

PREDICTS 14 CENT COTTON

Sully Says It Will Come Before Christmas IF FARMERS HOLD OUT

The Cotton King Arrived in the City Yesterday Morning and Will Speak at Noon Today—Declares Government Report Absolutely Misleading

Daniel J. Sully, the king of the Wall street cotton bulls, arrived in the city yesterday morning from New York via Greensboro, and today at noon will address the cotton farmers and business men of Wake county in Metropolitan Hall.

Mr. Sully spent the morning in Barbee & Company's offices on Wilmington street and he had a constant stream of visitors, business men, farmers and others who were anxious to meet the man who had run the market up to 17.55 in the great campaign of 1903-04, the highest price paid for cotton since 1875. One farmer was particularly enthusiastic, declaring that his father had saved his house and home by that rise, and he laid it all to Mr. Sully.

The cotton king is a young looking, vigorous man of forty to forty-five years of age, ruddy faced, with light mustache and hair, seemingly in the enjoyment of robust health. When asked by a visitor this morning how he lived through the fierce times of his terrific campaign he laughed and said: "Why, I never lost an hour's sleep over it from first to last."

In reply to a question about the last government report giving the condition of the crop as 71.2, he said promptly: "It is thoroughly misleading. You remember right on top of that report came one from the weather bureau department saying that from 65 to 70 per cent of the crop was picked. Now of what was that 71.2 a percentage? Was it of the bare plant? Was it of the picked crop? It is absolutely no gauge of the crop whatever, but it has already lost to the south some $50,000,000."

Mr. Sully went on to say that his own reports received from correspondents throughout the south indicated a very much lower condition figure.

"If the farmers will only hold back their cotton for from fifteen to twenty-five days longer, they will be in a situation to dictate to the world any reasonable price for the product," declared Mr. Sully. "As for the eleven cent minimum, it's not a question of any particular price. The world will pay twelve cents just as easily if they know they can't get it for less. I predict that cotton will be selling for fourteen cents Christmas. The condition is not known, the crop and acreage are short, and just as soon as the operators bid this out prices will advance."

Asked for his opinion of the situation as far as the European spinners were concerned, Mr. Sully said confidently: "The European cotton spinner is at the mercy of the southern cotton farmer and the southern cotton spinner. Twenty years ago the United States was manufacturing 50 per cent of the product; now we are manufacturing 45 per cent of it, and of this 45 per cent the south is consuming 25 per cent; in another twenty years we will be manufacturing 65 per cent of the total crop. So the European spinner sees the end of his supply, and of course he must do all he can to keep prices down."

Talking about Wall street Mr. Sully said there were not so many bears as people supposed. "Never before was there a time when the big men of the Street were so favorable to cotton as today," emphatically declared Mr. Sully.

Various things were working together, Mr. Sully said, to send the price of cotton up and keep it there. The Panama canal will put us in closer touch with eastern markets than our European competitors. Then our coming subsidized ships would help us get a lower rate, enjoyed now by the English and German spinners to the hurt of the New England manufacturers. A lower freight rate will hasten the time when we will be manufacturing enough cotton for our own consumption.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Sully was driven out into the country to see the crop in this immediate section. He is stopping at the Yarborough Hotel and is the guest of Mr. James Allison while in the city. He says that the people of the south are contributing right along to help him in his coming campaign in the Street, and that a big fund is a great help benefit to the operator, who has great odds to overcome for the first sixty days.

ENGAGE PRESIDENTS LONDON

Directors Received Yesterday From Private Secretary Loeb

Secretary Pogue of the state fair celebrated yesterday from Private Secretary Loeb the personnel of the party that will accompany President Roosevelt on his southern tour, and he is gratified to find that Mrs. Roosevelt will be among the number.

The list of the party in full and the general details as to their arrival and entertainment are told in another column in a special to The Post from Washington telling of the visit of Governor Glenn to the president yesterday. Along with the list came the following letter from Secretary Loeb that will be read with interest:

"The White House, Washington, D. C.

"Mr. Joseph E. Pogue, Raleigh, N. C.

"Dear Sir:

"I thank you for your letter of the 6th instant. Please arrange for the president's landau so it shall be drawn by the two horses. In accordance with your request I enclose a list of those who will probably constitute the party."

"W. M. LOEB, JR."

Speaking of the general fair situation Secretary Pogue said last night that highly gratifying progress is being made in all departments and all that is needed now to secure the greatest success in the history of the fair association is good weather for the people to come.

TO BUILD MASONIC TEMPLE

W. G. Hill Lodge Takes Another $1,000 Bonds

The Grand Lodge Masonic temple building committee will meet today for the purpose of opening bids for the erection of the temple, and it is probable that the work will be gotten under way within the next sixty days. The committee consists of Grand Master W. S. Liddell of Charlotte, Grand Secretary John C. Drewry of Raleigh, and Past Grand Masters S. H. Smith of Winston-Salem and John W. Cotton of Tarboro.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at a regular communication of William G. Hill Lodge No. 218, A. F. and A. M.:

"Resolved, That William G. Hill Lodge No. 218 direct its trustees to subscribe to $1,000 additional of the second mortgage bonds of the Masonic Temple Association, this additional subscription to be retired from time to time in amounts not less than $100."

William G. Hill Lodge is one of the most progressive and enterprising lodges in the state. One thousand dollars was subscribed when the subscription books were first opened, and having paid this amount in full now makes another liberal subscription towards the erection of the temple in this city. The building committee on the part of the Grand Lodge will meet today to open the bids for building.

A. & M. BASE BALL COACH

Malachi Kittredge One of the Ablest Coaches in America Engaged

The A. & M. College Athletic Association has engaged Mr. Malachi Kittredge, a popular Washington (D. C.) pitcher, as coach, and the Washington Post of yesterday has this to say of him and of A. and M. athletics:

"Malachi Kittredge has been engaged to coach the baseball squad of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Raleigh, N. C., next year. This college has built a new athletic field and is going to branch out in sports, and in selecting the popular Washington catcher they have found one of the ablest coaches in America. Kittredge coached Holy Cross several seasons and always developed a team that finished high among the class of colleges to which Holy Cross belongs. If the weather will permit, Kittredge will call out the candidates late in January, and by the time he will have to report to his team he will have accomplished a lot of good for the farmers and mechanics of the Raleigh institution. It will also greatly aid Kit in preparing for his season's long campaign."

Wake County Bar Meeting

There will be a meeting of the bar of Wake county in the clerk's office this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the purpose of arranging a calendar of civil cases for trial at the October term, 1905, which begins October 23, 1905, and continues for three weeks. The Honorable M. H. Justice, judge, presiding.

By order of the calendar committee. W. M. RUSS, Clerk.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION

First Baptist Church's Work for the Year

Disbursements Nearly $7,200—Net Gain in Membership 39—Delegates Go to Harris Chapel Today

The Central Association will convene in annual session today at Harris Chapel near Youngsville. Mr. John E. Ray of this city is moderator. The First Baptist church of Raleigh is in the Central Association and the representatives who are expected to attend from here are Rev. W. C. Tyree, D. D., G. M. Allen, J. E. Ray, J. D. Boushall and J. W. Ballew.

The annual letter of the First Baptist church of Raleigh to the association was prepared yesterday by Mr. A. R. D. Johnson, the church clerk. It gives in detail the work for the fiscal year just ended. This church, including its auxiliaries such as the Sunday school, the Woman's Missionary Society and the children's band, has raised $7,189.56 for various objects.

Some of the interesting facts given in the letter are that the accessions have been 67-34 by baptism and 33 by letter—and the loss from death or other causes 28, leaving net gain in membership of 39. The church enrollment is now 618, 235 men and 383 women. The Sunday school enrollment is 766.

Some of the objects to which the church has contributed are $844.92 to state missions, $478.78 for home missions, $775 for foreign missions and $366.65 for the Thomasville Orphanage. As stated, the total amount of disbursements, including the regular expenses of the church, amounted to $7,189.56. The Sunday school raised $714 and the Woman's Missionary Society nearly $50.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

Rescue Horses Struck Riggan's Delivery Wagon—Bridge Afire

A "still" alarm of fire was turned in yesterday morning, shortly before noon, and without any warning, save the clang of the gong behind the flying steeds, two horse wagons dashed at full speed up Fayetteville street. The street was unusually crowded at the time and there might have been several bad accidents. As it was a horse hitched to a delivery wagon of the J. D. Riggan Company was standing in front of the store. The animal was excited by the dash of the fire horses and, his driver not being in the wagon, moved off into the street. He went squarely two yards when was struck by the Rescue wagon and almost knocked down. This caused the horse to run away and he overturned a small black pony, hitched to a buggy, which was unoccupied, and ran into an ice wagon of Johnson & Johnson. Riggan's horse received a bad cut and bled profusely. The pony also had its ankle cut. The vehicles were not badly damaged. The delivery wagon scattered candy on the street and furnished a feast for small boys.

The cause for the alarm was a fire at the Morgan street bridge, spanning the Seaboard Air Line track. The flames were extinguished before the companies arrived.

"Sweetness and Charm"

An opportunity to see a famous star in her original role in a play whose title is a household word is not often vouchsafed our playgoers. But that is what they will have at the Academy of Music on Wednesday evening, October 11th, when Miss Ellsler appears there in "Hazel Kirke," a play that has touched more thousands of hearts than any other known to this generation. This drama, ever in the hands, wins the applause of sympathy. With Miss Ellsler giving sweetness, charm and vivacity to the gentle, womanly heroine, its appeal goes deeper than can be suspected by those who have seen the role portrayed by an actress of less winning personality. Miss Ellsler has beauty of feature as well as beauty of temperament and of art. Of the many who have acted Hazel Kirke, none other has brought to bear upon the stage this generation of acting as great a degree. Miss Ellsler will not shine alone in this production. Manager Jules Murry has given her the advantage of adequate support and perfectly appointed scenic accessories. The presentation, it is promised, will be nicely balanced and complete in all its details.

Sherlock Holmes Thursday

"Sherlock Holmes" in "The Sign of the Four," which comes to the Academy of Music for one night only, October 12, is a dramatization of Sir A. Conan Doyle's play of the same name. It is said to be one of his best works. It is a detective play of human interest and has an abundance of clean comedy to relieve the tension of the dramatic story. The play is full of startling situations that will appeal to all classes of theatre-goers. No expense has been spared to make the production correct in every detail, and an enjoyable evening is promised to patrons of the Academy.
