

A County Home for Wayne's Needy Veterans

George Butler Will Make the Run Against Thomas—Elm Trees in Goldsboro Will Have to Be Destroyed

Goldboro, N. C., Oct. 6.—Special.—The board of county commissioners are in session today, going over regular routine business. Among the new business items up was the appointment of George Butler, Mr. J. P. Smith, as chairman of the committee to select a site and help to get funds to build a home for indigent ex-Confederate soldiers in this county. There are about twenty such soldiers in the county, and an account of the crowded condition of the State home at Raleigh they cannot find admission there. There is a regular-organized movement among the friends of the old soldiers to build the home, and it is understood that quite a sum has already been subscribed. It is said that the house will be erected in less than twelve months.

Robert Hancock, the wheelhorse Republican of Craven county, was in the city today and gave out or confirmed the news that Maj. George W. Butler of Clinton, a brother of ex-United States Senator Mariah Butler, will be put in the field by the Republicans and Populists combined against Hon. C. R. Thomas for Congress in this district. It is believed that Mr. Thomas will be elected. The combination is so small to do any harm.

There is no doubt that Goldboro will have a hospital which will meet every requirement. At a meeting of the supporters and directors of the Emergency Hospital, held some time ago, it was decided to erect a building for the hospital, and Mr. C. P. Herring, chairman of the board of county commissioners, who, by virtue of his office, is ex-officio chairman of the board of directors of the hospital, was directed to appoint a committee to take the whole matter under consideration. Mr. Herring has made this appointment, as will be seen from the following card, which he requests published:

"At the special annual meeting of the directors of the Emergency Hospital, a motion was adopted directing the undersigned to appoint a committee to take into consideration the whole interest of the hospital with the view of securing a suitable building and of providing for its equipment and support, etc. In compliance with said motion, I have appointed Messrs. Sol Weil, J. E. Peterson, George C. Royall and Dr. Geo. L. Ginn.

"C. P. HERRING, Ex-officio Chairman."

Any attempt to cut down and make away with the many hundred elm trees which add so much to the appearance of the residence section of the city during the spring and summer would be an unpopular move, and yet such a step will have to be taken or the sewerage system, which cost the city $20,000, will be useless in a few months. The spreading roots from the elm trees on the sidewalks are already choking the sewers in a number of places. The city kept a force of hands at work nearly all of last week in boundary street taking up pipe and cleaning out the sidewalks already choking with the cement and had completely clogged the pipe. It is a serious complication and one that everybody regrets, but the trees will have to go.

Among the pleasant features of the Business Men's Fall Festival and Elks Carnival, which begins on the 20th and ends on the 25th, will be a voting contest of the most popular young lady of Goldsboro. This feature will be entered into with much zeal by the many friends and admirers of the several popular young ladies of Goldsboro, and the outcome will be watched with much interest by all. The particulars of the contest will be published later.

Mr. W. N. Parks, who is a great admirer of base ball, and who manages most of the games played in the country round about, reports that LaGrange won a game from Fort Run Saturday by a score of 7 to 0. This ends the season and makes twelve games for LaGrange, having won eight, lost three and tied one. The Park team has played fourteen games, winning ten and losing four. Mr. Parks says this winds up the season.

Damage Suit Against the Erwin Cotton Mills

Boys Who Ran Away With the Circus Caught in Lynchburg—Few Negroes Register

Durham, N. C., Oct. 6.—Special.—The case of T. F. Smith against the Erwin Cotton Mill Company, in which the plaintiff seeks for ten thousand dollars damages on trial before the Superior court. It was called this morning and will probably occupy two days. There is quite an array of counsel on the case. For the plaintiff Guthrie & Guthrie are the counsel, while the defendant is represented by Boone, Bryant & Biggs and Fuller & Winston of this city and P. H. Cabbell of Richmond. Mr. Smith, the plaintiff, was at work for the Erwin company when he was sent to make some repairs in a belt. By some means he was caught in the belt and carried up around the shafting. In his complaint he claims that he was practically ruined for life, being now unable to do any work and that the Erwin company is responsible for his injuries. It is the first damage suit against this company that has come up in our courts and it will be fought to a finish.

The county commissioners were in session today. The board will meet again tomorrow and probably next day as there is considerable business to be disposed of. There was nothing of importance to come up today, most of the two sessions being devoted to regular routine work.

The city aldermen met this evening in regular session. While there are many matters to claim the attention of the board it is not known that there is anything of more than ordinary importance.

Mayor McCown is still confined to his room. He has been ill for a month or more. He can sit up but a few minutes at a time.

It looks now as if the negro will not be in it a little bit in Durham county this year. Saturday closed the first week of the registration period and only six negroes registered in Durham township, there being twelve precincts. A total of 228 white people registered. This is a good registration of white voters considering the fact that it was the first week.

When Robinson's circus left here Clarence Harper and Brent Overman, 14 and 16 years of age, went with it. The boys were arrested in Lynchburg and Chief Woodhall went after them, reaching home Saturday night. The boys had secured positions as waiters in the circus restaurant and were at work when the officers went for them.

Mrs. M. G. Markham, wife of ex-Alderman Markham, is in Baltimore, where she is under treatment at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. She was accompanied by Dr. Z. T. Brooks. It is expected that she will have to remain there for some time.

Last night Rev. W. L. Cunningham, pastor of Main Street Methodist church preached on card playing. It was one of a series of sermons on the pleasures of life. A large crowd was out to hear him.

Dr. J. C. Kilgo preached at St. Joseph's A. M. E. church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. In addition to the large number of colored people who were out to hear him there were a goodly number of white people present.

Delightful People in Eastern Carolina Towns

A Post Correspondent Takes a "Swing Around the Circle" and Writes Some Observations

Correspondence of The Morning Post.

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 6.—Since my last communication to The Morning Post I have been "swinging round the circle," and I will set down some of the impressions made upon my short itinerary. The crops are much better than I expected to find, and the people are more prosperous and are in a better financial condition than they have been since the war. Farmers who had to mortgage their land to get supplies to run them through the year are now out of debt and have money to lend. The harvest of grain and cotton have been up to the mark, and there is no danger of any shortage in the market. In the towns of Eastern Carolina there is a more cheerful and brighter outlook than in the North. The people are more contented and are more ready to pay tribute for the improvement and comfort of the whole. In many places the people are more modern in their tastes and are more ready to accept of new ideas. In the towns of Eastern Carolina there is a more cheerful and brighter outlook than in the North. man than Jack Read never "shot at that hole in the tree where the squirrel made out. And he has three of the brightest, handsomest boys that ever gave a charm to marriage. And we also had the pleasure of hearing the Methodist pastor, the talented and gifted Mr. Buffalo, who is destined to be one of the most prominent of the conference, for even now he is a fluent, graceful, impressive speaker, using the most beautiful language, in which are sparkling some of the richest metaphors, and when he secured Rose Cecelia Shay, the famous young American prima donna, to head his grand opera company. Miss Shay has had pressing offers to go back to La Scala Opera House in Milan, but she prefers to win the plaudits of her own countrymen.

PAUL GILMORE COMING

Paul Gilmore will present "Haddon Chambers' comedy of temperament 'The Tyranny of Tears,' at the Academy of Music on Friday night, October 10, supported by a cast of players which Jules Murry picked from the best of New York's society actors and actresses. Gilmore is handsome, very well known in earnest and earned his position as a star in "Under the Red Robe" and as theashing, impetuous King's Musketeer D'Arzacqnan, who kills a man in a street brawl and to make amends to the widow proposes to her. In Haddon Chambers' play he takes the part of a literary man, working hard up, the crowning effort of a successful career, but harassed by a domestic tyranny, which unnerves and distresses him and eventually leads to a temporary separation between his tyrant wife and himself. She is a Shakespearean coquette "loving jealousy" and the author has a lively time pacifying her and doing his literary work. Haddon Chambers' concentrated all his power upon this well known dramatic effort of his which ran for two years in London at the Criterion, with Charles Wyndham as Clement Parbury, the part Paul Gilmore plays so gracefully. It is a pure, wholesome comedy interpreted by an excellent cast of players and has the advantage of being staged by Charles Forsyth, who acted in the original London production.

LIFE IS OLD VIRGINIA.

"Life's Great Lesson is a dramatic story laid among the valleys of old Virginia, and the play comes to the Academy of Music on Thursday night, October 10th, matinee and night, after a series of successful presentations on the road with a wealth of scenic and mechanical effects, and a company of the very best artists. The typical southerner is an interesting character, and in "Life's Great Lesson" he is not overdrawn. To mirror nature perfectly the play is produced with special scenery and mechanical effects, all carried.

MATERIAL FOR NOVELS

It May Be Had for the Searching in North Carolina

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 6.—Special.—Col. Joseph M. Morehead, who is always engaged in some valuable historic and traditional work connected with colonial and revolutionary times, is the recipient of the following delightful letter from the great genius, Edward Everett Hale, and has been prevailed upon to give it out for publication.

Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 29, 1902.

Dear Colonel Morehead: I am very much obliged to you for the pamphlets which you are kind enough to send me through our friend, Mr. Benson. I wish some of you North Carolina gentlemen would hunt up the descendants of Daniel Defoe, the author of Robinson Crusoe, who lived somewhere in North Carolina. I think that the great Englishman himself came over here. I think that accounts for his very accurate knowledge of affairs in the Southern States shown in "Captain Jack."

There is another thing which ought to be looked for in some old storehouse in Wilmington. Oliver Goldsmith, the poet, meant to emigrate to North Carolina. He packed his trunk and put it on board the ship; the ship waited for the tide, and while it waited Goldsmith changed his mind and never came to America. But the trunk came and is somewhere in Wilmington, unless Lord Cornwallis stole Goldsmith's shirts and stockings. Some of our young people ought to make a novel out of this. It has a much larger foundation than most historical novels have.

With great respect, dear sir, I am,

Truly yours,

EDW. E. HALE.

MAN-TAILORED SUITS For Ladies and Misses.

Today we are showing the late arrivals in Misses' and Ladies' Suits. The Walking Suits, which are so much in vogue elsewhere, can be seen here in the different style jackets and walking length skirts in all the popular fabrics and colors of the season. Great many people mistake the walking length skirt for rainy-day skirt; but such is not the case. The walking skirts are dressy and sensible, being the same length all around and just barely escaping the ground. Some of the most effective suits of the kind are made of flake material—black, blue, brown, and green, with white flake. The coats are in loose and tight-fitting styles, while the skirts are invariably plain with slot, strap or double-stitched seams, with inverted pleats at bottom. Prices of these suits vary from $12.50 to $30, and you'll find first-class workmanship in each garment. Other suits with the dress or train skirt are here also in plain and fancy materials, black and colors. Prices of these range from $10 to $40.

SILK SKIRTS.

In black only, are as much in favor today as ever. Many new ones are now on display, strictly man-tailored and of the best black Taffeta and Peau de Soie. The styles are mostly exclusive and very difficult to imitate. The prices range from $8.50 to $25 each, and are extremely low in price for the quality.

MONTE CARLO JACKETS.

Made of black Taffeta and Peau de Soie, is an indispensable garment to a lady's wardrobe this season. The graceful, stylish appearance of the "Montecarlo" make it a staple garment and not a passing fad. 27x30 inch lengths are the best, and are here in all sizes, ranging in price from $12.50 to $25 each.

CLOAKS

For ladies, misses and children, are here in a larger and better assortment than ever. Only today can we boast of a complete stock. There's no feminine member of the family but what we can fit and supply the correct garment. Rain Coats are also in this department, correct lengths, shapes colors; 2 prices, $10 and $15 each.

UNDERWEAR

For the winter. You'll need them, so buy now while the assortment is complete. We are agents for the "Forest Mills" Underwear, and carry a complete line for ladies, babies, misses, children and boys—in all wool, all cotton and mixed—vests, pants, combination suits—tights, wrappers and corset covers.

A REPUBLICAN COMPLAINT Democratic Registrar Refuses to Let Names Be Copied from His Book

Louisburg, N. C., Oct. 6.—The Morning Post: The Republicans at this place are indignant today over what they claim to be high-handed action on the part of the registrar in Louisburg precinct. Mr. P. A. Reavis, chairman of the Republican executive committee upon being asked about the matter made the following statement:

"Some days ago, Mr. Harris, candidate for which I hereby tender your your request here for permission to inspect the registration books and Mr. Cooke, refused. Afterwards he made another demand, then Mr. Cooke said he might inspect the books but could make no notes of the names thereupon. Today I made written demand upon the registrar in these words: 'I hereby ask you to permit me to inspect the registration books for this precinct in your presence and at such time and in such manner as will not interfere with or inconvenience you in the discharge of the duties of your office as registrar, and during such inspection to make such notes, memoranda or copies as I may desire. If you refuse this, then I ask you to furnish me a copy of the names and other entries upon said registration book for which I hereby tender your your fees.' He refused to allow me to inspect the books if I made any notes of the names on them or copy of what I saw and refused to furnish me a copy of such names. This action I consider illegal and high-handed. The law gives any voter the right to challenge any names registered at any time, and that right cannot be exercised if he is not permitted to make a memorandum of the names registered."

It looks as if we are not going to be fairly dealt with.

E. F. YARBOROUGH.

[The law, Sec. 19, copied in this issue of the Post, provides for an inspection of the books on Saturday preceding the election. Whether an elector has the right to so inspect during the period of registration is doubtful.—Post.]
