

ONO RECEIVES COLD COMFORT

Japanese Legation Can Do Nothing for Him

GETS LOT OF SYMPATHY

Complaint Cannot Rise to the Dignity of an International Incident Unless North Carolina Denies Justice to the Battered Wrestler. News Staff Not Yet Complete

By THOMAS J. PENCE

Washington, Sept. 23.—Special.—The headlines are that the eye of Prof. Ono, the Japanese expert, which has been in a state of eclipse since the meeting with Prof. Olsen at Asheville last week will not assume an international aspect. This information was obtained today after a visit to the Japanese legation by Mr. Hirano, manager of Prof. Ono. Mr. Hirano, who went to make representation to the legation's representative, found that official absent, and he had to tell his story to Mr. Hikoie, first secretary of the legation. The visitor had an engagement with Mr. Takahira, but the manager was called to New York early in the morning and had departed when he called.

Mr. Hikoie, who possesses the patient characteristic of the "little brown people," heard a recital of the details of the bout in Asheville during which emphasis was given to the brutality of the methods employed by Prof. Ono. Mr. Hirano requested especially that the state department be asked to have the matter called to the attention of the governor of North Carolina so that in the future wrestling matches in Tar Heeldom shall be safeguarded with ample police protection. Mr. Hikoie indicated to Mr. Hirano that the Japanese legation is helpless in the matter. He expressed genuine sympathy for Prof. Ono, and shared with him the view that he should have been afforded police protection to say the least.

Mr. Hikoie informed the correspondent of The Post that the legation could take no action until there is evidence of a denial of justice to Prof. Ono by the state of North Carolina. Mr. Hirano does not make any such contention for Prof. Ono, and under the circumstances no representation can be made to the state department by the legation.

This is that Prof. Ono's had "eyes" to become an international affair. The name of the managing editor of the Industrial News will be announced next Wednesday. Both former Senator Butler and State Chairman Gentry have offered the position. Mr. Rollins said today that the owners of the paper had endeavored to secure the services of Mr. Howard A. Banks, and that pending a final decision by him the selection would not be announced. Mr. Banks was here today on his way to North Carolina. He will decide in a few days whether he will accept the news management of the paper. There are several scores of applicants for the position. Mr. Rollins has inspected the mechanical details and he says everything is in readiness for the appearance for the first issue. Mr. McNeil of Wilkesboro, who is engaged in the practice of law here, will be the Washington correspondent of the Industrial News. State Chairman Rollins returned to Asheville tonight. He said he would visit Washington soon after the president's return to take up several matters of patronage. Mr. Rollins will probably be in Greensboro Wednesday along with ex-Senator Butler and others interested in the Industrial News. Several matters with reference to the organization of the new daily are to be considered then.

Today's arrivals include Charles A. M. of Asheville, George L. Morton of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard of Charlotte, J. F. Scott of High Point, Thomas Woodroffe of Mt. Airy, E. W. Hitchcock and J. Sam Wright.

Governor Glenn arrived here this morning from New England. He will remain in Raleigh until tomorrow morning, when he will leave for Raleigh. He says he had a fine trip, which he thoroughly enjoyed. He speaks in high praise of New England hospitality. He spoke to a large number of people and was given splendid receptions wherever he went. Judge Pritchard and Dr. Arthur Pritchard, who have been to New York and West Point, where they visited General Pritchard, left for Asheville tonight.

Died After Operation

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 23.—Special.—A woman of sorrow was cast over the community last night when a telephone message was received from Baltimore conveying the sad intelligence of the death of H. H. Shaw of this place, which had just occurred there in a hospital where he had been taken a short time ago to have a serious operation performed for an internal cancer of the head. For some time, but after his survival of the operation, hope was encouraged to the belief that his life would be materially prolonged.

Mr. Shaw was a thoroughly consecrated Christian and a man of unimpeachable character. He had been superintendent of the Episcopal Sunday school for a number of years and was devoted to its work.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 23.—A sewing machine company here has just completed a sewing machine for the empress of Japan. The machine was made on the order of President Roosevelt and is a present to the empress by the president in recognition of courtesies extended to his daughter, Miss Alice, during her recent visit to Japan.

The selection of a sewing machine for a present, it is declared, came from a conversation Miss Roosevelt had with the empress. The latter expressed a desire to have an American sewing machine, and Miss Alice communicated the wish to her father, who immediately gave the order. The machine is probably the most costly one that has ever been turned out of any factory. Every part of it where there is no friction is gold-plated with Japanese filigree work. On one end of the machine, attached to the gold-plated iron work, are the American and Japanese coats of arms. Underneath the coat of arms of the two countries in Japanese characters is the date, and then follows the reason for the presentation.

From the time that the machine was started until it received its final test in the operating room the utmost care and secrecy has been maintained, and none but the most trusted employees were allowed to do any part of the work upon it. It will be placed in a mahogany cabinet inlaid with silk and plush in Japanese colors. It is said that it will be sent to Japan by a special messenger.

LYNCHING IN ARKANSAS

Hanging of a Negro Brute Was "Quiet and Orderly."

Conway, Ark., Sept. 23.—Last night at 10 o'clock a mob assembled in the court-house yard and demanded from Jailer Johnson the negro, Frank Brown, accused of assaulting Mrs. Lawrence and her three-year-old child and the murder of her seven-year-old Elie. Johnson, seeing the uselessness of resistance, surrendered the prisoner, who was taken to the scene of the crime and hanged from a tree in the yard.

So quiet and orderly was the mob that the people living within a few hundred yards of the place where he was hanged knew nothing of it. The negro is said to have made a confession before being executed.

Mrs. Lawrence, who has been unconscious since the night of the crime eight days ago, recovered consciousness about 5 o'clock and said that Frank Brown was the negro who committed the assault and the murder.

PATTISON SPEAKS

Democratic Candidate for Governor of Ohio Breaks Silence

Newark, O., Sept. 23.—Ohio's political sphinx has broken his long silence. John M. Pattison of Cincinnati, president of the Central Union Life Insurance Company and nominee for governor, at the opening of the Democratic state campaign here this evening, for the first time since he accepted the nomination in June, discussed the issues of the campaign. He attacked the alleged extravagance of the Republican state administration and the alleged bossism in the Republican party, and came out strongly for temperance legislation.

A ludicrous incident occurred when Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland took his place on the speaker's platform. He seated himself in a large chair, and both it and its occupant went to the floor with a crash. The mayor arose, smiling and uninjured.

During the adjournment the secretaries were engaged in preparing a protocol for the signature of the representatives of the two countries.

CUT UP CORPSE Baffles Police

Faint Clues in Murder Mystery of the Sea

WHAT AUTOPSY SHOWS

Criminal Operation Had Been Performed Resulting in Death—Few Hairs Found Indicate Woman Was a Blonde—Had Been Operated on Recently for Appendicitis

Boston, Sept. 23.—The police of Boston and Winthrop are apparently as much in the dark as ever today concerning the identity of the girl whose body was found yesterday afternoon. As admitted by a prominent police officer this morning the first step in apprehending the person or persons responsible for the death of the young woman is in securing an identification of the body.

An important clue is believed to be in the hands of the police on which they are working today. What this clue is they refuse to say. One step in the identification is the announcement that the young woman was a pronounced blonde. Several light colored hairs were found in the suit case by the officers. Two were found stuck to a piece of white cloth in which the corpse was wrapped. They were carefully rolled up in a piece of paper and given to Medical Examiner Harris, who has charge of the other tangible pieces of evidence. The hair is that of a blonde and tallies with the fair that of her skin.

The autopsy showed that death was due to a recent criminal operation, and that the instrument used punctured one of the victim's organs. Death resulted from blood poisoning some time after the operation, perhaps several days. The autopsy also showed that after the operation the operator evidently made a post-mortem examination to determine what had actually caused death.

Another important deduction made by Dr. Harris and the other medical experts was that the girl had not been dead more than four hours before the waves tossed her mutilated remains within view of the Winthrop Yacht Club house. They also figure that she could not have been in the water more than three hours, leaving but an hour to accomplish the work of dismembering the body and carrying it to a place where it could be dumped overboard without detection.

Another fact that seems to puzzle the police and the medical men is the wound showing that the victim had been recently operated upon for appendicitis, and it was reported after the autopsy that the stitches were still in the healed incision. From its condition it was calculated that this operation had been performed within the last three months at the most. A new clue in the mystery developed today and a physician, formerly a resident and practitioner of the north end, is being searched for by several detectives.

Officers throughout the city today began a house-to-house canvass for missing women, but up to this evening only two cases had been discovered, and both of these were already on the police blotters.

Two men were found this morning who claim to have seen a man place a dark-green suitcase in a row-boat at East Boston Thursday afternoon, two hours and a half before the suit-case and its contents were found.

This morning a finely dressed woman went to the headquarters of the state police and said that on Thursday, the day the body was found, she had seen in an elevated train a man carrying a bag answering one of the published descriptions. The bag was shown to her, but she was unable to identify it.

Corrupt Texas Officials

Austin, Tex., Sept. 23.—State Land Commissioner F. F. Terrell gave to the public today a long statement in which he boldly charges official misconduct in the state treasury department. He goes into details of the charge and concludes as follows: "I have heard that this matter would hurt the Democratic party in Texas. I hardly see the force of the suggestion. If those expressing that view are so politically warped as to wish the cover kept on official crookedness I doubt if they have lately been near Democracy's sanctuary."

Ship Woke Up a Whale

New York, Sept. 23.—The lookout aboard the Tacoma freighter St. Andrew, in today from Antwerp, noticed ahead Wednesday, when the ship was about ninety miles east of Sable Island, a giant whale of the razor back species. The officer on the bridge also saw the whale and decided that it was asleep. He set the ship's whistle tooting, but the whale did not move. But it woke up with a start when the stem of the St. Andrew hit it near its tail, and waving its bloody flukes in the air, it vanished under the sea, leaving a red wake. It appeared again, apparently only slightly damaged.

MET ICEBERGS

An Ocean Liner Sailed Into Dangerous Company.

New York, Sept. 23.—The American liner St. Paul, in today from Southampton and Cherbourg, when off the tail of the Bantas about 10 o'clock Wednesday night encountered a number of icebergs. One berg was discovered on the starboard beam at least 200 feet tall. It seemed to be twice as long as the liner.

To the port, not more than half a ship's length away, was another large berg that was big and solid enough to do damage to any ship striking it. Captain Passow headed south of the ice field that, very aptly, was ahead of him, and presently brought the ship into clear water.

They were four McCaddan circus folk, who were stranded in France, arrived by the steamer.

Diamonds Found in Texas

Fairfield, Tex., Sept. 23.—There is much excitement in the section north of here over the reported discovery of diamonds. The stones were found in a blue slate while digging a well. They are pronounced to be genuine diamonds by local jewelers. They have been sent to an expert diamond merchant to be passed upon. The deposit in which they were found is said to be of the same character as the diamond fields of South Africa.

SIZZLING HOT POLITICS

Old Time Warmth in the Palmetto State

Senator Tillman Given the Lie in a Public Meeting—A Preacher Takes Him in Hand and Asks Searching Questions

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 23.—At Batesburg, Lexington county, today, was held the most exciting meeting in South Carolina since the stirring days of 1892-93. Senator B. R. Tillman and Col. John Bell Towell, member of the state board of dispensary directors, clashed in debate, and for several minutes the scene in the open house, which was crowded to overflowing, was one of indescribable confusion.

"According to a public advertisement for liquor," said Senator Tillman, "no bids for less than $1.50 will be considered."

Advancing from his seat in the audience, Col. Towell, in a voice filled with excitement and emotion, said: "Senator Tillman, that is false. You know that it is not so."

Great applause met this statement, mingled with shouts for Tillman and Towell. During the cheering and confusion Tillman turned to those seated on the platform and said: "Where is the mayor? Where is the mayor?"

Quickly facing the audience, which was upon its feet and apparently struggling toward the stage, he stood as if a marble statue.

Cries of "sit down," "be quiet," "go back to your seats" were uttered by those on the platform and some of the auditors.

Hardly had quiet been restored when the aged Rev. Dr. D. M. Padgett of Saluda arose and interrogated Tillman as to his attacks upon the preachers, which resulted in another stormy scene, and the noise made it impossible to record the warm colloquy which ensued. Senator Tillman bitterly assailed the newspapers, naming the Charleston News and Courier and the Columbia State in particular for their attacks upon him.

"That hell-hound in Columbia who is editor of the State has told enough lies on me to build a railroad of crosses to hell," declared former Senator John L. McLaurin, saying that he considered it an insult to be invited to speak with him.

Young Man's Perfidy

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 23.—Special. Henry M. Goodman was arrested here today charged with seduction under promise of marriage to a young woman of Charlotte. Goodman is aged 26 years. He was reared in Charlotte and lived there until last January, when he came to Wilmington and opened a bicycle sales-room and repair shop. The complainant is Edna Hagar, an employe of a Charlotte steam laundry. Miss Hagar is a native of Cleveland county. Goodman was taken to Charlotte this afternoon.

Tom Johnson Nominated Again

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—At the Democratic city and county convention today Mayor Tom L. Johnson was re-nominated for a third term. The Johnson adherents controlled the convention with practically no opposition.

HUNGARIANS IN AN UGLY MOOD

Grave Outlook for Francis Joseph's Empire

ONE HOPE REMAINING

Delegates Quit the Emperor's Presence After a Dramatic Interview. Will Allow None But Representatives of Their Race to Intervene Between Them and the Throne

London, Sept. 23.—The failure of the meeting today between Emperor Francis Joseph and the Hungarian leaders to bring about a working arrangement renders the outlook most grave. It is true that there is still one chance left, as is shown in this dispatch from the Luffan correspondent at Vienna this evening:

"The Hungarians, after a six minutes dramatic audience with the emperor, went to Count Goluchowsky, the Austrian chancellor, and refused definitely and categorically his majesty's program. They declared they would speak only with Hungarians and would allow no one but a Hungarian to intervene between them and the emperor."

"After this refusal the Hungarians wished to leave Vienna, but Francis Kossuth, the Hungarian leader, received by imperial courier a request to still remain with his colleagues, as the emperor, after hearing their conversation with Count Goluchowsky, had telegraphed that the Hungarian Count Bela Cziraky was coming to Vienna at once to confer with them in the position of a royal representative."

"Thus it is possible that the emperor will be able to persuade the Hungarian coalition to listen to reason, though it can hardly be said that this is probable at present. What hopes there are of effecting a compromise with men of this stamp may be calculated from Dr. Lengyel's proclamation three days ago that there was but one solution of the situation—that the emperor should renounce his dream as an absurdity. Dr. Lengyel's position in the matter of words of command is shown even in Count Appony's newspaper, which yesterday admitted that even if the use of the words of command was granted that they could not be used because there was not enough men who know how to govern them."

Universal suffrage in Hungary must have led to universal suffrage in Austria. Then what could have prevented the German empire from rushing to the rescue of her kinsman? Little on this subject has appeared in the German press for the simple reason that the crisis is regarded as too serious for public discussion.

MADE LOSING FIGHT

Final Decision for the Extradition of Greene and Gaynor

Washington, Sept. 23.—The department of justice today received a dispatch from Donald McMaster, special counsel for the United States in the Greene-Gaynor cases, announcing that Judge Guimet at Montreal had dismissed the petition in the defense of Greene and Gaynor against extradition from Canada. It is believed that the department of justice that no further legal steps are possible for the accused men and that they will be forthwith brought to this country for trial.

Benjamin E. Greene and John F. Gaynor of New York were indicted at Savannah, Ga., in 1890, charged with embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud the United States government in connection with contracts for harbor improvements at that place. Captain Oberlin M. Carter, corps of engineers, U. S. A., was convicted on the same charge, dismissed from the army and imprisoned at Fort Leavenworth for a term of years. Greene and Gaynor were arrested in New York, but they resisted extradition to Georgia, and when a decision was rendered against them in a commissioner's court they fled to Canada. Each forfeited bail to the amount of $40,000. Measures were taken to secure extradition, and there was some hope of a favorable outcome when the accused men fled from Montreal to Quebec, thus changing the legal jurisdiction. In May, 1902, detectives kidnapped them, and taking them aboard a fast tug, carried them to Montreal, where it was hoped measures for extradition would be successful. There was an exciting chase on the river. Upon arrival in Montreal Judge LaFontaine committed the men to jail, but Judge Caro of Quebec granted a writ of habeas corpus and they were taken back to that place and set at liberty.

Since that time, however, two separate legal actions have been brought by Greene and Gaynor in Canada to prevent extradition. The first in Judge LaFontaine's court in Montreal, and he decided against the accused men. The petition to Judge Guimet, which is believed to be the last resort of Greene and Gaynor, was dismissed today.

The government is supposed to have lost more than $2,000,000 through the conspiracy with which Greene, Gaynor and Carter were charged.

OHIO CAMPAIGN

Vice President Fairbanks Speaks to a Big Crowd

Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 23.—The Republican state campaign was opened here today. There was a big parade, which aroused the enthusiasm of the 15,000 people in the streets. Senator Foraker received the ovation of the day as he entered his hotel after the parade.

Ten thousand people were on the court house grounds when the afternoon meeting opened. Side by side on the platform, facing 10,000 people, were Foraker, Herrick and Judge West of Bellefontaine. On one side of them sat Vice President Fairbanks, on the other, Senator Dick.

The speech of Mr. Fairbanks was devoted to a discussion of the prevailing prosperity and to arguments against any change in political administration. Mr. Fairbanks, taking up the subject of tariff readjustment, said:

"The Dingley law has been in operation eight years. There are those who challenged its efficiency when it was enacted, and there are those who doubt its wisdom now. The law has always had powerful advocates. A Republican congress will readjust the tariff schedules wherever such readjustment is essential to preserve the integrity of the system and to maintain the law in wholesome operation. Change will not be made for the mere sake of change or to promote free trade, whose disastrous effects we well understand."

MAYOR GEORGE HOOD

A Goldsboro Man Who Has Risen High and Is Still Rising

Goldboro, N. C., Sept. 23.—Special. Hon. George E. Hood, the present progressive and universally popular mayor of this city, has just returned from Duplin county, where he delivered an address at an educational and Sunday school rally, which led the East Carolina News, published at Kenansville, to make some very complimentary remarks about him. He also delivered an address in Sampson county at Clinton before the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. He has gone to the top of the ladder in Junior Order work in this state, having been at the head of the state organization and afterwards being elected a delegate to the national council. It is rumored among his friends that Mayor Hood will be asked to accept the Democratic nomination for congress from this district next year. If he can be induced to enter the race for congress he will prove a very formidable candidate. As the Carolina News says, he is easily one of the rising young men of the state, and as a speaker he holds his audience spellbound by his strong and forcible arguments.

SOVEREIGN GRAND LODGE

Matters of Importance Considered at the Concluding Session

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—The concluding session of the eighty-first annual communication of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows was held today. Two important questions were discussed. One was that dealing with the proposed affiliation with the Manchester Unity in England. The other was a proposed co-operation with a corporation which controls 11,000 acres of land in Las Vegas, New Mexico, looking to the enlargement of the sanitarium for consumptives, maintained by the order. The proposition involves the appropriation of $1,000,000. No action was taken on either.

Action on the independence of the Patriarchs Mount and on the proposition to increase the membership of that branch by recruits from the scarlet degree was deferred until the next annual communication. Questions relative to the Patriarchs were placed in the hands of a committee. This committee was instructed to learn the sentiments of the cantons all over the United States and report.

The shops will be erected on the lot opposite the Peerless Machine Works in Commerce street. A contract for the building has been awarded and the company expects to be in operation by January.

Campbell & Newton, real estate dealers, made an important trade in real estate yesterday when they purchased the Henry Harvey property at the Cross-Roads. There were four houses and four acres of land in the deal. They will be offered for sale.

ROOSEVELT MAY ALTER HIS PLAN

Quarantines an Obstacle to Trip Far South

MAY RETURN BY SEA

Said He Would Go to New Orleans, Yellow Fever or No—Little Rock Wants Him to Go There First. More Likely to Cut Out That Part of the Trip

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 23.—The stringent quarantine laws of Arkansas have led J. P. Runyon, president of the Little Rock board of health, to ask that the president visit Arkansas before going to New Orleans on his southern trip rather than lift the quarantine for him and his party coming from New Orleans. Yesterday the president received the following telegram:

"New Orleans, La., Sept. 21. "Hon. Theo. Roosevelt, President of the United States, Oyster Bay: "Referring to my telegram of eighteenth instant I have the honor to report that our telegraphic correspondence with the authorities has finally resulted in the following message dated Little Rock, September 20th, and addressed to Dr. J. H. White, surgeon in charge, marine hospital and public health service here: 'Would it not be possible for President Roosevelt to arrange to come to Louisiana after visiting Arkansas? Impossible to say what present outlook for our quarantine.'"

"President's Board of Health." "As the average date of first frost in Arkansas is October 11, it seems reasonably certain that any quarantine against yellow fever will be raised by October 15 at the latest. (Signed) "MARTIN BEHRMAN, "Mayor of New Orleans."

The president has not yet definitely decided concerning the New Orleans and Little Rock portion of his trip. Recently when the president visited Mayor Behrman that he would be ready to come to New Orleans, yellow fever or no, if New Orleans wants him to come, the mayor answered that New Orleans would be glad to have him; so if the president goes to New Orleans and the quarantine regulations of the other states prevent his return by rail he may consider the plan of making New Orleans and final stop of his trip and return to Washington from there by sea.

KILLED BY SHIFTING ENGINE

Death Comes Suddenly to Two Youths at Greensboro

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 23.—Special. Leslie H. Gerring and Walter A. Craven were run over and killed by shifting engine at Laurie avenue crossing last night. Gerring was 16 years old and had been employed as night telegraph operator for the Southern Railway at the Davie street office. Craven was 17 years old and worked as a carpenter for Contractor M. L. Holladay. Craven was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Craven of Rameaux, and the remains were sent to that place for interment today.

Craven boarded with Gerring's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Gerring, at 645 West Lee street.

The engine which struck them was backing to the new shifting yards to get an extra train which runs from Greensboro to Selma. At the same time a freight train, northbound, was coming to the city. It is presumed that the boys stepped out of the way of the freight and over on the parallel track directly in front of the shifting engine, which they did not see coming from the other direction.

The coroner, Dr. J. P. Turner, after inspecting the remains, did not deem an inquest necessary.

The arms of both young men were cut off, but they were not mangled as much as might have been expected.

Memorial of Historic Battle

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 23.—The dedicatory services of the Ranger memorial tablet by the Paul Jones Club, the National, the Massachusetts and the Maine Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution, on the 156th anniversary of the battle between the Bonhomme Richard and the Eagle, were held here this afternoon in the North Congregational church. There was a large attendance. Prof. I. F. Frisbee delivered an address on the life of Paul Jones, and was followed by General Appleton, who spoke on Paul Jones in a general way.

The Ranger tablet was placed on Badger's Island on the site of the landing ways of the historic Ranger. It is of bronze and the inscription gives a short history of the craft.
