CORRESPONDENCE.

MR. EDITOR:-In the fight in which we have won so glorious a victory over the Democratic seditionists and enemies of equal rights, among those that were most distinguished for eminent service is the editor of the Constitution. Without the unremitted and skillful assistance rendered by you and your coadjutors, the Convention would have been in the hands of our enemies. All honor, therefore, be to W. R. Richardson, editor of the DAILY CONSTITUTION.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

NOTICE.—As it is rumored that I am a Democrat, I take this method of contradicting the report, and request the men who originated itwho are doubtless an enemies of mine-to meet me, either privately or publicly, and I will convince them that they have done me injustice.

I never have nor never will vote the Democratic ticket; and when I die I want to be wrapped in the American flag, with the Constitution in my right hand.

Here a procession was formed, and under the direction of the chief marshal, Col. T. M. Argo, it moved up Fayetteville street to the Capitol, around it to Hillsboro street, and after parading through several other streets, it marched to the old Baptist Grove. Here a large platform had been erected, around which the egregious multitude assembled, and to which the speakers for the occasion then ascended. Cheer after cheer was given as the faces of Governor Brogden, Hon. B. C. Badger, Cols. T. M. Argo and I. J. Young, Maj. W. A. Smith, J. E. Boyd, Esq., of Alamance, Attorney General Hargrove, Gen. W. D. Jones, T. R. Purnell, Esq., and a host of other prominent and influential gentlemen of this State appeared on the stand. The assemblage was called to order, after which Gov. Brogden was vociferously called for, and responded in a speech of about three quarters of an hour in length. It was one of the best and most patriotic speeches we ever heard, and as several good judges have already remarked, it was one of the best efforts of his life. Hon. R. C. Badger followed him in a speech which was neat, rich and racy, and fitted the occasion exactly. Then came J. S. Mason, of Orange, Cols. T. M. Argo, W. F. Henderson, and I. J. Young, Attorney-General Hargrove, Gen. W. D. Jones, T. R. Purnell, Esq., Maj. W. A. Smith, of Johnston, Mr. J. H. Harris and Rev. Mr. Perry. All of these gentlemen made eloquent and brilliant speeches, and thus the enthusiasm was continued until a late hour in the night. About eleven o'clock the meeting adjourned and the crowd dispersed, and here ended one of the grandest torch light and jolification demonstrations, that ever
