

THE STOCK MARKET

Movements Were on the See-Saw Order All Day

OPENING WAS ERRATIC

Early Business Was Dissipated by Aggressive Advance in Gold Properly Then Profit-taking Wiped Out Gains—The Second Hour Saw a Sharp Drop—Later the Market Became Stagnant, but Subsequently Hardened

New York, Jan. 11.—Yesterday's reaction in the market was taken up this morning and reflected in the opening. The majority of the principal stocks showed fractional declines, but giving way to a recovery in the afternoon, which was followed by a tendency to rally. The market was highly irregular, and opening fluctuations were frequent, but almost universally within a point.

The tendency of the market was dissipated by an aggressive advance in the gold properties. Their recovery attracted the granagers and eventually the entire list rose. Average gains were in excess of 1 per cent. The market was again wiped out before 11 o'clock, but a recovery followed, notably St. Paul, Rock Island, Pullman, Sugar and Manhattan.

There was a sharp rally in the second hour, which some of the leading stocks made from the lowest reached 3 in the afternoon. In Northern Pacific and Union Pacific, 2 1/2 in Rockwell and Ohio, 2 1/2 in Sugar and Baltimore, and 1 1/2 in American National Lead fell back a point, and Hudson extending its gain to 1 1/2. Delaware and Tennessee Coal and Oil Company advanced 1/2, and American Smelting moved up 1/2, and eventually the entire list rose. Average gains were in excess of 1 per cent. The market was again wiped out before 11 o'clock, but a recovery followed, notably St. Paul, Rock Island, Pullman, Sugar and Manhattan.
