

Specials

For Today

Tailor-made Suits,
Carpets, Sheetings,
Ladies' Mattings,
Wraps, Underwear.

WHITE GOODS Embroideries.

Piques, Welts,
Nainsooks, Lawns,
Cambrics, Dimities,
Linens, Check Muslins.

Boylan, Pearce & Co.

ALL ABOUT GOLDSBORO

Mrs. Faircloth Dissents from the Judge's Will

THE BANQUET TO AYCOCK

Fellow Townsman of the Governor Elect Give Him a Grand Send-off—Feasting and Flowers, Music and Elegance Contribute to the Enjoyment of the Occasion—Orphans Invited to a Wedding—Three Centennarians

Goldsboro, N. C., Jan. 14.—Special.—The widow of the late Chief Justice W. T. Faircloth dissents from the will of her late husband. Notice of probate was as follows: "State of North Carolina, county of Wayne, Superior Court, before the clerk. In the matter of dissent to the will of W. T. Faircloth, deceased. To the clerk of the Superior Court of Wayne county, North Carolina. The undersigned, E. E. Faircloth, does in person and represents to the court that she is the widow of W. T. Faircloth, deceased, late of Goldsboro, in the county of Wayne, and the said E. E. Faircloth, as widow of said W. T. Faircloth, deceased, hereby formally and expressly dissents from the will of said late husband, W. T. Faircloth, deceased, which will was filed for probate in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court of said county of Wayne, by E. E. Faircloth, executor therein named, on the 24th day of January, 1901, and the said E. E. Faircloth, widow of W. T. Faircloth, deceased, hereby gives notice of her intention to claim and demand the same as if she were the widow of said W. T. Faircloth, deceased, and as if she were the sole executrix of his said estate, all and singular the rights and estates in the real and personal property of her said husband, and W. T. Faircloth, deceased, as if he had died intestate. Witness my hand and seal this 14th day of January, 1901. Signed, E. E. Faircloth, Witness, N. J. Bousie."

The reception and banquet given by the Citizens Club complimentary to our fellow townsman, Governor Charles Bryan Aycock, was quite a success. It was largely attended by prominent citizens and legislative committee members. The president of the Club, in his address, called at the Aycock residence at 8:30 and escorted His Excellency to the club rooms, where he was received by the reception committee composed of Mayor J. E. Peterson, Mr. E. B. Borden, Jr., Nathan O'Berry, Mr. Joseph Rosenthal, Mr. John G. Sizer, who imbibed too freely, but as it was just a case of pure drunk he got off with $3.95.

Richard Smith, also colored, didn't get off quite so light—there were two "D's" in the papers served on him—not only drunk, but disorderly too; the evidence in the "G. D. lent a sideways glance. Richard Smith-ward, and said softly $5.00 and cost for Richard; and it was so.

Goldsboro has three colored citizens who have lived in three centuries and boast in the sunshine yet of the present one. They are Nellie Smith, aged 113 year; Bob Lane, aged 106 years; Geo. Pettiford, aged 103 years. What town in the State can beat that?

J. V. Bryan, field secretary, will visit Raleigh the 16th, Louisburg 17th, Warrenton 18th, Henderson 20th, Durham 21st instant, where he will address the public on the Sunday School idea.

When in Goldsboro, stop at the Imperial Cafe. Convenient to all trains. Special attention paid to travelling men. Menus at all hours. Private dining room for ladies.

PARKER COTTON COMPANY
Solefit Mill Orders,
Goldsboro, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE

Progress on the Artesian Well—Another Wholesale Grocery Store—Smallpox Successfully Treated

Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

The artesian well of the Fayetteville Ice Company has been bored to the depth of about 200 feet—probably something over half the distance to the copious supply of pure water it is expected to reach. The inner pipe casing is expected daily, and with it the work will go rapidly on. The company is greatly improving and enlarging its plant, and will have one of the most complete establishments in the South.

Mr. E. A. Poe, long president of the American Brick Makers' Association, has put in new appliances and machinery at his extensive works in the southern suburbs of the city, and is letting a quantity of brick well known all over the country.

Another wholesale grocery house, of which Mr. J. L. Arnold is to be manager and proprietor, is one of the new enterprises for Fayetteville. The large unused freight warehouse of the Atlantic Coast Line will be engaged for the business.

The new residence of M. W. L. Holt on Haymont street is rapidly taking on shape and proportions under the steady work of the builders. Constructed for comfort as well as beauty, with commodious high-pitched rooms, broad hall and verandas encircling it, while a beautiful pink park slopes off in the rear, it is one of the most desirable properties in the city.

Dr. J. V. McGowan is to be highly commended for his admirable treatment of the smallpox patients here. The cases, mild in form, are well in hand, all having been removed to a distance of several miles beyond the town limits, and there is not a trace of the disease in the city.

Volcanic Eruptions
Are grand, but Skin Eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salves cure them; also Old Running and Fever Sores; Ulcers, Boils, Eruptions, Corns, Itching, Blisters, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Best Plaster cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists.

Large Congregation at the Methodist Church—New Pastor of the Baptist Church—D. L. Hardy at the Point of Death—House Burned Down.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

At night we listened enchanted to an eloquent sermon by the gifted and highly talented Mr. Douglas, the new pastor of the Baptist church. His sermon last night was a brilliant effort, and gave promise of a glorious career in the cause of the blessed Master. His sentences were well rounded and exquisitely polished, and flashed here and there with rare gems of richest metaphor, and emitted a radiance to his flow of thoughts that beamed as brightly as the brilliant stars of a starry night when the leaves of a luxuriant tree were chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

At night we listened enchanted to an eloquent sermon by the gifted and highly talented Mr. Douglas, the new pastor of the Baptist church. His sermon last night was a brilliant effort, and gave promise of a glorious career in the cause of the blessed Master. His sentences were well rounded and exquisitely polished, and flashed here and there with rare gems of richest metaphor, and emitted a radiance to his flow of thoughts that beamed as brightly as the brilliant stars of a starry night when the leaves of a luxuriant tree were chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

REIDSVILLE

Wedding to Take Place Wednesday Night—Five Cotton Mills and a Woolen Mill Doing Business at Spray

Reidsville, N. C., January 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Wednesday night, at the home of Mrs. Shreve, Seales Street, Mr. Walter S. Floyd will be married to Miss Effie W. Williams, a very attractive and popular young lady of this place. Mr. Floyd is a well known painter here, and is justly popular with a large circle of friends.

The little town of Spray, this county, has commenced the new century by putting in motion every wheel in every factory. With the finishing mill, which has just been completed, five cotton mills are now in operation, and the superb old woolen mill is still turning out a larger variety of fabrics than any other mill of the kind in the South. The commodious and modern equipped new hotel has just been thrown open to the public.

Tumor has it that a modern hotel, open house and another big cotton mill will be erected in Reidsville during the new year.

Company G, of Reidsville, always considered the crack company of the Third Regiment, will be in the military parade tomorrow. Capt. R. G. Gladstone, jr., will be in command with forty well drilled men.

The people of Madison voted on the dispensary question Saturday, and by a small majority it was decided to have the dispensary continued.

No Right to Ugliness

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

German at Smithfield

Smithfield, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

The social event of the season was the German given by the Tobacco Board of Trade at the home of Mrs. M. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Smithfield, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. When I heard of King's New Discovery, one bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I cannot say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Respects six 75 cents and $1.00. Write for free trial at all druggists. Every bottle guaranteed.

Preacher Makes a Fine Impression

Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 14.—Special.—Rev. J. M. Wells, Ph. D., of Staunton, Va., who has been called to the First Presbyterian church here to succeed Rev. Peyton H. Hoge, who accepted a call to Warren Memorial Church, at Louisville, Ky., preached for the church yesterday and last night and will make another visit here on Sunday. He made a fine impression. He is a fluent, polished and eloquent pulpit orator. Though only a little over 30 years of age, he has filled important charges at Buena Vista and Staunton, Va.

Fell in the Fire

Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 14.—Special.—Miss Annie Ennett, a white woman aged 18 years, was horribly burned last morning and will probably die from her injuries. She is subject to fits and was seized with one while kindling a fire, fell forward into the flames and lay there until other inmates of the house could get to her. They pulled the burning clothing from her as quickly as possible, but not before she was very painfully burned.

Are grand, but Skin Eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salves cure them; also Old Running and Fever Sores; Ulcers, Boils, Eruptions, Corns, Itching, Blisters, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Best Plaster cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he made no effort to fathom his thoughts with the exchanging flowers of poetic fancy, yet his language was chaste and ornate, and rippled along as pure and as brightly as mountain streamlets when brightest of sunbeams are tangled in their happiness.

WILSON

Wilson, N. C., Jan. 14. Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Dismal day, with leaden skies and chilling winds, very large crowd gathered at the Methodist church on Sunday morning to hear that good and very popular preacher, the thoroughly consecrated Mr. Tyler, for all who had heard him, knew that he would give them a religious feast both wholesome and appetizing. And all came away thoroughly satisfied and perfectly delighted for he gave us most excellent sermon, in which God's goodness and mercy and forbearance and loving kindness and compassionate tenderness were shown in all their depth and breadth and height, and we saw him, not as a stern and relentless judge eager to condemn and to punish but as a kind and tender father anxious to forgive and to bless. And so, that most excellent sermon was precious and comforting, for it had sweetest solace for aching hearts, and was full of invitations to Christ, and not to creed. Mr. Tyler is indeed a most lovable Christian, and an excellent preacher, and while on yesterday he