HORRIBLE AFFRAY. - We published a short diapatch on Monday last respecting the excitement in Jefferson City, Missouri, which grew out of the quarrel and death of two parties to an affray ariseach other, but nothing of an unusual character place in a lager-beer saloon. The St. Louis Democrat says:

"Two or three shots were exchanged here, when Hughes who had walked backwards through the saloon, reached the rear window and drew his bowie knife and inflicted a stab in the right breast of Dozier, plunging the instrument several inch a Young Men of the most excilted talents and brilliant into the unfortunate man. - Hughes dropped in intellect, who might otherwise have entranced lis- the saloon from the effects of a bullet, which entening Senates with the thunders of elequence, or tered the vicinity of his heart. Dozier then fired waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full another shot, which took effect a little below the other. Hughes expired in a tew moments. As he fell he uttered the words, ' Tell my wife and Married persons, or Young Mon contemplating mar- children I am killed-I am killed-I-. Dozier walked into the street, and was asked by a friend if he was hurt. He said 'Not much' and pro-ceeded toward the Virginia Hotel, walking arm and arm with a friend. He soon felt the effects of the stab, and remarked ' I have killed him, and I believe he has killed me.' As he said these words he fell, and was carried into Matthew's drug store, where he died in less than five minutes
