"On motion, a committee—Benham Cameron, Capt. S. A. Ashe and W. J. Saunders—was appointed to present the matter before a meeting of the city authorities.

A RALEIGH MAN'S REMINISCENCE

Tells of a Man Who Pained His Wooden Leg

Raleigh has a citizen with a store of reminiscences that can hardly be equaled by anyone. A number of men were talking in a cafe at a late hour a few nights ago, and the conversation drifted around to pained-wooden legs and pained-wooden legs. Of course the old year's pained-wooden leg, but the one following was a poser: "Speaking of queer pained-wooden legs, remarked one of the older members of the gathering, 'I have never had anybody try to borrow money on a glass eye, but they have brought me their false teeth and their artificial legs. I ran a place in a southern coastal town and there was an old sailor who came in to see me regularly every Saturday and Monday with a wooden leg. "He had two wooden legs; one a good clockwork affair and the other an ordinary one. The good one he wore Sundays. He used to tell me that he was courting a widow who didn't know he had a bad prop. After seeing her on Sunday, the following day he would bring me the leg and borrow ten dollars on it. Saturday he always called to turn up. After a few days he was found dead in his room. The widow had discovered his wooden leg and kicked him. He committed suicide."

The Prisoner of Zenda

The attraction at the Academy of Music on Wednesday night, March 4th, will be the dramatized edition of the team of Anthony Hope's genius "The Prisoner of Zenda." This fascinating story is to a greater or less degree familiar to all, and its intense situations, episodes of thrilling adventures, originally conceived and so brilliantly executed, have made this play the one successful romance of the age. Plays have come and plays have gone, but the popularity of "Zenda" like that of the bubbling brook runs on forever. Its success this season has far exceeded in the line of attendance that its previous achievements, enormous audiences greeting this attraction wherever presented. The same scenic tender that signaled the New York production has been duplicated in its entirety by Mr. Ernest Shipman, who directing the present tour. A long list, headed by that exceptionally clever romantic actor, Joseph Selman, appearing as "Rudolf, King of Ruritania," and the beautiful Florence Gale, as the Princess Flavia," will be found on the program. Lovers of an evening's entertainment that is both for the imagination, pleasing to the fancy, satisfying the intellect and thrilling the senses, should not miss seeing "The Prisoner of Zenda."

A. and M. College Display

One of the most beautiful and important displays of A. and M. College work is on exhibit in one of the show windows of Higgs & Co.; an especially noticeable feature is that of the text department, including as it does, specimens of ladies' dresses, draped, shirt waist materials, etc., added and worn by students at the college. It is doubtful if as fine work is done anywhere in the south. There are also designs on paper wrought out by students at the college. There are fine specimens of work in iron, steel and wood, including a number of graceful tables, etc. The display is well worth looking at and reflects credit on the institution.

CATARH THIRTY YEARS. The Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman—Congressman Meekison Gives Pe-ru-na a High Endorsement.

Congressman Meekison of Ohio.

Hon. David Meekison is well known not only in his own State, but throughout America. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State. Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue. He writes: "I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

IN FOR A CONTEST

Senator Morgan to Have a Trial of Endurance

Washington, Feb. 25.—Senator Quay and his Republican and Democratic allies in the statehood fight are endeavoring to find some means to revive the corpse of the Republican compromise measure, offered to the Democrats and rejected by the caucus action yesterday. A conference was held this evening and the matter talked over at length, but no plan of action was decided upon; and, in fact, no assurances were given that the Democrats would reverse their action. The statehood senators were told, on the other hand, that the Republicans will stand by their bargain and pass the compromise measure in twenty-four hours if Quay can persuade the Democrats to vote for it.

A new feature was added to the Senate situation this evening also by the announcement of Senator Morgan that he had gained his second wind and is again determined to talk the Panama canal treaty to death if it is necessary for him to take the floor and hold it from now until the 4th of March. Notwithstanding this threat the Republican leaders declare it to be their purpose to go into executive session as soon as the sundry civil and naval appropriation bills and the Aldrich financial bills are disposed of, and remain in continuous session long enough for Mr. Morgan to have a fair chance to test his physical and mental powers.

All that Mr. Morgan can hope to accomplish by inaugurating a new filibuster program is to force the Senate to spend two or three weeks in extra session after the 4th of March to ratify the Panama canal and Cuban reciprocity treaties. More than enough votes to ratify them both are pledged now, and after the 4th of March they will be reinforced by the votes of several new senators. The treaties can in no way be affected by the threatened delay, as the government is perfectly satisfied with the pending negotiations regarding the option purchase from the canal company, and the time for ratifying the Cuban treaty has already been extended. If Mr. Morgan, therefore, forces the treaties over to the extra session it will be a case of pure pigheadedness. A continuous session, however, beginning tomorrow or as soon as the appropriation bills are disposed of, may possibly bring the senator to term.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING CELEBRATED AT WELDON Mr. W. F. Fitzhugh Led to Hymen's Altar Miss Mary Zollicoffer

Weldon, N. C., Feb. 25.—Special.—The Methodist Episcopal church was the scene of a brilliant wedding yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which hour Mr. Waverly Bell Fitzhugh of Northampton county, was married to Miss Mary Esther Zollicoffer, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Zollicoffer. Rev. W. D. Rose, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. The church was artistically decorated under the skilful management of Mrs. F. W. Garrett, a noticeable feature being a large heart made of evergreens and suspended just back of the pulpit, while potted plants and choice flowers were profusely arranged about the chancel.

At the hour appointed and just as the bridal party entered the vestibule, Mrs. W. T. Shaw sang with exquisite taste, "Believe." Then Miss Laura Powers, who presided at the organ, began the grand old Mendelssohn march, and the attendants came in as follows, walking in single file down right and left aisles: Misses Susie and Nannie Zollicoffer, two little sisters of the bride, who were ribbon girls. Mr. John Ellis and Miss Jessie Edwards, first bride's maid. Mr. W. M. Cohen and Miss Virgie Suter. Mr. Joseph Suter and Miss Bertha Allen.

Mr. S. R. Clary and Miss Alice Joyner. Then came the bride, who wore a handsome going-away-gown of champagne broad cloth, and carrying bride's roses; with her was her maid of honor, Miss Patty Bell Summerell, who was gowned in gray crepe de shene, and carrying a bouquet of bridesmaid's roses, and wearing black picture hat. The bridegroom entered with his best man, Mr. Edwin T. Zollicoffer, and at the chancel rail the contracting parties formed, and then Rev. W. W. Rose, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. The church was darkened and there were red and white electric lights, giving a soft and pleasing effect, the owners of the electric plant having kindly offered to run the lights during the marriage.

Those who acted as ushers were Messrs. F. W. Garrett, T. C. Harrison, R. S. Travis and W. H. Joyner. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh left via the Atlantic Coast Line for an extended trip north. They will visit Niagara Falls during their journey and will spend a few days in Canada. The bride is an exceedingly handsome young lady, and is noted for her lovely disposition of heart and mind and is a general favorite in social circles and greatly beloved by all.

Mr. Fitzhugh is a splendid young man, and popular with every one, and is to be congratulated in his good fortune in winning for a bride one of Weldon's loveliest young women.

RIDGEWAY CONCERT COMPANY WAS GOOD

It Played at the N. C. East Night Before a Packed Auditorium

When an auditorium full of people applauds as a whole and endores two or three times each performer of a part, the performer must certainly do his work well. The Ridgeway Concert Company played last night at the Baptist University under the auspices of the University and the A. and M. College. The auditorium was packed. Miss Ridgeway exercised great taste in her selections for her recitations and the audience showed its appreciation of her work. It was excellent. The hand clapping of a hall full of people makes a lot of noise and that noise materialized when Mr. Jenkins sang the Sword of Ferrara. He was encored three times. Mr. Jenkins' rendition of music with his tenor was fine and his voice took the high bars beautifully. Mr. Hunt's bass was strong and had a pretty inflection. Such concert companies usually have a weak spot but the weakness failed to show last night. Mr. Paradis is a clever pianist.

RIGHTS OF NEGROES

A Question as to Juries Argued in Supreme Court

Washington, Feb. 25.—A negro attorney admitted yesterday to the bar of the supreme court, today argued a case before the tribunal coming on appeal from the state of South Carolina. John Brownfield, a negro, was indicted in Georgetown county for murder, convicted and sentenced to death. The panels of the grand and petit juries dealing with his case contained no negroes. For that reason, defendant's attorney moved to quash the indictment, setting forth the fact, charging discrimination on account of color, and offering to introduce evidence to support these grounds. The offer to make proof was not a part of the motion. It was overruled. On appeal the judgment of the trial court was affirmed by the supreme court of South Carolina, that tribunal holding that in order to introduce the proof offered in behalf of defendant, the offer must be contained in the motion to quash. From that judgment Brownfield appealed to the supreme court of the United States. In presenting the case, Whipple laid stress upon the point that the proceedings in the local courts amounted to a denial to the defendant of the equal protection of the laws and that conviction was secured without that due process of law required by the constitution.

Whipple was heard with interest by a large crowd of spectators. He is a leader of his people in South Carolina and was lieutenant governor of the state in the reconstruction period.
