Girl Robs Church for Her Brother.

Bloomington, Ill., dispatch, 14th.
Miss Helen Dixon is in the city jail awaiting trial on the charge of embezzlement. She was a leading church worker and respected by all and intrusted with large sums of money raised for religious purposes.
Wandering somewhere in the country is her brother, who, by his continual pleas for money, first drew from her savings, and later the church funds intrusted to her care. "He will pay them back if they will give me time," is the girl's lament. Her faith in him is unshaken, though others have ceased to believe that she ever again will see the money she advanced to him.

Miss Dixon is accused of embezzling $1,300 belonging to the Gleaners' Society of the Second Christian Church, of which she had been treasurer for two years. The money intrusted to her care had been raised during four years of laborious effort on the part of the members of the society.

When the church proposed to purchase a new $2,200 pipe organ the Gleaners' Society agreed to raise one-half the cost. Since that time the society has been giving periodical entertainments.

There are one hundred members in the society, all young women, and the money earned has represented an in-calculable effort. The aggregate secured by these various means was about $1,300.

Recently the organ was installed and the Gleaners' Society was called upon to pay the agreed portion. Two weeks ago Miss Dixon was asked to turn over the money, but she amazed the members by saying that she did not have a cent in her possession.

She was coaxed and threatened, but refused to make any statement as to the disposition of the money, other than it was gone.

After two weeks' effort it was decided, as a last resort, to place her under arrest. When arrested last night Miss Dixon told of sending the money to her brother, who never returned it. Her parents are dead.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcome the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by Brame Drug Co.

Mars Next July.

Charlotte Observer.
Next July Mars will be almost within hailing distance of the earth—only forty million miles away—and the question whether or not he is inhabited will be threshed over some more. Whether his great canals are the work of intelligent beings, as many astronomers are inclined to believe, will be a topic of eager interest, and his red face, redder still and larger because of its nearness, will attract every eye. Congress will then have adjourned, the Thaw trial will be over, and unless a war is kicked up somewhere or this old earth gets to bucking as she did under San Francisco, Valparaiso and Kingston, our celestial neighbor's near approach will be so timed as to attract the greatest possible amount of attention. For all that he was named after a fool, Mars is a wise planet.

Nothing will relieve indigestion that is not a thorough digestant. Kodol digests what you eat and allows the stomach to rest—recuperate—grow strong again. Kodol is a solution of digestive acids and as nearly as possible approximates the digestive juices that are found in the stomach. Kodol takes the work of digestion off the digestive organs, and while performing this work itself does greatly assist the stomach to a thorough rest. In addition the ingredients of Kodol are such as to make it a corrective of the highest efficiency and by its action the stomach is restored to its normal activity and power. Kodol is manufactured in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Brame Drug Co., and Turner & Taylor Drug Co.

BEFORE THE HOUSE MONDAY.

Miss Lee, Daughter of Gen. R. E. Lee, Introduced to the House—Other Proceedings.

Greensboro Record, 18th.
The House adjourned for ten minutes this morning in honor of Miss Mary Lee, daughter of Gen. R. E. Lee, who was presented and was escorted to the speaker's desk and introduced. She expressed her high appreciation of the honor conferred. She is visiting friends in Raleigh.

Representative Doughton raised a breeze this morning by introducing a resolution, on which he asked immediate consideration, declaring the House has the fullest confidence in the high purpose, integrity and ability of the State corporation commission and does not desire in the least to reflect on the commission in its action in the Selma connection case. Laughinghouse asked that no action be taken until his resolution of Saturday was acted upon, whereupon Doughton called attention to the fact that this resolution was passed without a quorum being present and insisted on immediate action. His resolution was carried without a dissenting voice.

The House tabled a bill requiring the union label on all State printing by a vote of 45 to 18. The committee's substitute bill regulating the hours of labor for men employed on the railroads passed the House. Train dispatchers allowed to work only eight consecutive hours, while trainmen may not work over 14 without at least ten hour's rest. Among the new bills introduced was one by Doughton to amend chapter 518 laws of 1905, the Revenue and Machinery act, very few changes are made, all of a minor nature. By Harris, to amend the charter of Raleigh and extending the corporate limits one-fourth of a mile. By Gallert, to amend the constitution relative to homestead exemptions.

By Koonce, to provide for the election of insurance commissioner by the people. By Parker, authorizing the conversion of the Wilkesboro-Jefferson turnpike into a steam or electric road. By McCrackin, to insure to the people of North Carolina a square deal in the matter of insurance; it provides that this State shall not pay more for insurance than other States pay.

In the Senate several new bills were introduced; one by Holt to allow the Bank of Greensboro to wind up its business. (This evidently refers to the Southern Life and Trust Company, which is separating its business.—Record.)

Sentator Holt also introduced a bill allowing the use of a certain arithmetic in certain districts of Guilford county; also a bill to pay judges and registrars of election in Guilford county; by Drewry, to establish a State Highway Commission; by Graham, to prevent stealing from railroads.

Bills passed—to authorize High Point to appropriate $1,500 for a Carnegie library and furnish a site; to authorize the people of Forsyth county and Winston-Salem to aid by vote the building of an electric road from Winston-Salem to High Point; bill for compulsory attendance of deaf children at the Morganton school.

Brees's bill relating to drunken people traveling on trains was also passed.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by The Brame Drug Co. 50c.

Dr. Thomas Hume, professor of English Literature in the State University, has tendered his resignation to become effective in June of this year. Dr. Hume has had the chair for twenty-two years. The Board of Trustees, at a recent meeting conferred upon Dr. Hume the honor of professor of emeritus, the only one in the University faculty.

Hardin Bankruptcy Case.

Through error last week we failed to give the result of the Hardin bankruptcy case. The issues submitted to the jury were answered "yes," and were as follows:

1. Was the firm of R. H. Hardin and Company (composed of R. H. Hardin and J. W. Hardin) insolvent on the 13th day of September, 1905?

2. Did R. H. Hardin and Company being insolvent on or about September 5th, convey to L. E. Davis a stock of goods and merchandise belonging to them, a part of the consideration of such being the payment to said Davis of a pre-existing debt due him from them of about $3,000 with intent to prefer said Davis?

3. Did R. H. Hardin and Company convey to L. E. Davis their stock of merchandise at the time alleged about September 1st, 1905, with intent to hinder, delay or defraud their creditors or any of them.

4. Did respondents R. H. Hardin and Company, while insolvent, transfer a portion of their property to one or more of their creditors, to wit, J. W. Hasty, by executing a mortgage to the said Hasty in the sum of $3,000 on the entire stock of goods, wares and merchandise in their said place of business in North Wilkesboro, N. C., with the intent to prefer said Hasty over their other creditors.

Physical Education.

Knoxville Journal and Tribune.
The man or woman who would train the mental faculties without any reference to the physical shows a faulty qualification for the work in which he or she may be engaged. The mind may be ever so well trained and stored with knowledge of the books, but unless there is behind it a reasonably strong body life runs the risk of being a failure; if not that, an existence of pain that serves as a limitation upon its possibilities. It is a species of cruelty to educate the mind at the expense of the body. Better let a child grow up into manhood or womanhood with an inferior education than with a better education of the mind and an body weakened in the effort.

The fact that so many men in this country who have succeeded in business and in professional and public life have been the sons of farmers, whose early life has been spent out of doors, has been a subject of remark; may it not be accounted for on ground that in their boyhood their physique was developed so that in after life, besides their mental acquirements, they had strong bodies with which to do the work they have so successfully performed? This is not only possible, but very probable. If this be true, then how important it is that the schools in the cities should not be conducted with a total blindness to the physical development of the boys and girls who attend them.

Miss Greer From Wilkes.

Lenoir News.
Last Wednesday Mr. Thomas Hester, Petra Mills neighborhood, and Miss Hattie Greer, of Wilkes, who is teaching in this county, drove to Lenoir in a buggy, proceeded to the Registers office, got a marriage license and were married. After procuring the license, Mr. Hester asked, where he could find a minister and Mr. Miller told him to bring in the lady he would find the minister. So while Mr. Hester went for his sweet-heart, Mr. Miller stepped to the post-office and asked Mr. R. L. Isbell to officiate. The ceremony was witnessed by several persons who had gathered in the Register's office and afterwards the young couple went their way rejoicing.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WORKS.

Pen Sketch of the President in the Executive Office.

Saltney Brooks, in the Herald.
I saw him again a few days later for an hour or so in the executive wing of the white house—an hour of comparative and accidental slackness in the business portion of the day. But his private secretary came in often enough with affairs that needed attention to give me a glimpse of him in his working moments. A word or two of terse inquiry, a swift, deprecating glance through documents, and then in a flash the decision, a letter dictated, a problem solved. It seemed an involuntary, automatic, unconscious process, a capacity that by long use had become an instinct. He was quite staggeringly outspoken that morning.

All Europe at the time was ringing with his curt dismissal of one of his ambassadors at a great continental capital, an incident of which a good deal has been heard in the last week or two, and which is not yet by any means at an end. He explained to me, a mere casual, wandering journalist—his version of the case and why he had been compelled to act as he had acted. There was a budget of confidential correspondence connected with the affair, and he handed it over to look through it," he said:

He spoke openly of his future program, mentioning, among other things that he intended proposing an inheritance tax and filling the first cabinet vacancy by appointing a Jew. Both intentions he has since fulfilled. He hotly denounced a whole number of people. Most of them were senators, some were the sensational journalists whom he was soon to christen "the muck-rakers," and some were the people who could not see that expediency is the essence of politics.

And lastly, he began discussing himself. A paper had complained because he was not a genius. "I know I am not a genius," said he; and then, "by the by, was it you or some other Englishman who said that a pork butcher could understand me?" My memory ran over all the indiscretions I had been guilty of, and finally lighted on some such dictum. I owned up. "Because," said the president, "I want to tell you, you were absolutely right."

Skin Disease of Twenty Years' Standing Cured.

I want you to know how much Chamberlain's Salve has done for me. It has cured my face of a skin disease of almost twenty years' standing. I have been treated by several smart physicians as we have in this country and they did me good, but two boxes of this salve has cured me. Mrs. Fannie Griffen, Troy, Ala. Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by Brame Drug Co.

James Allen, editor of "The Light of Reason," says:

A noble and God-like character is not a thing of chance or favor, but is the natural result of continued effort in right thinking, the effect of long-thoughts.

Levied on Blackburn's Property.

Greensboro Special Charlotte Observer, 18th.
Under an execution from Guilford Superior Court in a case entitled Cobb & Corpening vs. E. Spencer Blackburn, the sheriff this morning levied on the personal property of the Congressman this morning. The property consisted of the household and kitchen furniture stored in the residence on Summit avenue formerly owned and occupied by him. The suit was brought to satisfy a claim held by the plaintiffs, who are proprietors of the Guilford-Benbow Hotel. During his residence here the Congressman spent much of his time at the hotel and his unpaid bills at the hotel are said to amount to about $200.

Hostility Toward Newspapers.

New York Journal.
Each North Carolina Legislature seems to develop some petty spirit of hostility towards the State press. The bills before the present Legislature are samples of this hostility. No newspaper asks for a "free pass." The newspaper "free pass" is the conception of persons who are totally ignorant of what they say. The very men who seek to disgrace the press by alleging they receive perquisites in the shape of free railroad transportation, are men who will demand free laudation of their public actions in the press, and unless they receive it, will likely refuse to take the newspaper that fails to give them public notice. The present North Carolina legislation against the newspapers, is an attack that hurts most the country weekly newspaper, and to this same country weekly, North Carolina owes obligations that can never be repaid, for the services these country weeklies have rendered in promoting and helping to definite and safe ends, the moral and industrial welfare of the "Old North State." It is easy to kick over the ladder that has been the means of gaining success. Today it is easy to sneer at and insinuate against the newspaper, and today the newspaper profession is the one profession that has not gained wealth in any way commensurate with the work of those who have lifted North Carolina into national prominence.

Hasty and Smith Trial March 11th.

Greensboro Industrial News, 18th.
United State Circuit Court reconvened yesterday morning, but little business was transacted. The jury was excused until next week and court adjourned for the day. The term will continue for several weeks.

The respondents in the case of Simmons Hardware Company et al. vs. R. H. Hardin et al., were given until Tuesday, February 26 to lodge any motion in the case, which resulted in a victory for the petitioners. It is understood that the case will be carried to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The next cases to be tried are of the government against the Charlotte mill men, charged with importing alien laborers in violation of law. This will be commenced on Tuesday week and will probably consume two weeks or more. The English girls are witnesses in these cases.

The case of J. H. Smith and J. W. Hasty, two of the indicted ex-revenue officers, is set for March 11 and it is expected that none of the judgments in any of revenue fraud cases will be pronounced until the trial of these two.

Best Writer of Paragraphs.

Charlotte Observer.
The Henderson Gold Leaf, congratulating The Durham Herald upon having attained the remarkable circulation of 5,000, says: "It is a morning paper that does not carry the press dispatches, and yet it meets a popular demand. Its strength lies in its splendid local service and editorial paragraphic column. Editor Joe King is the best paragraph writer in the State." So far as The Observer's newspaper reading qualifies it to judge, Mr. King is the best paragraph writer in the United States. The great majority who follow this specialty are fat-witted or flippant. King never writes a paragraph that hasn't a breeze behind it and in all of them there is meat.

May Call an Extra Session.

Washington dispatch, 18th.
The San Francisco school controversy, growing out of the segregation of Japanese school children in that city, has been settled. The basis of the agreement reached at the White House conference to-day is that mayor Schnitz and the members of the school board will, immediately after the passage of the immigration bill as reported by the conferees in Congress, abolish the Oriental schools and again admit Japanese children into the white schools. The President and Secretary Root gave the San Franciscans assurance that if the bill is not passed at this session of Congress an extra session will be called immediately after the adjournment on March 4.
