

A Profitable Week for the Teachers of Wayne

Thomas and Butler Go Up Against the Carnival and Have Few to Hear Them Speak

Goldboro, N. C., Oct. 24.—Special.—The Wayne County Teachers' Institute which has been in session in this city since Monday adjourned this afternoon. The institute has been well attended by the public school teachers of the county, who have received instruction which will prove invaluable to them in the discharge of their duties during the coming term of the schools. Among the lectures delivered during the week that of Miss Sallie Kirby yesterday afternoon was one of the best. Miss Kirby holds a position on the faculty of the Kinston graded school and she had been especially invited to deliver the lecture, which was on the betterment of the physical condition and surroundings of the country school houses. Miss Kirby is president of the state association recently organized for the promotion of this praiseworthy work, and she presented it to the teachers of our county yesterday in such beautiful thought and language, with such earnestness of interest and with such scope of opportunity for advancing the work, as she pointed out, that when she had finished her talk an association for promoting the work in this county was at once organized, and every teacher present as well as a number of others who had come to hear, enrolled their names, and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President—Mrs. W. R. Hollowell. Vice-Presidents—Misses Bettie Howell and Charity Atkinson. Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Jessie Jenkins. The membership of this association is not confined to teachers, but any one interested in promoting the work are eligible and all such are earnestly requested to apply to the secretary for membership. Hon. C. R. Thomas and Hon. Geo. F. Butler met here yesterday in joint debate in the court house. There a very small number out to hear them. The business men are too busy to attend political speakings in the day and besides the carnival is going on here this week and is the principal attraction. The speakers were each given one hour and fifteen minutes with 30 minutes for rejoinder. Mr. Butler spoke first and discussed the tariff, education and state issues. Mr. Thomas consumed his time in replying to statements made by his opponent. The small audience was composed of Democrats in the main with only a few old time Republicans. They both went to Fremont today which appointment closes their joint debate in this county.

The rate to the State Fair at Raleigh next week will be one first class fair for the round trip plus fifty cents for admission to the fair. The schedule is convenient for those who wish to go and return the same day. The regular train which leaves here at 7:20 every morning will be held in Raleigh on the return trip until 5 o'clock in the afternoon on October 28th, 29th and 30th, which will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The Merchants' Fall Festival and Pythian Carnival of Wilmington will begin on the 3rd of November and continue until and including the 8th. The Atlantic Coast Line will sell round trip tickets to Wilmington during that time at a very low rate. The low rate tickets will only be on sale November 5th, 6th and 7th, good to return until November 9th. The people of Wilmington promise royal entertainment for visitors.

The report circulated here this morning that the negro who attempted to outrage Mrs. Johnson near Princeton Tuesday had been caught near Keokuk, proved untrue. It is thought now that the negro came on toward Pikeville and after getting on the railroad jumped a freight train and has made his escape.

A Tremendous Success Was the Greensboro Fair

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 24.—Special.—The Carolina Central Fair for 1902 will soon be numbered among the things that were, and will join the ranks of brilliantly successful public events of the city in this year of grace, and in that bright galaxy will shine with purest ray serene, or words to that effect. Without reference to the excellency of the exhibits again, the number of people attending each day and night has been phenomenal. On the opening day the gate receipts indicated an attendance of 4,000. Wednesday it went up to 5,000, and yesterday the biggest crowd of people ever seen west of Raleigh at one time at a fair for admission gathering was in the fair grounds. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a conservative estimate would be 10,000. The grounds were full, the immense grandstand crowded, every place of exhibit full, midway shows and all—some citizens, etc. And there were plenty of people outside the gates and in the city trading, etc.

The weather has had a great deal to do with the crowds, of course, but the really excellent fair, and Greensboro's central location and reputation for taking good care of people by having excellent hotel facilities, all combined to make the fair-taking the four days and nights all together—probably the most successful local fair ever held in the South. Steps will soon be taken to move the State Fair from Raleigh to Greensboro, and with the editorial leverage of the Charlotte Observer and the splendid wedge-like and prizing force of the Greensboro Telegram, Record, Patriot, Christian Advocate and other influential publications, this herculean feat can easily be accomplished, and also not to be forgotten is the promise of a few soft phrases from this correspondent.

Seriously, though, what Greensboro needs now that this six solid months of revelry in capturing, launching, entertaining and feeling good over great public and well deserved reputation for doing such things in a royal manner for the stranger within her gates, is to shut her gates in that respect tight for about one solid year, and look closely into the needs, the health and comfort and conditions of those who are some of her bone and flesh of her flesh—the residents and tax-payers of her municipality. Her streets, sewers, water supply, tax budget, city council sadly need to have every eye and every energy and every cent focussed upon them to the exclusion of everything else until these crying local and imperative needs, so long predicted and promised home people, are supplied. Please print this mild suggestion as coming from a loving friend of the city, but recently sorely tried in the furnace of affliction—no water about it, not even sewer water, except an open one in front of his residence. Selah.

WATSON SPEAKS IN FAYETTEVILLE

Correspondence of The Morning Post. Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 24.—At 8 o'clock last evening Hon. C. B. Watson addressed a very fine audience in the court room, including a large number of women prominent in Fayetteville society. In opening the meeting Mr. H. L. Cook gracefully welcomed the distinguished visitor, who was introduced by Maj. E. J. Hale in an eloquent tribute to his career as a Confederate soldier, his illustrious services to Democracy, notable in the gubernatorial campaign of 1896, and to his senatorial candidacy, his success in which would give pleasure to the people of North Carolina.

Mr. Watson, after acknowledgment of the cordiality of his greeting, took himself at once to the discussion of the great questions of the hour. He contrasted North Carolina's present condition of restfulness and security with that of a few years back, and urged that by a great victory at the polls next month, we conform that into a lasting peace, that we might be free to devote our energies to industrial advancement. He showed the course of the national Republican party on the tariff and trusts, as being so dependent on the great benefactions and campaign contributions of over-weening monopolies that it was both unable and unwilling to legislate fairly for the interests of all classes of the people. He portrayed the coal strike, the meat trust and the Standard Oil Company, rich enough to buy three states like this, with enough left over to run its business, and reviewed the Democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue. He denuded that either he or the Democratic party was warring against corporations or capital. When they were managed in a spirit of justice he bid them God speed. He sketched the rise of the farmers' clubs, the Alliance, and then the dissatisfaction whereby in 1894 50,000 Democrats were deluded into disaffection by Butler, Skinner and Thompson, and the scandal and corruptions in the state government under Fuson and Republicanism from 1896 to 1899. He showed that in thirty-five years North Carolina had expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in the education of the negro, only to be confronted by the conviction that it had failed to fit him for citizenship; and at the remarkable educational meeting in Salem northern men, in public address had admitted this to be the truth.

The close of his fine speech was an earnest, patriotic, eloquent plea to those who, dissatisfied for some cause, were turning their faces toward Republicanism. There was not a word of abuse; it was an appeal from friend to friend.

The Humke Hardware Company and the Armfield Wholesale Grocery Company will erect brick and iron warehouses on upper Hay street, in what was known as the Baker lot, and on Franklin street the Hardware company will build another warehouse, to be leased to Mr. A. S. Huxte.

Henry Blount at Reidsville

Correspondence of The Morning Post. Reidsville, N. C., Oct. 24.—Mr. Henry Blount delighted a large audience here Thursday night in his impersonations of Rip Van Winkle and Solon Shingle. As an actor, a mimic, an orator and humorist he ranks high with any of our men on the stage and his future grows brighter every year. Mr. Blount acted the part of each character well but as Solon and Rip he was especially good.

KITCHIN AT NEWTON

Catawba Will Give Four Hundred Democratic Majority

Correspondence of The Morning Post. Newton, N. C., Oct. 24.—Hon. W. W. Kitchin spoke here today to a good-sized audience. He made a forceful presentation of Democracy's principles, dwelling on the Philippines, tariff, trusts and state issues. It was one of the best speeches heard here this campaign.

The canvass of the county candidates has been going on for the last week. Very good crowds have been in attendance and the candidates are in fine spirits over the prospects. "We will carry the county by at least four hundred," said Mr. Self, the legislative aspirant. So far only two negroes have registered in the county.

Preparing for Vanderlip

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 24.—Special.—Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has completed arrangements for the big banquet to be given tonight week in honor of Hon. F. A. Vanderlip of New York, vice-president of the National City Bank, and assistant secretary of the treasury under President McKinley. Mr. Vanderlip will speak on commercial matters. He will be given a royal time while in Wilmington.

The Campaign in Iredell

Correspondence of The Morning Post. Statesville, N. C., Oct. 23.—The last weeks of the campaign in Iredell are getting warm. Congressman Klutz has been in the county this week. He has made two speeches in Statesville—one last night in the court house, and one today in the court house. Mr. Klutz is deservedly popular here and is always listened to with pleasure. His arguments yesterday on national issues were simply unanswerable, and it is no wonder that Spencer Blackburn is afraid to meet him.

Blackburn is in Iredell this week but he did not make his appointments until Klutz's were announced and then took pains to go to the opposite end of the county. Blackburn is known everywhere to be as vain as a dude. He is showing this by distributing right and left buttons with his pictures on them. But to cap the climax he has had hundreds of 15x20 chromo pictures of himself in a supposedly striking attitude printed and they are being circulated everywhere.

SPEAKING AT WELDON

Independents Keep Up Their Courage Under Unfavorable Conditions

Weldon, N. C., Oct. 24.—Special.—The independent candidates on the Halifax county ticket had a speaking here at Emery's Hall last night. The audience was large and was composed of the most influential citizens of the town and surrounding country, nearly all of whom will vote the regular straight Democratic ticket. In fact, it was enough to discourage and dishearten less zealous men than the independents. But they stood up to the rack and faced the music. The whole burden of their speeches was a rehashing of the barbecue at Halifax in August, and the paying of Dr. Green three cents each for his splendid service in treating over two hundred cases of smallpox.

W. C. Whitaker, a brother of Independent Chairman Whitaker, who is a good Sunday school worker, but a poor politician, said his wife had a letter from somebody's wife, in which she begged him to get out of politics, as they would send him to the G. I.; that her husband was a politician, and she had long since given him up to the evil one.

The independents refused to divide time with Senator E. L. Travis, who was here to reply; and as soon as they had used up their last speaker they all rushed from the hall, thinking, perhaps, that

"He that fights and runs away, May live to fight another day."

Mr. Walter Gray of Scotland Neck, the champion of the independent cause in the county, came near shedding tears in his speech over the Halifax barbecue and the loss of so much hard and trimmings.

Senator Travis answered fully every argument they advanced, and showed conclusively that they were dwindling away, and that the last straw that broke the camel's back was when they issued a little sheet called "Facts," which was, in reality, nothing but errors.

The regular ticket will carry the county by 2,000 majority. The independents can console themselves by taking in the Fair.

OUTLOOK IN HARNETT

The County Will Go Democratic by a Thousand

Correspondence of The Morning Post. Spout Springs, N. C., Oct. 22, 1902.—The Democratic candidates in Harnett county spoke in this township today. There was a large and enthusiastic crowd of Democrats present and heard every speaker. Mr. H. L. Godwin candidate for the State Senate made an able and instructive speech on State politics and county affairs amid the enthusiastic cheers of the people who hung upon the words as they fell from his lips. Mr. Godwin is an able speaker and he arraigned the fastidious gang for their false charges against the white people of the State and their incompetent administration of the affairs under their administration from 1895 to 1898.

Mr. T. W. Harrington, our House nominee, made a sound and logical speech, presenting the issues in a plain and forceful style. He will be elected in Harnett by a majority of over one thousand as will all the rest of the ticket, the county ticket including Sheriff Salmon, Register of Deeds Hallovay and many of the others will run ahead of the ticket.

Pou in Chatham

Pittsboro, N. C., Oct. 22, 1902.—Hon. E. W. Pou, one of the State's most gifted orators, has been making some telling speeches for Democracy through Chatham for the last few days. There was quite a crowd out to hear him last night at Bynum, five miles from here, and all pronounce his speech the ablest they have heard. Politics is at a high pitch in our county now. Both sides are claiming it by safe majorities. So far as I can learn there have only eighteen negroes registered in the county.

Mr. S. A. Perry, brother to Rev. Bacon Perry of the North Carolina conference, died at his home near here yesterday of typhoid fever. He was a good citizen and will be greatly missed in this community.

Well, my son, what did you learn at school today? Not to sass Tommy McNutt!—Chicago Daily News.
