Will Make Survey for Forest Reserve.

The United States Congress has passed a bill appropriating the necessary money to make a survey of the Appalachian territory for the forest reserve. This is a step toward securing the forest reserve and the original bill may become a law at the next session of Congress or at least some future one.

A dispatch from Washington says: Prompt action will be taken by the Secretary of Agriculture in carrying on the new provision of law authorizing a survey of the Appalachian and White Mountains with a view to the establishment of forest reserves in those regions.

This was brought out today during a conference between Secretary Wilson and Senators Simmons and Lattimer. Secretary Wilson gave assurance that the survey authorized be made during the coming summer and a report made to Congress at the beginning of the session in December.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by Brame Drug Co.

Swettenham to Leave Island.

The resignation of Gov. Swettenham, of Jamaica, has become an accomplished fact and he will leave that island so soon as his affairs can be arranged.

As cabled at the time, the Governor sent in his resignation Jan. 23 as a result of the incident involving Rear Admiral Davis, it was the desire of both the American and the British governments to smooth the trouble over. This led to correspondence between the Colonial Office and the Governor, in which the former, while tentatively accepting his resignation, left the door open for the Governor to reconsider the matter and remain at his post, but according to a statement made by the Under Secretary for the Colonies, Winston Spencer Churchill, in the House of Commons, this afternoon, Swettenham has now definitely decided not to continue at his post.

The Lobby Bill.

The lobby bill introduced in the Legislature has been killed. The Greensboro Record says:

"Representative Klutz's anti-lobby bill deserved a better fate. It was on the right line and could not have hurt any legitimate interest. Advocating his bill Mr. Klutz said: 'In my judgment no legitimate influence fears this bill or will be harmed by it. In my judgment it is aimed at and need be feared by only those malevolent influences which seek to poison the fountains of legislation in State and nation, and which fear the light.' He has it everlastingly right; it should have been made a law."

Cause of Stomach Troubles.

When a man has trouble with his stomach you may know that he is eating more than he should or some article of food or drink not suited to his age or occupation, or that his bowels habitually constipated. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and see if the trouble does not disappear. Ask for a free sample. Sold by Brame Drug Co.

Salisbury Man Short $1,000.

Specialist to News and Observer, Ind. By careful investigation of the books of Ticket Agent Hugh A. Leonard, of the Southern railway, at Salisbury, who suddenly disappeared two weeks ago, a shortage of about one thousand dollars has been discovered. The auditors have worked hard on the case and the shortage was announced today. The mysterious departure of Leonard caused a sensation which led to the investigation.

Not a word has been heard from him since he left.

You should be very careful of your bowels when you have a cold. Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kenney's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels—contains no opiates. Conforms to National Pure Food and Drug Law. Bears the endorsement of mothers everywhere. Children like its pleasant taste. Sold by Brame Drug Co., and Turner & Taylor Drug Co.

PASSENGER RATE BILL A LAW.

The Measure as Finally Passed Both Houses Provides for Two and a Fourth Cents Flat Rate.

The Legislature has passed the passenger rate bill and it is now a law to take effect next July 1st. The bill provides that no railroad company with a track of 60 miles or over shall charge passengers more than two and one-fourth cents per mile and abolishes the second class fare altogether. This bill is a compromise of the Justice and Graham bills:

The bill submitted provides the two and a quarter cent rate and adds: "The corporation commission is authorized to permit all independently owned and operated railways whose mileage is 60 miles or less to charge a rate not in excess of the present one for such road and also to permit all roads constructed within the 12 months preceding January 1st, 1907, or at that time under construction for two years from and after July 1, 1907, and also such roads as may be constructed within two years from January 1, 1907, to charge such rate in excess of the rate above prescribed as the commission may determine to be reasonable. A charge of 10 cents may be added to the fare of any passenger when the same is paid upon the cars, if a ticket might have been procured within a reasonable time of the departure of the train and no railways shall be required to accept a single fare of less than 5 cents.

Section 3. That mileage books of 1,000 miles shall be kept or sale at such railway offices as the corporation commission designates, and such books shall be good in the hands of any persons or person named therein on all roads on the fare is the same or less than the fare on the road of the company selling such books and when the mileage is detached from said book by any other road than the one which sold them the said mileage shall be redeemable on demand by the railroad company which sold it.

Section 4. Any railway violating any provision of this act shall be liable to $500 penalty for each violation, payable to the aggrieved person, and recoverable in an action in the name of said person in any court having competent jurisdiction.

Denatured Alcohol Bill.

Washington dispatch, 1st.

The denatured alcohol bill passed the Senate today by a vote of sixty-five to one, Senator Pettus, of Alabama, casting the negative vote. This action was taken after the committee amendment requiring the presence of a government storekeeper wherever alcohol is being manufactured had been defeated by a vote of forty-seven to sixteen.

The bill as passed contains one amendment placed in it by the Senate, that permitting rum to be denatured, and consequently the measure must be returned to the House for action. The bill is intended to make it possible for farmers to establish stills of limited capacity for the manufacture of alcohol to be denatured.

Do Not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by Brame Drug Co.

House of Congress Passes Shipsubsidy.

Washington dispatch, 1st. Industrial News.

Emasculated, not to say mutilated almost beyond recognition by its friends, the ship subsidy bill was forced through the house late this afternoon after the hottest fight of the session, and only after it had once been defeated.

Superior organization on the part of the Republican forces that favored the measure and the weak knees of a few Democrats who voted against it once and then took to the tall timber that it might be passed were all that saved it.

As finally passed, the bill provides subsidies to the amount of $1,300,000 in the minimum, and $2,600,000 in the maximum for four mail lines to South America; one from the Pacific coast down to Panama, Peru and Chili; one from the Atlantic Coast to Rio de Janeiro; one from the Atlantic coast to Buenos Ayres, and one from a port on the gulf of Mexico to Brazilian ports. The three Pacific lines to the Orient and the line from a gulf port to Panama and Central America were stricken out after spirited contests.

One of the most important amendments forced into the bill provides that no ships now in commission can be used to take advantage of these subsidies. This means that new ships must be built to get the new contracts.

It has been years since the House was the scene of so royal a battle between the two parties as it witnessed there over the subsidy bill. The vote on the Littauer substitute was defeated on the first vote, ayes 154, nays 161.

The Democrats could not retain their lead, for on a vote to lay on the table a motion reconsider the opponents of ship subsidy were defeated 156 to 159, and the vote to reconsider the first vote was adopted 164 to 154.

Then there were other votes, but immediately after the first ballot deserting began and on the final vote to pass the bill as amended the work done by the Republican leaders during the height of the battle was made manifest. The bill was passed 153 to 144.

Fifty-two Republicans voted with the Democrats on the first roll call. On the vote Mr. Williams to lay motion to reconsider on the table, fifty Republicans voted with the Democrats. On the vote to adopt the substitute there were forty-three Republicans "insurgents" and on its final passage there were forty-one.

The annual subsidy for each of the lines benefited is to be $900,000 for a monthly mail service or $600,000 for a fortnightly service excepting the Argentine line, which is to have $400,000 for a monthly service or $800,000 for a fortnightly service. No American cities are named as the ports from which any of the lines are to start, and the bill is so worded that the line in the Pacific to South America can touch at any number of ports in the United States. The same is true of the Atlantic lines.

It is provided in the bill that all the vessels profiting by this subvention for carrying mail must have a speed of not less than 16 knots, and it has been repeatedly stated on the floor of the House that no ships now engaged in the South American trade can make any such speed.

[Since the date of the above the ship subsidy bill was opposed in the Senate by Democratic Senators of the South and defeated by what is called filibustering, or refusing "by taking up the time" to allow the bill come to a vote before Congress adjourned Monday.]

YOUNG MEN OF U. S. SENATE.

Washington dispatch, 1st. Industrial News.

Becoming Weary of Being Frozen Out by Old Senators—May Oppose the Precedent.

Washington Special Industrial News, Ind. There is a disposition among the younger men in the Senate to shatter some of the traditions and customs of that dignified body. The reign of the older set is becoming very tiresome to the new and younger members.

In the past a coterie not to exceed a dozen men practically ran the Senate. They would hold star chamber conferences among themselves or with the President, and decide upon a policy, and when the time came to act would tell the younger members how to vote. They never paid much attention to the new men. They took it for granted that they were the whole works, and that the recruit was only fit to follow.

Now it happens that during the past few years the various states as a rule have been sending a younger set of men to the Senate. Of course, there are a few exceptions. In a number of instances the younger men were promoted from the House of Representatives where they had served faithfully and well. They are on to the ropes just as well as the veterans of the Senate, and are just as competent to assume a leading role in the "most dignified body on earth."

When an old timer makes a speech in the upper house and some younger member rises to ask a question the youngster is usually brushed aside with a reply that runs the thermometer in the Senate chamber down towards the zero mark. This has happened several times this session. The younger element is tired of it and shows signs of revolt.

Senator Burkett of Nebraska, in the cloak room the other day, told a few of the old-timers what was coming of them if they persisted in their policy of ignoring the younger senators. He said he had worn the last collar himself, and knew of several senators who felt the same way. It is time, he suggested, that the old grey beards realized that one senator was just as good as another, and entitled to the same courtesies and privileges. Burkett was warm under the collar over the manner in which Senator Warren of Wyoming, sought to lecture him for dipping into an argument.

"It is all right for the old senators to have the choice committees," said a new member from the west, "but there is no reason why they should lord it over anybody. All the wisdom of the universe is not found up in their hides."

Another young senator remarked: "I have served in Congress more years than some senators who are running things. I believe I am as well posted on the big public questions as they are. But custom, you see, dictates that I shall not impart any wisdom I have on the various subjects as they come up for discussion because I have not been here long enough."

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, has been in the Senate five years and is taking an active part in the debates nowadays. Some of the old "uns are grumbling about it. They intimate that McCumber is entirely too loquacious for a "new man." However, McCumber is going right ahead discussing questions whenever he feels like it, regardless of the desires of the old-timers.

There is talk among the younger members of getting together at the next session and shattering some of the ancient customs so religiously adhered to by ancient senators for selfish purposes.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's cough cure is—and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package. For this reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's cough cure. No poison-marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it is not safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's cough cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's cough cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Blackburn Has Been Seen.

Greensboro Record. Former Congressman Blackburn for he is an ex. now—is able to enjoy a joke yet, even if it is at his expense. The other day a Greensboro gentleman saw him in Washington, into whose ear Mr. Blackburn poured his tale of woe. He said all his friends had thrown him down; that they had even seized his paper, the Tar Heel, which did not owe a cent and was making money, and had sold it. "Sell you, too," said the Greensboro man, "if you come down there," whereat Mr. Blackburn laughed quite as heartily as his friend.
