on Gross Receipts--Railroad Franchise Tax Remains in Revenue Bill. Work of Two Sessions of State Senate Yesterday

Three hours of the four-hour morning session of the State Senate yesterday was devoted to the consideration of the Revenue bill, and at 8:30 it was again resumed.

There were some interesting changes made in it, and the discussion at times became quite animated-especially the little passage-at-arms between Senators Henderson and Justice. All these incidents are particularly referred to in the detailed account below.

The Raleigh extension bill did not pass at the morning session, though it was reached on the third-reading calendar. Lieutenant-Governor Turnes. supposing it would provoke a long discussion, held it up as the hour for the special order was only a few minutes distant. From a statement made by Senator Norris to the writer later, it would seem, however, that so far as he is concerned there will be no discussion, or further opposition to the measure.

The divorce bill is made the special order for noon today.

The House bill appropriating $50,000 (from the agricultural board fund) to the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Raleigh for the erection of an agricultural building, provoked hot opposition from a number of senators. and after passing second reading, it was held up till today, and made a special order for 11 o'clock this (Thursday) morning.

The bill had been placed on the calendar without being referred to a committee, and several senators objected to that course.
