NORTH WILKESBORO, May 18, '93.

The World's Fair will be open on Sundays on and after May 21.

When it comes to failures the North and West were decidedly in it last week.

South Carolina is building up a reputation, isn't she? Three lynchings in two weeks.

The Aldine Hotel at Philadelphia was consumed by fire Monday morning causing a loss of about $130,000.

The commencement exercises of the State Normal and Industrial School at Greensboro will take place on the 24th.

The State Dental Association convenes in Raleigh next week, where the "tooth carpenters" will have a chance to air themselves.

Of the seventy-nine applicants before the Examining Board at Raleigh last week for license to practice medicine, forty-seven passed.

SEVENTY gamblers were captured at one haul on the Bovey in New York City last Saturday night, and it was not a good "day" for catching them, either.

The Washington News gets there when it says "there will never be a genuine reform in this world until some of the surplus reformers are disposed of."

GOVERNOR CARR has designated June the 6th as the day of execution of Tony Rogers, who was convicted of murder in Richmond county, and who appealed to the Superior Court, but no error being found, he will be hanged on the above mentioned date.

The Co-Operative Bank of North Carolina, with an authorized capital of $500,000, with headquarters at Fayetteville, N. C., opened its doors to the public last Wednesday.

Col. Jesse E. Peyton, the celebrated organizer of celebrations, and who proposes to have a celebration of the birth of Christ at Jerusalem, A. D. 1900, is to hold a public meeting, July 4, in front of Independence Hall, Philadelphia, which shall adopt resolutions in favor of the celebration and send them to the Parliament of Religions in Chicago in September for approval.

At the close of business to-day, says a special from Washington on the 15th, the Treasury had on hand $824,425 of free gold and had accepted, but not yet put on the books, $1,176,000 more, making the free gold balance $2,000,000 above the $100,000,000 gold reserve.

The past three or four weeks have been marked with more than the usual number of disasters, in fact with an unusually great number, more than ever recorded before.

PERSONAL

Mr. J. D. Lowry has severed his connection with the North Wilkesboro News...

Mr. Robertson, of Kernersville, has taken charge of the North Wilkesboro News.

Mr. T. J. Robertson left last Thursday for Wilkesboro where he will assume control as editor of the North Wilkesboro News.

In taking charge of the North Wilkesboro News the new editor, Mr. T. J. Robertson, appeals to the pride of all who desire a good local paper there and he very properly says that few papers can rise to a high standard unless they have a united and liberal support.

PITH OF THE PRESS

Generally it is a good rule not to be too hasty in judgment, and when some action is taken by our friends which we cannot approve on first information, it is well to suppose that on a further the matter may wear a different aspect.

A bright idea has occurred to an Idaho financier, who has made applications for a bank to be established on a barge to accommodate the towns on a lake in the mining region, which are not large enough to have a bank of their own.

Some interesting facts are connected with the University of North Carolina. Its history dates from the Revolution; it educated a man who became President of the United States (Polk) and another who became Vice-President (King) and it was the only Southern State College that kept its doors open during the Civil War.

Prizes for Southern States. An offer of prizes for original sketches of Southern life is announced by the Southern States magazine, which is published by the Manufacturers' Record Publishing Co., of Baltimore.

WHAT CAN THE CATHOLICS MEAN?

The Tennessee Methodist has found out their mysterious doings as follows:

"The following appeared recently in the Spokane (Wash.) Daily Review:

ELLENBURG, Wash., Feb. 13.—The Roman Catholic priest of this city to-day received a consignment of supposed books. The books were shipped in oblong boxes and were hauled to the church by a Roman Catholic drayman. They were then stored in the basement of the church.

The following is from the Tri City Blade, of Rock Island, Ill. "The priest in Bloomington, Ill., has received a consignment of Winchester rifles which were billed 'ornamental trees.'"

"Why are the Romanists of the United States arming themselves? They now have a standing army of more than seven hundred thousand soldiers. This they dare not deny. A Roman priest of Columbus, O., recently stated that the object of these armed bodies was to 'march in defense of religion.'"

Is there to be some un-American assumption of power some of these days in which Catholics are to take a leading hand when it develops into hostilities? Have the hordes of Catholics coming constantly to America anything to do with it? Or do they feel that they shall soon be able to cope with Protestantism combined or what is the matter? Has anybody threatened them? Would it not be well for all Protestantism to band more closely together, not for carnage, but to live down this enemy of mankind and false representative of Christ? We presume that all their Winchester's is but a device to hold every Catholic more firmly in the faith by some pretext that they are threatened or that perilous times are just ahead when every one will be expected to fight for his faith.

We wish to inform the patrons of The News that we have leased it of the Company and they now have nothing, whatever, to do with its publication.

An Editor's Duties.

The editor who wrote the following was "sensible" and level headed and his experience was the same as falls to the lot of many of his brethren:

A newspaper man has no business to seek office. It is his business to get an office for the other fellow; to sound the praise of the candidate and keep quiet his own feelings; to whoop her up for his man, and let his man forget him when elected; to defend his candidate against the unjust attacks of the opposition and see that whatever favors his candidate has to bestow goes to the other fellow.

It is his business to boom the city for all it is worth, month after month, and then see $100 worth of printing go out of the city because ten cents can be saved in doing so. It is the business of a newspaper to give every enterprise a frequent "send off," and then catch sneel because he has failed to record the fact that some permanent citizen had his delivery wagon painted.

The May issue of the Southern States magazine contains a number of interesting articles about North Carolina. Governor Carr writes about the State in general, summarizing its resources and the present state of mineral development.

The current issue appears with a handsome new cover design and the articles are profusely illustrated with a high class of engravings. It is published by the Manufacturers' Record Publishing Company of Baltimore, Md., at $1.50 per year.

A mother whose success in the training of her little folks is something beautiful to behold, believes in "making the punishment fit the crime," and finding this rule to work far better than measures that have no real bearing on the case.

Mr. W. B. Henry has made arrangements with the R. & D. R. R., to run an excursion to Winston on May 29th. As this is the day that old John Robinson's famous circus will be there our people will have a chance to witness it of a very small cost.
