DAILY PROGRESS.

THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 2, 1858

Written for the "Daily Progress." Friendship, Life, Love.

BY BEATRICE. What is friendship? Tis as a name: That's written on the shore;

The waves will rise and wash the sand, We see the name no more, "Tis thus that friends while wealth abound;

Are ever by our side, But should misfortune on us frown, They go with fortune's tide. But what is love? 'Tis like a rock, Imbeded by the sea: The wind may blow, the ocean rock, But firm 'twill ever be.

Thus love when once within the heart, Defies misfortune's wave: It lives and ne'er will from it part Till buried in the grave.

And what is life ! 'Tis like a flower, Bedecked in transient hues : Ere we the treasure hold with power, It droops, it fades, it dies;

The flowers will live and bloom again As levely as before. And we may find a life and reign Where death will come no more.

From the Paris Correspondence of a N. Y. Journal. SCANDAL ABOUT EMPEROR NAPOLEON .- A little scandal is afloat about the Emperor just now, which is said to have excited the susceptibility of her Majesty Eugenie. There is a very beautiful lady by the name of M—— residing in a cottage at St. Cloud, and the story runs that the taking a quiet ride with Col. Fleury and two servants, was so struck with her that he caused inquiries to be made, which resulted in the following romantic history: It was ascertained that her maiden name was &c. To suit the times, board has been reduced to M-, a gentleman of considerable fortune. Immediately after the marriage the parties went to spend the honeymoon at Oxford, from which farfamed University the parties returned after a fortnight's sojourn. In the manner of the lady there was nothing to show that she was not contented with her new situation; but it was observed the brow of Col. M-, who was some twenty-five years the young lady's senior was clouded. The newly married pair were visiting at the house of the bride's father, when in the course of the night, the whole family were aroused from VALTER'S NATIONAL HOTEL, their slumber by frightful screams coming from Mrs. -- 's chamber, and shortly after, by the door being opend, and the lady herself rushing out. The result of this strange affair was, that the lady and her husband were accommodated with seperate apartments, and a few days afterwards Mrs. ---, amid the tears of her relatives, and evidently with the profound sorrow of her husband, took her departure, and has since been living at St. Cloud. She is not yet twenty years of age. Her eyes are of that lustrous hue, it is said, which is portrayed in the paintings of Murillo; and, though English, her complexion is that of a transparent brunette. The cause of her early matrimonal difference is said to be simply a determined repuguance to submit to the embraces of her husband, rather than encounter which she quitted him. Her mother is known to be of very eccentric character, and two of her brothers were once under restraint, in consequence of what appeared

The Emperor was greatly interested in all he for fitting up and for erection of Buildings of all had heard of this young lady, and induced the Empress to command her attendance at the palace, where her beauty, the simplicity of her manners, and the slight shade of melancholy which tinged her smile, made her the object of general attraction. The Empress conceived a warm friendship Curches, Public Buildings; also for constructions for her, and had her constantly about her person, belonging to Railroads, as Bridges of Stone, Wood till one day something in the deportment of his and Estimates given for the Improvement of Water ed her, and, with her usual impulsiveness, the new born triendship was broken off-since which the beautiful Mrs. M- has been seen no more at the palace; but it is averred that the Emperor himself has been more than once seen incog to enter the cottage, and that his Majesty's success Architect and Civil Engineer, has been greater than that of the gallant Colonel Office, Smith's Brick Building, Fayetteville Street, in inducing the "bride and no wife" to submit to has been greater than that of the gallant Colonel the universal law of marriage.

The infant Archduchess of Austria, by a sort of a Colonel of Horse; the baby of Louis Napoleon holds a military command: the Queen of Grace is a brigadier; and, before long, it is more than probable that the Princes Frederick William of Prussia will be enrolled as Captan of a Cuirassier
