STEAMER RALEIGH.—The steamer Raleigh, Harding master, left this port last evening at 7 o'clock, well freighted for Norfolk. We notice a large shipment of apples per the Raleigh by Messrs. E. B. Lane and C. T. Watson for the Northern markets.

AUCTION SALE.—Auctioneer Ash will sell at his store on South Front Street, this morning, at 9 o'clock, a large and fine assortment of ready-made clothing for summer and winter wear. This will be an excellent opportunity to purchase an elegant outfit at low figures.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.—Our candidates for the Legislature, Messrs. Green, Pool and Whitford, will address the people on the political issues of the day, near the flag-pole, on Broad Street, on Wednesday evening, July 22d, at 8 o'clock p.m. Come out and hear them for their cause.

RAILROAD NOTICE.—We are requested to give notice that from this date (July 16, 1874,) the order passed by the Board of Directors of the Atlantic and N. C. R. R. November 15, 1870, requiring parties leaving a station where fare tickets can be procured, to purchase same at the ticket office, or be compelled to pay fifty cents extra, will be rigidly enforced by the conductors.

ARRIVED.—Schooner Hornet, Cahoon, master, with potatoes from Bay River.

Schooner Emma, Patrick, master, with corn and poultry from Hyde County.

Schooner Ohio, Scarborough, master, in ballast from Hyde County.

Schooner Water Lily, Austin, master, with corn from Hyde County.

EDWARD THE CRAFTY AS A MONEY LENDER.—Some days ago it was announced with a great flourish of trumpets in the Times, that Edward R. Stanly had loaned the A. & N. C. R. R. Co., the sum of $5,000 with which to pay its July interest. From the tone of the announcement any one not familiar with Edward's crafty ways, and disposition to practical joking, would have imagined that he had done some act of great magnanimity; had rushed to the relief of the road at a time of sore distress when none other could or would assist it. But knowing Edward's ways to be dark and practices sharp, we quietly took it upon ourselves to investigate the matter, hoping we might be able to have one bright page in the record of his life which we are compiling, and shall issue in pamphlet form, but we were doomed to disappointment. The result of our investigation shows, (if we have been misinformed we ask Edward to correct the statement,) that the company desired to borrow the money for 30 or 60 days only, until other and better arrangements could be made; but Edward declined to loan for so short a time, and refused to accommodate them at all, unless they would take it for a longer period, and pay him the moderate interest of 12 per cent. per annum. Magnanimous Edward! Liberal Edward! Crafty Edward! Were you a just man, you would have given the road the money, for when we complete the table which we are preparing of what you have saved in freights and other little ways, we think we shall show the stockholders, had you paid them the same rates that others had to pay, that you now owe them fully $5,000, if not $10,000. How much did you ever pay the company for the use of their cars, engines and employes for the yearly loading and hauling of your coal from the R. R. wharf to your residence? If you paid anything we want you to have credit for it.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT.—The undersigned, at the solicitation of many friends in all parts of the District, hereby announces himself a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge, which he has held for nearly the past four years.

WM. J. CLARKE.

New Berne, N. C. June 25, 1874.

MAYOR'S COURT.—His Honor, Mayor Campbell, disposed of the following cases yesterday: State vs. James Bryan, charged with larceny. This colored youth was sent by Mr. Wm. Colligan to a blacksmith shop in this city, to get a saw repaired, after doing which, instead of returning it to the owner, he visited John Mayo, who, thinking "all correct," sold it at auction, Bryan appropriating the funds to his individual use. By way of explanation, the young thief stated that Mr. Colligan owed him wages and demanding the payment thereof and being refused, he sold the saw in order to get his money. When interrogated by the Mayor, whether he did not know this was the wrong way to proceed to get his money, he answered, "He didn't know, he was after his money, he was." His Honor said that in order to afford him leisure moments in which to obtain better information, and, no doubt, thinking the story rather incredulous, sent him to jail for fifteen days, with orders to work him on the streets.

State vs. Alex Taylor, charged with disturbing the peace, by using abusive language, etc., towards one Richard Harris. Guilty, and fined $3.

State vs. Louisa Hubbard, disturbing the peace, etc. Continued.

GOV. VANCE'S ADDRESS.—Through the kindness of Mr. J. E. Nash, Secretary of Atlantic Council, P. of H., we are enabled to lay before our readers generally, and particularly our former patrons, a full sketch of the admirable address of Ex-Gov. Zebulon B. Vance to the Grangers, in Council at Goldsboro, N. C., June 18, 1874, which will be read with great interest, and appreciated by his friends and admirers as one of the ablest and happiest efforts of his life, embracing as it does, not only material facts of value to Patrons of Husbandry, but embodying in his plain, common sense, practical style, many most useful suggestions to the young and old of our agricultural community throughout the State. Various papers have given extracts and synopses of Gov. Vance's address, but in this issue we believe the Secretary of Atlantic Council has, from his copious notes, given our readers a full and correct version of its delivery.

Worth is coaxing the Paris belles to wear a sort of Clafin costume.

The daintiest button is made of the pink lining of the conch shell.

Cape May belles wear short pants and Balbriggan hose in bathing.

Brooklyn is to have ladies' cars, with conductors and drivers of the feminine gender.

Prof. McKowen, 22 years old, is engaged in the attempt to walk sixty-four hours without rest, food, or sleep, at Denver.

Mrs. Ann Eliza Young, Brigham's nine-teenth, is on her way back to Utah, where she will attack polygamy in the very stronghold of its friends.

William Fredericks, a San Francisco artist, painted a portrait of Booth and then killed himself—not because the picture was so bad, but because he couldn't sell it.

The Great Western Railway Company of England has abandoned the broad for the narrow gauge. The change of gauge of the whole line was effected in three days, and with it ends the broad-gauge system in Great Britain.

Coroner Bacon of Buffalo saved a lady from drowning on Friday last. Her beauty and cries for help overcame the prospect of a fee. It is to be hoped that the lady's friends will see that the Coroner does not lose by his self-sacrificing heroism.

The Denver News man says that Othello couldn't hold a candle to the comet, for the brawny Moor unfolded a "plain, unvarnished tale" of only three stickfuls, or so, whereas the comet can go him 3,000,000 miles better, and without varnish, too.

In a speech at Quebec recently Mr. Macenzie, the "ditch" would never serve any purpose in the future as the great channel of transport from the West to the ocean compared with the national highway of the St. Lawrence.

Mount Vesuvius is to have a railroad to the top costing $4,000,000. The upper station will be guarded by a pent house, so as to protect it in case of eruption, and the line is to be constructed in such a way that the utmost danger to be apprehended is the loss of a few hundred feet of rails.

The Independent of Oregon owe their success in the recent election to the nomination of the best men for office. Political wire-pullers and placehunters were discarded, and respectable citizens were summoned from the privacy of business life and the farm to serve the public interest.

A Maine man who was dying arranged his worldly affairs very coolly. "As to the funeral," he said, after everything else had been settled, "I guess Sam Hubbard had better lead the services. He's an easy, fluent talker, and I allers liked to hear him. I've had dealings with him, and allers found he set out things just about as they was."

Who wrote the John Brown song? The Boston papers are trying to decide. So far, it is agreed that the music was condensed from old Methodist hymn meeting songs, and was first sung by the Twelfth Massachusetts Regiment, while Hall's Band was the first to play it. The author of the words has not been discovered, and he is not likely to voluntarily avow himself.

THE ELECTION LAW.

Abstract of its Provisions—The Whole Thing in a Nutshell.

For the information of the public we give the following abstract of the law governing the election to be held Thursday, the 6th day of August, 1874:

REGISTRATION.

Registrars are to be appointed by the County Commissioners, who shall revise the registration lists so as to be accurate. Any elector is eligible for registrar. Every elector must be registered in the township where he resides. Any voter may be challenged at the polls upon demand of any citizen and the voter may be required to prove, by some person known to the judges of election, the fact of the residence of said voter in the county thirty days previous to the day of election.

County Commissioners shall, on or before the first Monday in July, appoint four judges or inspectors of election, two of whom shall be of different political parties where possible. The judges of election are to be notified by the sheriff.

VOTING.

Separate boxes must be used for each class of officers to be elected, to be furnished by the county. No registration allowed on election day unless the person becomes of age on that day. No device allowed on tickets. Any ticket with two many names on it will be thrown out.

ELECTION.

1. For Superintendent of Public Instruction.
2. Members of General Assembly.
3. Five County Commissioners, Sheriff, County Treasurer, Register of Deeds, County Surveyor, Coroner and Clerk of the Superior Court.
4. Judge of the Superior Court and Solicitor for the Fourth Judicial District.
5. Members of Congress.

Requiring five separate boxes. County Commissioners, under the provisions of laws of 1871-72, have the power to establish, alter, discontinue or create separate polling places for elections, giving thirty days notice by advertisement in some newspaper, or at three places in the county. At least one polling place shall exist in each township or each ward of a city numbering 3,000 population.
