-6231
632 Laurel Hill Rd., Chapel Hill, NC 27514
www.aldersgate-chapelhill.org
THE CHURCH of the GOOD SHEPHERD
Sunday Services: 9:30am & 11am
College Flock Bible Study: 9:30am
www.cgsonline.org
WELCOMES! To the Chapel Hill Christian Science Church
CSChapelHill.org
Spirituality.com
MyBibleLesson.com
CSMonitor.com
CSSentinel.com
942-6456
HillSong CHURCH
Encounter - Dinner & Dialog on Sunday Nights
Coffee Shop Sessions Wednesday Afternoons
201 Culbreth Rd., Chapel Hill
919-967-3056 • www.hillsong.org
Newman Catholic Student Center Parish
MASS SCHEDULE
Saturday: 5:15pm, Sunday: 7am, 11am & Student Mass at 7pm
919-929-3730 • 218 Pittsboro St., CH
EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY
Tuesday at 5:30 pm dinner & fellowship www.unc.edu/pcm
the Rev. Tammy Lee
lee@thechapelofthecross.org
Chapel of the Cross
SUNG COMPLINE
Sunday at 9:30 pm during the academic term
Candlelight, incense, Gregorian chant, timeless words of grace and peace.
Chapel of the Cross
Where reverence meets relevance
Newhope church relevant messages, vibrant contemporary music small groups in a BIG way shuttle services available
Ephesus Church Rd. 4-45am & 8-10am www.newhopechc.org
Worshiping at 4310 Garrett Road • Durham, NC 27707
Worship Times: 8:45am, 10:15am & 11:45am