

THE STOCK MARKET

Active Trading and Selling Pressure at the Outset. Efforts to Turn the Tide Had But Little Effect

New York, March 4.—Trading was active at the outset and there was a renewal of yesterday's selling pressure in a few stocks, notably Wabash preferred and Southern Pacific, which lost large fractions.

The uncertain movement of prices did not last long, as the bears renewed their aggressive selling of yesterday and soon forced the list down sharply. Selling gains were turned into losses and the list generally sold well under yesterday's close.

Prices crept slowly upward, despite the limited demand, and earlier losses were largely reduced or cancelled. Steady buying of Manhattan had a strengthening effect and the absence of selling pressure encouraged some demand for the long account.

Stocks were bid up again in sympathy with Brooklyn Transit, which gained a point. Trans-continental stocks were in better demand and sold at their best prices.

Relaxation of the pressure to liquidate encouraged the bidding up of Amalgamated and Manhattan about a point by these stocks. A few other stocks hardened, notably Missouri Pacific and New York Central, but the market generally was practically lifeless at about last night's closing level.
