For sicknesses of married women, and diseases peculiar to women generally, these waters are strongly en dorsed, after years of proven efficacy. We would advise all ladies to send for catalogues, giving particulars of hundreds of cases. Many may thus learn of the causes and character of their own condition, and of the remedy therefor as well.

In referring to the location of these Springs-this Nature's trinity of curative agencies-the catalogue modestly "These celebrated springs are located in Mecklenburg county, Virginia, occupying a central position in the section of country known as 'Buffalo Hills,' which is broken and rolling, about eight miles square, and at an altitude of 500 feet above the level of the sea, being very similar in general appearance to the country in the vicinity of the Blue Ridge Mountains, known as 'Piedmont Virginia.' "

While this is literally, it is very tamely, true. It is really one of the most picturesque spots that can be found outside a section wholly mountainious.
