SAILED.—The steamer James A. Gary, Hall master, sailed from Baltimore for this port yesterday afternoon, and will be due here to-morrow evening.

ARRIVED.—Schr. Dolphin, Bell master, with cotton, corn and cattle from Hyde County.
 Schr. Winnie, Howard master, with corn from Hyde County.

MILLINERY.—Miss Harriet Lane was engaged yesterday in fixing up and removing her stock of Millinery from her old place of business to the new establishment, next door to C. E. Slover's grocery store, on Craven Street, which has recently been fitted up, in fine style, for her occupancy.

NOTICE, ATHENS LODGE, I. O. G. T.—Members who intend going on the excursion, are requested to assemble at the Lodge Room at 7:45 o'clock, A. M., Tuesday, June 2nd, 1874.

By order W. C. T. F. M. AGOSTINE, Sect'y.

AUCTION.—Vendue-master Ash is, through Contractor John Lane, fitting up the cozy little building adjoining the Gaston House, on South Front Street, for his future headquarters, where he will soon be prepared to sell at public sale any and everything that may be presented him for disposal at auction.

"MAYFLOWER" Tobacco, Fine Plugs and Twists, and Cigars at C. E. Slover's.

REMOVAL.—Postmaster Hubbs and his assistants were busily engaged on yesterday removing the mail matter, lock-boxes, &c., from the old quarters, corner of Pollock and Craven Streets, to the Stanly building, on Pollock Street opposite, which has been neatly fitted up. Whether the new location will be as convenient for our citizens as the old, remains to be seen.

TILL THIEF.—A colored sneak-thief youth, aged about 16 years, and named John Davis, was arrested on yesterday for stealing the contents of the money-drawer at the confectionery establishment of Mr. John Hussey, on Middle Street. John is now rusticated (?) at the Station House, where he will remain until Monday morning, when His Honor, Mayor Campbell will investigate the charge and act accordingly.

DANGEROUS.—We call the attention of our city authorities to the numerous stovepipes projecting through the roof of the People's Market building. Several of these innocent cremating nuisances are not only noticeable upon the roof of the building, but some of them are so imperfect in their construction that we fear they will do more harm than good—i. e. they may, while cremating the Market premises, cause the cremation of one or more innocent structures adjacent thereto. Our City Council will probably take some action in the matter on Monday night next.

FEDERAL DECORATION.—Quite a large number of citizens gathered on yesterday at the graves of the Federal dead, to pay the tribute of respect to those who fell fighting under the flag of the Federal Union, or perished by disease far from their kindred and friends, with none but a soldier's hand to smooth their dying pillow. The Silver Cornet Band discoursed solemn music, and the offerings of flowers were strewn upon their tombs. In the presence of the Federal as well as the Confederate dead, we say cease then fanatical encroachments upon the rights of a gallant people, and let us have brotherhood and peace.

SHIP MODELS.—The lovers of Naval Architecture can have their eyes gladdened by calling on Mr. J. Havens, corner Craven and South Front streets, and examining one of the most beautiful models of a proposed ship that it has ever been our happy lot to look upon. This handsome and trim model was forwarded to our worthy townsman by those energetic builders and architects, Messrs. Rouse & Co., whose reputation is world-wide, and whose handiwork now floats on every sea. Mr. H., being a passionate lover of the beautiful in Naval Architecture, this may be considered a handsome tribute to his genius.

A CHANGE NEEDED.—The time is approaching for Governor Caldwell to make his new appointments of Directors on our railroads, a matter in which all the people are interested, but especially interested are we in this section in the appointments on the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad. We would suggest to the Governor to look around in his party in this community, if we must have a Republican official and see if he cannot find a man for the Presidency of this line, of more enlarged and liberal views than the present incumbent, or his predecessor have shown. The road since 1868 has been managed in the most picayune manner, and the tariffs of passenger fares and freight rates have been so exorbitant as to drive the produce, that would naturally seek a market here, to other points, and to compel citizens along the line to remain at home unless business of the most urgent nature compelled them to travel. Cannot this thing be remedied, Governor? We think it can by giving us a management which would rather take one hundred passengers on its trains at 2 cents a mile, than eight or ten, which is about the present average of travel, at over 4 cents a mile, and a freight tariff which will take the produce on the upper part of the line over its whole length to one of our own ports, rather than take it but a few miles to the Wilmington and Weldon line, and thence to the Northern markets via Norfolk and Portsmouth. Think over this matter, Governor, if you have the welfare of your State at heart, and if you cannot find such a man as we have suggested in your own party, let us know, and we will suggest a dozen or more gentlemen for the position who will run the road with some degree of liberality, and to the advantage of the State and private stockholders.

The Operetta "Lalla."

Mr. Editor.—Permit me, who was a delighted spectator of the Operetta at the Theatre on Friday evening, to express his profound enjoyment of that most elegant entertainment. After the Mistletoe Pantomime exhibited at the same place some time ago, which stands unrivalled in the writer's memory for its beauty and impressiveness, it would be difficult to give us complete satisfaction with any similar performance. And yet we came away from the scene of this girlish grace and splendor, feeling that we could be lost in the woods, recognized by beggars, cherished by fairies, or anything else, if we could only be young again, and tread the green sward with the bright damsels of the elder time. It would be impossible to say too much for the promising young ladies, who filled the foremost places in this captivating entertainment. Without artificialism, without any dramatic tricks of the gaudy opera, but solely by the force of their own talents and training, by the loveliness and simplicity of their manner, and by the easy grace and dignity of their expression, as well as by the intrinsic beauty of the poetry and music, they won all hearts beyond all doubt. We thought, if mere girls, with however much sweetness and winsomeness, can be brought to do this, what can they not be trained to do, when they stand "in maiden meditation fancy free" with a world of conquered hearts lying at their feet. As a gentleman of intelligence expressed it, the whole performance was thoroughly and exquisitely artistic. It was the odor of roses hanging around the glittering festoons and interlacing tendrils of a most adroit and careful cultivation. It would be highly improper to discriminate between such charming young ladies, or to designate any particular portions of the Operetta as superior to the rest. But there was one fact, which must have struck every accomplished mind present, that the execution of the piece was absolutely faultless. If we had been asked to select the smallest child in the tinselled and glittering group, who had made a mistake in her part, we could not have found her either among mountain girls or fairies. Of course this speaks the highest praise for the earnest lady, who loves her church so truly, and dedicates her energies so faithfully to the promotion of its interests. Now let us throw in an old man's advice, to encourage these young girls for the great work of the future. They will have an important part to play in the stirring events which are yet to come. Gifted, graceful and winning they unquestionably are. But let them get their intellects well furnished, that above everything else, and five years from to-day we will put New Berne against the world in ribbons and laces, for brilliant, accomplished and useful women. We say nothing about the other highly successful actors in this recherche entertainment, as our city journals have already paid them just tributes. We are speaking only for the mountain girls and fairies. Let them not rest on their laurels, but persevere. SENEX.

POLLOESVILLE, JONES CO., May 27th, 1874.
 Editor New Bernian:

DEAR SIR.—In looking over your paper dated May 24th, I noticed a communication from E. H. E. F. Perry, of our county, in relation to the Senatorial Convention which was held at Swansboro on Wednesday, May 20th. He says that June the 10th was the time fixed by the proper Constitutional authority, and that by some mistake the 20th of May was partially understood, and an informal gathering took place, without full representation, resulting in the nomination of Capt. W. T. R. Bell, of Carteret, &c.

Now, Mr. Editor, for the benefit of all concerned, I will show you by what authority the convention assembled on the 20th of May. In our County Convention we adopted the time and place as suggested by the Executive Committee of Onslow County, but our Committee, or Secretary, never notified the Onslow Executive Committee of the fact, and without knowing that Jones County had adopted the time and place as suggested by her, the Executive Committees of Carteret and Onslow met and selected May the 20th, at Swansboro, and notified our citizens of the fact, and but for the death of one of the Committee, who was Secretary, our Executive Committee would have been duly notified. Nearly every delegate in our county knew of it, and I am sure Mr. Perry knew it, for he asserted that he would not attend, or have anything to do with a convention, until June 10th. Plenty of time was given, and more delegates attended the convention than was ever before known to attend. Mr. Perry's call for a convention on the 10th of June is not recognized by the party of the county, and I don't believe by but one friend, and they are both two well known to try and demoralize our party at present. He says: "To settle conflicting claims," &c. Jones County did not claim the honor—she conceded that to Carteret,—and a motion passed in the County Convention recommending Col. J. N. Whitford for the position, and delegates were instructed to vote for him on the first and second ballots—only complimentary, so we understood it, and so the gentleman who made the motion intended it. Mr. E. H. E. F. Perry may have aspirations for the position,—I know his friend spoke of him to me in connection with the nomination,—or he may not, but I hope my head may never ache until he receives the nomination from the Democratic-Conservative party for that or any other position, and I know I will be clear of that dreadful pain for many years to come, and I again assert that when Mr. Perry calls a convention he only represents Perry and friend, not the party who nominated Capt. Bell.

Jones County is satisfied with the nomination and feels honored in honoring such a man as W. T. R. Bell, and in August we assure our Carteret friends, and especially the Capt., that we will cast our 600 votes solidly for him.
 Yours, for our nominee, JONES.

Judge Thomas and the Civil Rights Bill.

Mr. Editor.—In the list of Republican members who voted against the Civil Rights Bill appears the name of "Thomas, of Virginia." I am not familiar with the names of the Virginia delegation, and it may be correct; but I think it is a mistake, and that the reporter intended to say, Thomas, of North Carolina. As it is rumored that there will be an attempt made when the Judicial Convention meets again to nominate Judge Thomas for Judge of this District, we want to know where he, as well as Mr. Purnell, stands on the question of Civil Rights, and we will be obliged if you will publish in your paper how he voted; for if after all that he has had—and it has been everything to him, and nothing to us—out of the colored people, he has now turned his back on us by voting against the Civil Rights Bill, we want to know it, that's all. Please answer the question asked above, and oblige

NORTH CAROLINA.

The Raleigh News says: A friend just arrived in the city from the volcanic region reports all quiet at Bald and Stone mountains; no serious rumblings have occurred in the past ten days. He furthermore reports that the prayer meetings have been suspended and the mountaineers have returned to their corn fields and pea patches. It is to be hoped that "Old Baldy" will keep quiet long enough at least to allow the people to "lay by" their crop.

The Charlotte Observer says: We learn from a gentleman who is just from Morganton, that, at the Convention of the Conservative party of the 8th Congressional District, held in Asheville on Saturday last, to nominate a candidate for Congress, Hon. Robert B. Vance, of Buncombe, was unanimously re-nominated on first ballot. Every county was represented save Cleveland. The meeting was presided over by Col. John D. Hyman, and the greatest unanimity prevailed. Mr. Patton, of Asheville, put Gen. Vance in nomination, and he was at once re-nominated by acclamation amid great applause. Cheering news concerning the prospects of the party come to us from the West.
