The Donnine Platform.

Resolved. That it is in accordance with the true interpretation of the Cincinnatti platform that during the existence of the Tarritorial Government, the measure of restriction, whatever it may be, imposed by the Federal Constitution on the power of the Legislature over the subject of the domestic relations, as the same has been or shall hereafter be finally determined by the Supreme Court of the United States, should be respected by all good citizens, and enforced with promptness and fidelity by every branch of the General Government.

The above, on motion of Gov. Wicklifte, of Louisians, was unanimensly adopted by the National Democratic Convention at Baltimore; and is the platform on which the supporters of Douglas and platform on which the supporters of Douglas and Johnson stand in regard to the Territorial question.

The Plot Working.

A society of "Earnest Men" has been formed in Charleston, S. C., whose duty it is, says one of their number, to "spot traitors to the South. who may require some hemp ere long." This is but a continuation of Yancey's "Southern League" which was formed for the avowed purpose of "precipitating the Cotton States into a Revolution." Of course the "Earnest Men" will consider all as "traitors" who do not support the nominees of the Richmond disunion Convention. Wonder if the "Earnest Men" have any recollection of what happened in 1882 when Gen. Jackson was at the helm?

WHERE Is It?-We received some days ago n receipt by mail from the R. R. freight agent at Raleigh, dated Oct. 5, for 30 reams paper, which paper has not yet come to hand. As it has not reached Newbern will some one please be so kind as to inform us where it is housed at? One thing is certain, it was in the warehouse at Raleigh on the 5th, and at noon on the 10th it had not reached Newbern, only 110 miles. The exorbitant freights we have to pay on paper, that we may buy from the home mills, we mind but little, so that we could get it when we want it.

Oregon .- A despatch from Oregon states that after the organization of the House of Representatives the Breckinridge members of the Senate withdrew, thus preventing a quorum, without which there could be no election, and the Legislature adjourned until the 17th inst.

AMERICAN MERCHANTS IN RIO. - A correspondent of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce writes from Rio on the 21st of July :

"I have been surprised to find so few American houses here and so few Americans, as was also the case at Valparaiso, when it would seem that American interests must be largely represensed in both places. I did not hear, indeed, of a single house, entirely American, in either place, and encountered and heard of but a few Americans m any department of business, while it is said there are thirty fice English houses or merchants in Rio, who have nearly the whole of the exporration business of the country in their hands.—
Prices are enormous, while trickery and dishonesty, alive in the natives and foreigners, are said to be nearly universal. One of our number having on hand a little money, thought he might make something in exchange, and inquiring at a leading English and American house, was coolly told that they would give a draft on a house in Philadelphia or New York for exactly the same sum, payable in three months! The inquirer, not exactly seeing his fortune made in the operation, took the liberty respectfully to decline the

WHAT AILS THE SUN !- The Scientific Amercan has the following sensation item :

There are now more spots on the sun than have been seen before for many years; some of these are visible through a smoked glass to the naked eys. Several stars—some of them of great brilliancy, which, from their ascertained distance, must have been as large as our sun—have totally disappeared from the sky; and the question has been raised among astronomes whether the light and heat of the sun are gradually fading away.—As this would be accompanied by the destruction of all the plants and mirmals on the earth, it is rather an interesting question. The sun's light and heat are diminished by the dark spots at the present time about 1 per cent. There are now more spots on the sun than have present time about I per cent.

DESPERATE AFFRAY -A few days ago, a des-DESPENATE AFFRAY —A few days age, a desperate affray occured in Perquimans co. N. C.—
The parties to it were David Jackson and his wife on one side, and Sanford Davis and two men named Sharboro and Jennings, on the other.—Guns, pintols, sticks, &c., were freely used, and it seems with fearful effect. Jackson's wife was hadly wounded, having an arm completely shattered; Sharboro, it is thought, is fatally wounded; and all the parties were more or less injured. A child which, had followed Jackson's wife to the scene of the affray, was accidentally killed.

SWINDLED.—On Wednesday a young man named Samuel Lander, from Lincoln county, North Carolina, stopping now at the Eutaw House, took a stroll with a companion, who represented that he was from the asmo Siste. On South street, near Baltimore at the request of his companion. Lander gave him two genuine $50 motes for a bogus $100 mote of the City Trust Bank, of New York. Under pretence of settling a bill, the awindler passed through the Bun Building and disappeared.—Bultimore American, only time to write . A member of the Brass Band gave me the particulars of the anniversary fete of the Orange Guards at Hillsboro' on the 1st inst., and of their own trip. They are, substantially, these: On their way to Hillsboro, they were joined by the gallant Guilford Greys; a reunion mutually unexpected and agreeable in the extreme. At Hillshoro' depot the Greys and Band were received by the Orange Guards and the Flat River Guards. After the customary greetings and formula, the Battalion was formed, and headed by the Salisbury Band, moved in imposing style to, then through Hillsboro,' A sumptuous dinner was then done justice to by the military. During dinner the Band discoursed choice music on the verandah of the hotel, they having previously taken dinner with Miss Nancy Hilliard, at the R. R. Company's Shops. After dinner the Battalion again got in line and proceeded to Col. Tew's Military College, distant one mile, to witness the admirable drilling of the cadets, which lasted till near sundown. None of the Band were ever so pleased and interested with a similar exhibition before. Col Tew is certainly the non pareil in his line, and the College building is a credit even to such a command-ant. A sufficiently drilling the cadets they were ordered into the Battalion. A dress parade was then performed by the Band, followed by a thorough drill of the whole line, by Col. Tew. Congratulations on the part of the citizens were then tendered to Col. Tew and the companies through Paul C. Cammeron, Esq. The Battalion then returned to town to make ready for the Ball. The Ball Room was splendidly and appropritely decorated. Previous to dancing the Band played a few concert pieces, after which dancing began and was conducted in most admirable style by Prof. R. Slater, who almost immediately became a favorite with every one. He was the master spirit of the occasion Dancing was kept up till 3 o'clock in the morning. After breakfast next day the Battalion and Band marched to the residence of Gov. W. A. Graham to pay him their respects. The noble gentleman was absent but the rites of hospitality were amply performed by the sons of Gov. Graham. Returning from there they went directly to the R. R. depot, where an immense crowd of people were assembled. Refreshments in abundance were also here; after partaking of which parting speeches were made, salutes fired, and national music by the Band, when along came the train, and the Band and Guilford Greys were off. The members of the Band desire me to offer their most heartfelt thanks to Mr. J. D. Wilbon of the Orange Guards for the many indispensible services and gentlemanly attentions he rendered them; also to Capt. Jones of the Orange Guards, than whom a more gentlemanly officer could not be. The Band had every reason to be much gratified with the kindness and appreciation they received from every one. Arriving at Greensboro, the most cordial expressions of friendship and esteem were ex changed between the Band and the Guilford Greys at parting. The Band took on a runaway negro of I. Clark's, of this place, and were bringing him along but be contrived to give them the slip while at dinner at the Company's Shops. He has been re-caught. The rain fell incessantly from the evening of the 3rd till the morning of the 5th inst., conse quently the Breckinridge Mass Meeting here was, in many respects, an entire failure. Lane was told by one who counted them that the numcould not be re-elected to the Senate that the ber of the andience, speakers and Band, before din ner, was 315. The orators were the Mesers, Venable, Brown, Edwards, Ellis, Clingman, Craige, Haywood and Fox. Ample provision had been made to feed some thousands, therefore much disappointment must have been felt, and great waste of food caused by the unpropitions weather. The Whigs seemed to deplore the rain more than the Democrats did, for they were anx ions to see everything favorable to a full exhibition of their strength. The Paw Creek Band is composed of a genteel set of men, neatly uniformed. They play only a few simple pieces of music, but they play them purely and sweetly. I made a mistake in stating that the Hon T. L. Clingman delivered a speech here last Saturday, 29 h Sept ; I heard it verbally announced that he would speak that night. He was here, but did not address the people.

Excuse this basty letter.

COSMO. Yours truly, BRECKINRIDGE FOR SUBMISSION TO LIN-

COLN'S ELECTION. The disunionists commenced their denunciation of Judge Bouglas too soon, for his declaration that he would not resist Lincoln's election by force. All eyes and ears were open to hear what Mr. Breckinridge would say on the same subject, but he was mum-he shirked so important a question, and his skillful dedging what his friends were condemning Douglas for announcing boldly-commenced denouncing him, and consequently the "Kentucky Yeoman," published at Lexington where Mr. Breckinridge lives holds forth as follows :

"That any school boy would know that if Mr-Lincoln is elligible to the office, and is elected se-cording to the forms of the Constitution and laws. that he will be inaugurated, and treats any other supposition with the most supreme contempt and ridicule."

Now we want to see if there is a single one of Now we want to see if there is a single one of those very rampant gentlemen that wanted to crucify Donglas, who will venture to denounce their own candidates for expressing views identical with those of Judge Bouglas upon this question! We venture the prediction that there will not be one. They will back down and back out as they did upon their platform, and will support Breckinridge and Lane under any declaration that they would make. But will honest people be deceived by such miserable hypocrisy?—Selma (Ala.) Sentinel.

BROWN ON HAMLIN-Senator Brown, in a recent speech at Crystal Springs, Miss., thus describes Hannibal Hamlin:

"Mr. Hamlin is a man of fair mental endow-ments. If he is remarkable for anything, it is for knowing which way the wind is going to blow, and always getting his sails set so us to catch the first breeze. He took to politics as a young duck takes to water, because it was his element. If I owed the devil a genuine simon-pure Yankee, and meant to settle fair I would send him Hanibal Hom-lin."

DR. CARILL'S OPINION OF AMERICA.-Dr. Ca bill writes to Ireland concerning this country Few readers will recognize this sketch:

Douglas in Chicago.

The reception of Senator Douglas "at home" ras of the most glorious character. Chicago is an important locality in the history of mod ern politics. Especially famous is it in connec tion with the great doctrine of which Senator Douglas is the exponent. Here has he met and defeated the enemies of the Democracy in 1850, 1854, and again in 1858; after the great discussions in Congress on the Compromise measures, the Nebraska-Kansas bill, and the Lecompton constitution. His triumphs on these occasions, great as they have been, has been more than equaled by the splendid enthusiasm which has poured from generous and just hearts and welcomed him to the capital of the State he so proudly makes illustrious in the Senate of the United States; and before the anxious eves not alone of this continent, but of Europe. Europe cannot be an indifferent spectator of the Presidential crisis in this country. The Times and Herald of the 5th briefly and suggestively chronicles the great event:

The die is cast. We have no heart to com pare the reception of Douglas and Seward. The annihilation of the Republican demonstration was so complete, that any attempt at a parallel is simply nonsense. The banter was fairly given, and has been fairly met, and our triumph has been so overwhelming that it would be ungenerous to exult. Even our friends were taken by surprise by the sublime display pre-serted. It has been expected to make a form-al and respectful reception of Judge Douglas, and reserve our ammunition for the grand demonstration of to-day; but the enthusiasm was irrepressible," and as chainless as the wave ocean. The horsemen gathered by hund reds, and the footmen by thousands, with their gay uniforms and brilliant torches. to escort our distinguished chief. The people gathered in front of the Tremont, to the number of tweny-five or thirty thousand. Estimation of the omense multitude was in fact impossible, for they could only be counted by thousands.

For hours the dense and ever growing crowd awaited the arrival of their great political idol and leader. When at length he arrived, in the centre of miles of brilliant torches, and the boom of the cannon and coruscations of innumerable fireworks, the enthusiasm of the crowd knew no bound. The crowd grew actually wild with enthusiasm, and as the swelling ac claim went up from the thousands assembled, the Little Giant stood up in his open carriage and nobly acknowledged the devotion of the Democracy of Illinois. It is in vain that we at-tempt to describe the brilliancy of the scene, or the utter amazement of the Democracy and the blank terror of the Republicans. will happen to-day matters not—we have al-ready distanced all competition. No citizen of America has ever received such an ovation as Judge Douglas received in Chicago on last night! It defies all caviling and lying. Judge Douglas' speech and other particulars to some extent will be seen elsewhere. We dare not go further, without missing our mails. Long

As soon as the wild enthusiasm had compa ratively subsided, Senator Douglas was forced o present himself to the delighted multitude. He briefly addressed them as follows:

Mr. Chairman,-I will not attempt to suppress the emotions of a grateful heart in re sponse to this hearty welcome and brilliant reception. In the performance of my public du-ties, upon the boisterous sea of political life, it has been my fortune to encounter those storms and adverse currents which threatened to destroy all exposed to them. It is for you, my fellow citizens, to determine whether I have ever quailed before the storm ["never,"] or have lost my reckoning ["never,"] or have permitted the good old Democratic ship to drift into the maelstrom of Abelitionism or to be wrecked upon the breakers of disunion. [Immense applause and cries of "Never never never." has always been my aim, whenever I have held the helm, to guide the ship by the lights and according to the chart of the Constitution. "Good, good," and renewed applause.]

Nowhere in the whole country has the vicis-situdes of political fortune and the alternations of popular favor and folly been more frequent and brief than in Chicago; but the light of the morning has always rapidly succeeded to the darkness of night, and the bright rays of the sun have chased away the mists and fogs which obscured the horizon, and rendered plain to the vision of all impartial men the path of duty and of patriotism. [Cheers.]

Never have my convictions of duty been more clear or my determination to maintain them more resolute than in this great contest for the peace of the country and the perpetuity of the Tremendous and prolonged cheering. Union.

I shall reserve for to-morrow the examination of the principles and measures which I believe best calculated to produce those objects. the meantime my heart is too full of gratitude to my fellow-citizens for this brilliant and unrivalled demonstration, and my physical system too much exhausted to detain you longer. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for this imposing and magnificent reception.

We are unable, says the Times and Herald, in the brief time and space that are left us to night to do anything like justice to this grand reception, which may be truly said to have been unsurpassed, unparalelled, in the modern history of our country.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.-In a speech at Randolph Court the other day Mr. Settle made a Douglas speech, and gave the reason for the failure to unite the two wings by some action of the State Committee, called together after the Baltimore bolt. We quote from the Greensboro' Patriot :

"In reply to the charge that there was no con promise in the Douglas men, he said that the charge was daily made by those who knew nothing of the facts. He said that after the adjournment of the Baltimore Convention, the Executive State Committee for North Carolina met in Ral-State Committee for North Carolina met in Ral-eigh, and had authority to settle these difficulties. Mr. Barringer had prepared some conservative resolutions, which were read to the Committee. They recommended to the Democratic voters of the State to support the ticket headed by Scales and Haywood, placing the name of Douglas or Breckinnidge at the head of the ticket, as might Breckinridge at the head of the ticket, as might anti the tasts of each voter. Dr. Sloan of Gaston and himself were in favor of Mr. Barringer's proposition, but they did not make the recommendation, simply because Messrs Fulton and Green, a minerity of the Committee, said that they could not take a two legged ticket and that a straight out Breckmridge ticket was the only one that would suit their people. Messrs. Burringer, Sloan, and himself, were Douglas men, and although in a majority, were unwilling to press the recommendation for fear of embarrassing the Democratic party in the State elections."

MR. BRECKINRIDGE MUST ANSWER. The Washington telegraphic correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquiror, in his despatch of the

Senator Yulee, of Florida, declares that unles sckinnidge responds to the questions answered Douglas at Norfolk, and answers it differ-tly, he will be compelled to vote against Senator Brown, of Mississippi, another distinguished Breckinridge leader, declares that Mr. Breckinridge must answer the Norfolk questions, or he cannot vote for him. Such are the declarations of hundreds and thousands of Democrats in every Semborn Rate.

W. A. Graham.

The October No. of this valuable work is at hand, with a continuatoin of Gov. Swain's article on the "War of the Regulation," and sev-eral articles of light reading—among them the poeitical Commencement Oration of Mr. Weir of Greensborough, which was received with decided approbation at the last commence-

The No. is adorned by a portrait of Gov. Graham, which does scarcely justice to one among the finest heads within our knowledge. It is accompanied by the following sketch of his life and character :-

William Alexander Graham, a portrait of whom graces our present number, was born in Lincoln county, North Carolina, upon the 5th day of September 1804. His family is of Scotch-Irish extraction. His father, the late General Joseph Graham, was an ardent patriot, and an active and brilliant officer of State troops in the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Graham received his collegiate education at Chapel Hill, and in 1824, upon his graduation, received the highest honors of the University. In those honors were associated with him the late Thomas Dews, a man of genius who died in early life, a well known and brilliant lawyer of Western North Carolina; Matthias E. Manly, long a Judge of the Supe-rior Court, and now filling so well a seat upon the bench of the Supreme Court of the State; and Edward D. Sims, who turned his attention to Letters, became a man of great accom-plishment in his vocation, and died some years ago a Professor in the University of Alabama. Mr. Graham read law in the office of Judge Ruffin, at Hillsboro', and, having been admit-ted to the bar in 1827, fixed his residence at that place. In his new home the merits of the young man were speedily recognized. In 1833, 1834, and 1835 he represented the town of Hillsboro, in the General assembly, and, that borough having been disfranchised in 1835, in the year 1836 he was elected to the House of Commons from the county of Orange. He was Speaker of that body in the years 1838 and 1840. During the latter session, shortly after taking his seat, he was chosen a Senator of the United States for an unexpired term ending upon the 4th of March 1843. In 1844 Mr. Graham was elected Governor of North Carolina, and was re-elected by a largely in-creased majority in 1846. In the month of June 1849 he declined the Mission to the Court of Spain, upon its being tendered by President Taylor. In July 1850, at the accession of President Fillmore, he became Secratary the Navy, and resigned that office in June 1852 upon receiving the nomination upon the ticket with general Scott. During the winter of 1854 Mr. Graham served his fellow-citizens

In 1836 Mr. Graham married Miss Susan, daughter of the late John Washington, Esq., of Newbern, and their family now consist of eight sons and one daughter.

as Senator from Orange in the State Legis-

Except when in the public service Mr. Gra-ham has been engaged in the assiduous prac-tice of his profession; and he enjoys the reputition of being an eminent lawyer and a very successful advocate. His personal appearance is very prepossessing. Erect in carriage, and of great dignity of deportment,—a well devel-oped forehead, penetrating and steady dark eye, and compressed lip, indicate all those traits of energy, even temper, high ability and nerve which have characterized his life.

The career of Mr. Graham is one of the ornaments of North Carolina. It is an ornament in perfect keeping too with her other honors for his fidelity to principles and to promises is scrupulous, and embraces all the transactions of life public and private. Refraining from any expression of opinion upon his political views or conduct, we may be pardoned for saying that he has developed those views and per-sued that conduct with great consistency, a high sense of honor, and a courage as undaunted as it is quiet and unassuming. For nearly thirty years, in the midst of a generation whose tendencies are to the contrary, he has pursued unswervingly the path of conservatism; and such has been the weight of his character, and so great the qualities which he has offered to the service of his fellow citizens that he has found this path to lead to high public employment, and a general and solid popularity. The conservative sentiment which marks North Carolina leans much upon his arm, and there is none of her sons to whose voice in time of trouble she would lend a more attentive or respectful ear. The excellent proportion and harmony of Mr. Graham's high qualities, moral and intellectual, assign him to a class of men apt to be underrated by the inconsiderate. Many who are struck by a trait whose effect is in some degree due to deficiencies in other endowments will pass the same unnoticed where playing only a due part in a system, as it were, of valuable and well-developed qualities. Reflection and experience convince us of the rarity and the value of men so furnished. They are of a class to which Washington belonged, and for belonging to which it has pleased many to indulge in depreciation of his great name.

Mr. Graham's residence is a handsome place on the eastern outskirts of Hillsboro, embowered in a fine grove of forest growth, and in the midst of ample grounds tastefully adorned. Of his home it may not be intrusive to say that it has received a thousand blessings, dropping upon it like the gentle rain from heaven.

Since the year 1834 the honored subject of this sketch has been a Trustee of this university, and as such has shown himself a true and devoted son of his Alma Mater.

For the above sketch, the Editors acknowledge their indebtedness to Samuel F. Phillips, Esq., of this place, and return him their sincere thanks for the same.

DOSGLAS' VOTE IN ALABAMA !- We are re ceiving letters from our friends in almost every section of the country wanting to know what will be Douglas' vote in Alabama. We have not the time to answer all those letters, by letter, and as we have a report before us from friends in every county in this State, as the vote each candidate will receive, we will give the summing up by Congressional Districts, so our friends who have thus written us may see what to look for in Ala-

1st. District 5220 5300 3100 3200 2959 2100 3000 2780 4000 3500 29,965 28,020 23,550

Thus it will be seen the whole vote of the State is calculated to be 81,553, and of this number Douglas gets 29,965, Bell 28,020 and Breckinridge 23,550—thus giving Douglas 1945 more than Bell and 6415 more than Breckinridge. Our friends in each county have been vigilant in ascertaining the strength of each party, and we are confident the vote will differ but little from the above estimate.—Selma. Ala. Sentinel.

CAN RECEPTION—The Boston papers publish a letter from the Duke of Newcastle, accepting the invitation to a ball in that city, which concludes

I cannot say with what kindness the Prince has been received in those cities which he has yet visited in the United States. If each individual had been instructed what to do, the whole people could not have shown greater delicacy of feeling and consideration for the position he occupies in England, though without the slightest surrender of their own claims and independence of action. They have all looked upon him as a guest, and resolved to treat him as such, but without overlooking the character of the host. In return, of course, every effort has been made, and shall continue to be made elsewhere, to gratify the amiable curiosity of our good cousins to see the son of the Queen whom they love and respect almost as much as we do. I cannot say with what kindness the Prince has

GOOD APPOINTMENT.—Judge Heath (says the Raleigh, N. C., Press) has appointed R. G. Lewis, Esq. of this city, Clerk and Master in equity in the place of Ed. Graham Haywood, Esq., resigned. This is a most capital appointment.— Mr. Lewis is a deserving man and will discharge the duties of his office ably and faithfully.
