Great numbers of wounded have been brought to Green Bay. The scenes

The accounts of suffering are unparalleled. Clothes, food and money are greatly needed. Great fires are also reported in Calu-

THE DESTRUCTION OF PISHTEGO. The village was situated on Pishtego river, seven miles from Green Bay. It was a nice little town of about 2,000 inhabitants, quite regularly laid out, had fine hotels, stores, churches, schools,

The town is nearly surrounded by pine forests, the suburban portions being built "among the pines."

Men, women and children rushed into the street and, surrounded by fire on all sides, were soon either smothered or burned to the joke. death. In the less exposed portions the people fled to the river, and, jumping in, many were drowned. Some saved their lives by keeping their bod- quirer, Mr. Wright Wiggins, an estimable ies well under water, and once in a and highly respected citizen of this county heat became insufferable. Quite a large portion of the in-habitants ran to a field to the leeward of the fire, and by lying on the ground were saved, although some of these were badly burned. There is but one house left standing, and that is isolated, and lately built of green lumber. EXTENT OF THE FIRES IN MICHIGAN.

Some of them almost literally have to commence the world over again, being nearly as naked as when they were born. The people of Port Huron are in constant receipt of messages asking for provisions and clothing, and the victims of the fire are still of Verona, New River, Sand Beach, Huron City, a portion of Port Hope, Crescent, Center Harbor, Elm Creek, White Rock, Paris, Cracow, Minden, Forrestville, and the Polish settlement near Forrestville, have been destroyed; those on the lake to the very water's edge, as the docks in many instances have been swept away. Immigration. [From the Norfolk Journal.]

The number of emigrants who sailed from the port of Liverpool during the last three months was 40,000-an increase of 5,000 over the number of the previous quarter.

How many out of these 50,000 are about settling in the South, is easy to guess. Exact figures are out of the quesper cent? Decidedly not! Now if there the "Southern Board for Immigration" had been in existence from the beginning of this year, could any one doubt that out of these 50,000 people we could not have secured one-tenth part? This calculation is certainly not a wild one, and adding that from other European ports, an equal number have embarke for America, during the same period, out of which we only claim the same fractional proportion, would that not have made us 10,000 stronger in the space of 90 days?

It is computed that every emigrant brings at least $100 with him in mony and goods; ergo, $1,000,000 lost to the South in three months on account of her lethargy-for want of organization, not for indifference-for that would be despairing.

Then the Echo of Levis (Canada) states that the agent of a French company has purchased immense tracts of land on the East of the Beance, in the neighborhood of the Kenebec; that two hundred and fifty Alsatian and Lorraine families are en route for their "new homes;" that a great influx of French emigration is expected, and that the "pioneers" are well pleased with the country, their prospects and the treatment they receive.

Is this not a contrast? Canada going ahead and the South remaining stationary! Well may we ponder over it. We need representatives in the Old World, men who, without being unjust to Canada or to the Western States, will prove there that our climate is better, and our natural resources greater than in any of those regions the migratory multitudes seem to be infatuated with because they know nothing of us, and because we have never tried to popularize ourselves with them.

Let us not delay a concert of action to create a "Southern Bord of Immigra-tion;" for if we do not take our interests at heart, who will?
