BOYLAN, PEARCE & CO

nied us by a Democratic Legislature in 1901.

So instead of being opposed to instructing our representatives the dispensary committee claims they will bring about 1,800 votes in the shape of petitions, all the preachers and school teachers of the county, and petitions from some of the best women that God has ever blessed a people with. But now they say at the last moment the dispensary committee have changed front and asked to go into a primary. Well a word of explanation here with that point. The chairman of the Democratic executive committee, Hon. H. L. Cook, who made a grand fight in the last campaign both as chairman and elector, was figuratively sitting cross-legged on the fence, saying there are all my boys, the great fight is man. Now let them play a little, but to let and behold some of his boys began to get mad and roll each other in the mud, and he has become alarmed and got down and said, Look here boys, you will spoil your white uniform and get messed up so that when I want you to go on a dress parade next time you will make you sorry sight. Come, let us get together again and agree about this thing. The dispensary boys said all right. The saigon boys said no, we have you on the run now and will not give up our advantage even in the interest of "peace, sweet peace." As Mr. Cook wrote, See his card in Saturday's Observer. So now we are having the so-called one sided primary today of course. I do not know what will be the result; but write you this in the interest of fair play. Yours truly,

JAMES M. LAMB.

FAYETTEVILLE

This is Court Week—Plans Matured for the Manufacture of Long-leaf Pine Products—Last Dances of the Season

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 19. Correspondence of The Morning Post. Superior Court of Cumberland county is in session this week. Judge Fred Moore presiding. Yesterday was taken up in the important case of Col. C. W. Broadfoot vs. The Town of Fayetteville, in which the plaintiff was represented by Hon. John G. Shaw and Hon. George M. Rose, and the counsel for the defendant were Messrs. D. S. Oates, city attorney, and C. M. Baskin, Raleigh. This was a suit for the recovery of the value of bonds of the defendant corporation held and owned by the plaintiff, and was ably argued by the lawyers on both sides. The speech of Mr. Baskin has been especially highly spoken of as a fine legal argument. On Friday Judge Moore will hear the appeal of Louis Connel, the negro convicted of criminal assault on the person of Mrs. West and sentenced to be hanged. Besides Mr. Baskin, visiting members of the bar are Hon. D. H. McLain of Harrett and Mr. John D. Sneyd of Richmond county.

As The Post correspondent intimated would be the case some days ago, the new company for the manufacture of pine-leaf products will purchase the fine Rankin property at the head of Mallett's pond, in the southern suburbs of the city, and will forthwith establish thereon a complete and extensive plant. Dr. B. H. Singer, the scientific expert of the company, has already rented the Clark residence, on Rowan street, for his family.

The white primary on the question of the dispensary is going on today very quietly. Up to this writing nothing has been heard from the country precincts, but it is generally believed that the vote will be light and anti-dispensary by a large majority, as the pro-dispensary people will pursue the policy of generally ignoring the primary. What they can hope to gain by the method of procedure they alone can say.

The last dance of the ante-letting season took place in the Williams opera house last evening and was a very brilliant affair, with a large number in attendance. Messrs. John C. Thomson and James S. McNeill were the leaders in the German. The choruses were Mrs. J. B. Underwood and Mrs. W. J. A. A. Sheriff McLeod of Robeson county, who was here yesterday with counsel and friends, in bankruptcy proceedings.

General Le Duc, who was secretary of agriculture under the Hayes administration and was afterward with the People's Bank of Fayetteville, is a welcome visitor to Maj. and Mrs. John B. Broadfoot on Haymount.

FAYETTEVILLE DISPENSARY

Another Contribution to an Interesting Discussion

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 19. To the Editor of The Morning Post. In Sunday's Post I find an article taken from the Daily Observer, headed the "Fayetteville Situation." It included one from the Morning Post, and the strange attitude taken by the dispensary advocates in not wishing to instruct through a primary the representatives from Cumberland county in the Legislature. This view of the matter would very naturally prejudice the minds of those not knowing the other side of this question.

Now I do not so much object to a fight, but I have all an Irishman's love of fair play. I believe in the Post I find a kindred spirit. I do not belong to either of the committees; but as you may see from my article in the Observer, I have been trying to keep both to the "Law and Testimony." Now with your permission I will give you the facts in this case.

Last fall Captain Ed. R. MacKethan, our representative from the city, wishing to find out the will of the people, fixed a sort of a double hand petition, so that persons could sign for or against the dispensary. This seems not to have satisfied either side so both parties started petitions of their own and it was understood that this would be the means of instructing our representatives until after the meeting of the Legislature. When the anti-dispensary people found it difficult to get signatures to their petitions, and when the dispensary people had secured fully one-third, perhaps, of the white voters of Cumberland county, they changed their plan and said white primary. I am informed by two of the dispensary committee who went to Raleigh, that all these signatures were entirely ignored in this matter. So they came home and instructed their followers to have nothing to do with the primary called; but to continue existing petitions, claiming that the great right of petition was from King John, and that which was the glory of the Anglo-Saxon race ever since, will not be de-

PUBLIC MASS MEETING

Citizens Confer Together in Regard to Changes in the Charter of Goldsboro—Personal and Local Notes

Goldsboro, N. C., Feb. 19.—Special.—One of the saddest accidents that has ever happened in our county occurred yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ed Gurley, who lives at the old Crawford place in Fork township, went out on the farm for a while, leaving his wife in bed sick, suffering with vertigo. He told her not to get up, but remain quiet and rest. When he returned he found her dressed, lying with her head and shoulders in the fire, dead. It is supposed that she got up and attempted to do some sewing, as she had a piece of work by her, and that she had an attack of vertigo and fell in the fire and was burned to death. She leaves three small children. Mrs. Gurley was the daughter of Mr. M. K. Crawford, sister of Dr. W. B. Crawford and Phil Crawford. She had been married about nine years, and was a splendid lady, highly esteemed by all who knew her. She will be buried tomorrow evening at the M. K. Crawford old homestead.

DIED IN CHURCH

Mrs. Henrietta Williams Expires with-out a Moment's Warning

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 19. Correspondence of The Morning Post. The citizens of Greenville were greatly shocked and thrown into a deep gloom Sunday over the sudden death of Mrs. Henrietta Williams, wife of the late R. Williams, which occurred at the Episcopal church just before the beginning of the morning service. She had been indisposed for about three weeks, and feeling better Sunday morning, decided to attend services. Soon after reaching there and taking her seat and speaking to a few friends, her head fell back and she made a gasp or two and expired. Medical attendance was soon there, but could do no good. She was a devout member of the Episcopal church and was beloved by everybody. She leaves six children—Mrs. W. M. Jones and Mr. J. Williams; Mrs. M. B. Jones; Mrs. Bettie Swindell; Mrs. W. H. Long; Miss Addie Williams and Captain R. Williams, of this place. Her funeral was conducted Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Episcopal church by Rev. F. H. Harding, of Washington, and Rev. H. Harding, rector of the church here.
