A MAN OF BRAINS

What Dr. Crum's Brother Says of Him

New York, March 12.—If the appointment of Dr. W. D. Crum, the colored man whom President Roosevelt wants to be a collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., falls, as has been predicted, a member of Crum's family will breathe easier. Henry D. Crum, a brother of the candidate, opens armoire doors for the patrons of a florist at Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street. He believes that if his brother should become collector of Charleston some hot-headed southerner will murder him. "My brother is 'bout as smart as they make them," said Henry today, "and he can transact the work of collector of the port or that of president of the United States. He's got a wonderful brain and has made himself what he is. I've read the life of George Washington, and I'm convinced that Washington did not have the brain my brother has. Washington was a good soldier, but he was not so very brainy. But I hope my brother doesn't get the job. If he is appointed I'm afraid some hot-headed southerner will shoot him. I have not a doubt that there are a lot of men down south who feel so on the subject that they would murder him. And if one of them did shoot him he would say in court that my brother insulted a woman and that would end the whole matter. "I have a lot of respect for my brother, but I think he is wrong in trying to get that appointment. Why, he's one of the best doctors in Charleston and owns his own drug business there, and every bit of his success he's made himself."

ALL OVER SOON

The Senate May Be Ready to Adjourn in Ten Days

Washington, March 12.—If the present purposes of the Senate Republicans are carried out, the extraordinary session of the Senate will end within ten days. A tentative agreement has been reached, providing for the ratification of the Panama canal treaty and the Cuban reciprocity treaty next week. A meeting of the Republican Senators will be held tomorrow morning and a formal program will be adopted, to cover the agreement. According to the arrangement made in executive session today the Panama canal treaty will be voted upon next Tuesday. Monday will be devoted to disposing of amendments, and Tuesday there will be two hours of general debate. The proceedings of both days, including the votes on various amendments proposed, will be made public together with the speeches of Senator Morgan already delivered and one to be made tomorrow with regard to the agreement between the United States and the new Panama Canal Company for the purchase of their rights and property. The adoption by the foreign relations committee today of amendments to the Cuban treaty, providing that it shall not become operative until approved by Congress, has removed practically all opposition and made it certain that the treaty will be ratified by a large majority. There will be a few speeches against it by Senator Teller of Colorado and the Louisiana Senators, but no attempt will be made to defeat the treaty. There are a number of Republican senators who believe that some of the amendments proposed to the Panama canal treaty by the Democrats should be adopted, but they have yielded to the argument that if the treaty were sent to Colombia in an amended form the chances of its defeat or postponement would be so great that the Senate would not be justified in making any changes whatever in the convention.

Too Much Leave to Print

Washington, March 12.—The Indianapolis printing of all sorts of documents by the Senate at the mere request of individual senators, and the great and useless expense thereby was brought to the attention of the Senate today by Mr. Hoar through the introduction of a resolution, which was adopted, directing an inquiry into the subject. The resolution calls upon the Senate committee on printing to ascertain and report upon the expenditures by the Senate during the last four Congresses for printing documents other than executive and legislative, especially those whose printing has been ordered by unanimous consent or upon the request of individual senators.

CONSUMPTION SERUM

Discovery of Great Value by Professor Behring

Vienna, March 12.—Professor Behring, the discoverer of diphtheria serum, in a lecture here today gave the details of his latest discovery, which is serum by means of which cattle can be made perfectly immune to tuberculosis. He said that after inoculating cattle with the serum he had injected into them tubercle bacilli in water, in the proportion of four milligrams of bacilli to four cubic centimetres of water. He had thus treated more than a hundred cattle and none was affected by tuberculosis. He claimed that this proved absolutely that a child treated with the serum would be immune from consumption for life. He also claimed that tuberculosis in children could be cured with the serum, but said it would not be effective in the case of adults. Professor Behring supports the theory that consumption is neither hereditary nor infectious. Every child, however, is naturally susceptible to the disease.

BONILLA'S TRUMPH

Defeated Government Officers Flee the Country

New Orleans, March 12.—The steamship Duncan, which arrived at the port last night from Ceiba, Honduras, reports the defeat of the Sierra, or government, forces at that town by the revolutionists supporting Bonilla. The government forces suffered heavy losses. The town and fort were captured by the revolutionists. The leading government officers fled to the United States on the Duncan. The captain of the Duncan bears a request from Mr. Wind, United States consul at Ceiba, which was telegraphed tonight to Secretary Hay, asking the government to forward a United States man-of-war to Ceiba at once, as the condition of affairs there is desperate and the many Americans in and around that town are in danger. The Duncan brought up among other passengers General Mutata, who was commanding the government forces on the Atlantic coast; Colonel Laruz, commanding the department of Ceiba; Colonel Barrios, collector of customs at Ceiba, and Senor Luis Blanco, mayor of the town. The passengers were all of the opinion that Bonilla has triumphed elsewhere also, and that the republic would soon be in his hands.

SOLDIER MISSING; PRISONERS GONE

Chicago, March 12.—Officers of the regiments now stationed at Fort Sheridan are searching for the body of Alexander Melville, who disappeared from the reservation yesterday with two prisoners whom he had been ordered to watch. Support of the theory that he was killed by the prisoners and his body hidden was given by the discovery of his musket, covered with blood, and the appearance of the place near which he and the two men were working. There were evidences of a struggle. It is believed by the officers of the thirteenth and twentieth infantry that Melville was attacked without warning, and that after he was killed the men unhitched the horses attached to the wagon into which they were throwing dirt, and escaped on the animals. There is every evidence that the horses were ridden hard before they returned to the post stables last night. The full force of both regiments was turned out as soon as it was known that the prisoners had escaped. This was at 6 o'clock last evening, but no trace of the missing men has been found.

Speed of Band Wagons

Topeka, Kans., March 12.—During the early hours this morning before the Kansas Legislature adjourned, the House took up Senator Moore's bill regulating the speed of automobiles on the highways. Representative O'Donnell jokingly offered an amendment providing that political band wagons should not be restricted in speed. He lobbied for his amendment to the bill and secured its passage with 64 affirmative votes, two more than a constitutional majority. The bill went back to the Senate for concurrence and the band wagon amendment became a part of the original bill. What Governor Bailey will do with it tomorrow when it reaches him is not known.

Women's Dragging Pains

CHICAGO, ILL., October 2, 1902.

There is nothing of so much interest to a sick woman as getting well. I write this to sick, thoughtful women who have dragged along a weary existence not knowing which way to turn for health. I have been in this precarious condition, but today I am in perfect health, thanks to Wine of Cardui. I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groin. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had binding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What is true I knew not for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui that blessed remedy for sick women. My attention was called to it by a little booklet and I decided to try it. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman. I am glad to be able to give this testimonial so I am now in perfect health.

Mrs. Maudie Bush

Could Mrs. Bush have given a happier message than this to the thoughtful sufferers to whom she gives advice? What like health can bring the sufferer nearer to enjoying life? To make a sick woman well is to open almost every door of blessing and privilege to her—the blessing of having children in her barren home, the privilege of taking part in the real affairs of life.

Yet thousands of women are continuing to suffer without making the effort to secure health—the health that would give strength instead of weakness, vigor instead of pain, happiness instead of dejection and hope instead of despair.

If you are suffering what can be of more interest to you than the fact that Mrs. Bush was in a precarious condition, weary of existence and is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual pains, bearing down pains and binding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief? This should bring you to consider her letter seriously and to decide to give Wine of Cardui a trial. This is not a diagnosis and a theory as to how a cure can be worked. It is a case demonstrated by this prominent Chicago woman herself.

Is there any doubt in your mind that you can be cured by Wine of Cardui the same as Mrs. Bush was cured? Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle with its quick and lasting relief soon convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

Will you secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist and start today the treatment which brings perfect health.

BURDICK INQUEST

It Will Begin Saturday and Will Be Most Thorough

Buffalo, March 12.—Police Justice Murphy today decided that on Saturday morning he will begin the inquiry into the death of Edwin L. Burdick. In Erie county the office of coroner has been abolished. The inquest is sure to be interesting, for every living person known to be connected in the mystery will be called, and the stories that hitherto have been told only to the police will be recited publicly.

Detective Holmud went to the home of Mrs. Seth T. Paine this evening to serve upon her subpoena to the inquest. She was not there, and he learned after much questioning of the servants that she had gone away late in the afternoon, saying that she would visit her husband in Batavia. Holmud left for Batavia at 10 o'clock with a subpoena. Superintendent Bull was asked about the report that the police had tried to present Mrs. Paine from leaving the city.

"Nothing to it," he said. "We can't prevent her from going where she pleases, so long as she is present at the inquest Saturday. We are making sure tonight by sending a detective after her. If she is in Batavia that subpoena will be in her hands tonight." A new story about the automobile ride which ended in the death of the Pennells was told today by Jacob Gyger, who works in the quarry at Kensington. He says he quit work about 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and started for home, walking out Kensington avenue. Along came an automobile containing a man and a woman. They were chatting and laughing. "Says Gyger, 'and as they got within a rod of me, the woman put a flash to her lips and seemed to drain it. Then she flung the flask away and it fell to the road so close to me that I kicked it. The next morning on my way to work I saw the flask again. When I reached the quarry I told the foreman of the incident, and then I heard about the accident to the Pennells. I identified the automobile as the one I had seen. The flask had contained whiskey.'"

Gyger's story may explain the presence of liquor in Mrs. Pennell's stomach when she was brought to the hospital. A secret move even more important than the inquest was decided upon today, after the district attorney here conferred with the chief of detectives. The authorities have determined to obtain the telegrams that passed between Mrs. Burdick and her mother, Mrs. Hull, two days before the murder of Burdick. The grand jury is in session and the district attorney can conduct "John Doe" proceedings before it. In these proceedings a person may be subpoenaed to present himself and bring certain documents in his possession. After today's consultation it was decided, under this plan of procedure, to require the Western Union Telegraph Company, through its manager here, to produce copies of the telegrams that passed between Mrs. Burdick and her mother during the ten days prior to the murder. This period includes the Monday and Tuesday before the Thursday of the murder when Mrs. Burdick saw Arthur H. Pennell near New York and telegraphed to Mrs. Hull, who replied. The authorities have been unable to learn the exact words of these telegrams or their precise contents. The authorities may also try to learn from both telegraph companies what telegrams, if any, passed between Mrs. Burdick, Mr. Burdick, Mr. Pennell and certain other parties for the three weeks before Burdick's death. All this information is said to be forthcoming tomorrow, the day before the inquest.

embezzlement. A police agent left Honolulu yesterday on the steamship Lamerick with extradition papers and a warrant for Taylor's arrest. Taylor sailed from here January 3 for San Francisco to consult with the California board of horticulture. He was heard from regularly to the middle of January and was expected to return here February 1. It is believed that Taylor went east and crossed the Atlantic. Honolulu authorities will try to extradite him.

A Consul Bounced

Washington, March 12.—After an investigation into complaints concerning the official conduct of Victor K. Nelson, United States consul at Bergen, Norway, the state department has declared the office vacant and the president has appointed Edwin S. Cunningham, consul at Aden, to fill the vacancy. Mr. Nelson was given a chance to resign, but he did not take advantage of it. The state department gave as reason for dropping Mr. Nelson that his services were not satisfactory.

Yawl Boat Swamped

Laurel, Del., March 12.—Six fishermen attempted to breast the heavy seas in a yawl boat at Indian river inlet last night to reach their fish ponds about one mile distant. When about five hundred yards out a heavy wave struck the boat, precipitating the men into the water. No help was at hand. Captain Veazey Hall was drowned, while Jeremiah Davis expired soon after reaching the shore.

Commencement Speakers

Greensboro, N. C., March 12.—Special. Rev. T. M. Johnson of this city, president of the North Carolina conference of the Methodist Protestant church, has accepted an invitation to preach the annual sermon at the approaching commencement at Oak Ridge Institute. Congressman Webb of the eighth district, will deliver the literary address.

"Queer" Shop Raided

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12.—Ed Ellis, accused of counterfeiting, was arrested on Oats island near Jasper in the Tennessee river last night by United States deputy marshals. A complete equipment for counterfeiting ten-dollar bills and five-cent and one-dollar pieces was found in his house.

THE CZAR'S IDEA

European Newspapers Incredulous of Results

London, March 12.—A majority of the London newspapers, while praising the czar's intention, welcoming his efforts and hoping for beneficent results, do not see anything approaching western constitutionalism following in the near future. The Times, while convinced that the ukase will exercise a profound influence upon wide classes of the Russian people, adds that the world will wait with some curiosity to see whether even the declarations of the czar can compel the bureaucracy to observe the law better in the future than in the past. It says that the czar is pouring new wine into very old bottles, and the gingerly way the operation is performed proves his uneasiness as to the ultimate results. Berlin, March 12.—The czar's proclamation decreeing certain radical reforms has excited the greatest interest here. The official newspapers declare their sympathy and express hope for the scheme. They pay a tribute to the czar's sublime conception of his duty and to his benevolence and elevated

EXTRA SESSION

Congress Will Be Called Together in the Fall

Washington, March 12.—President Roosevelt will call the fifty-eighth Congress in extra session in the autumn, probably October 1, for the purpose of having a concurrent resolution passed approving the Cuban reciprocity treaty, which is to be ratified by the Senate next week. If the present extra session of the Senate should adjourn without acting on the reciprocity treaty, Congress would be called together immediately. As the late fall is the time for marketing the bulk of the Cuban sugar crop, it is thought that by meeting in October Congress can pass the legislation necessary to put the treaty into effect in time to give the planters the benefit of the new tariff rates during the present year.
