THE DULL SEASON

By Recent Comparisons Trade Looks Worse Than It Really Is-Export Business Continues Heavy--Process a shrapuel bullet on the shoulder, -: of Returning to Normal Prices

New York, June 15 .- Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Measured by recent records and recollections of business activity, the present between-seasons duffness seems specially marked, and the seactionary movement of prices makes the trade look worse than it really it. Judged by such indicators as railroad earnings and the statistics of foreign trade, the volume of business doing is considerably larger than a year ago, when it will be recalled that trade was cheerfully active. It is true that bank clearings are considerably smaller than last year, taking the country as a whole, but last year's clearings undoubtedly included much of a speculative character, which is this year almost wholly absent; and yet, outside of the metropolis bank clearings are heavier this year than last. Failures for the week number 180 as week a year ago, 207 in 1898, 226 in 1897 and 265 in 1896.

Readjusting Prices

New York, June 15.-Dun's Review omorrow will say:

A season of declining prices is never wholly agreeable to business men whose stocks on hand are losing part of their value. Yet there are tifmes when a return to the highest prosperity in business is not possible except through readjustment of prices. Having shown for six months that great industries denormal prices, Dun's Review has given in such tables as were printed last week ample proof that this readjustment was story to the windows of the fifth with in wholesome progress.
